Making Globalisation R. J. Holton, 2005-07 Publisher description

Global Transformations David Held, 1999 In this book the authors set forth a new model of globalization that lays claims to supersede existing models and then use this model to assess the way the processes of globalization have operated in different historic periods in respect to political organization military globalization trade finance corporate productivity migration culture and the environment Each of these topics is covered in a chapter which contrasts the contemporary nature of globalization with that of earlier epochs In mapping the shape and political consequences of globalization the authors concentrate on six states in advanced capitalist societies SIACS the United States the United Kingdom Sweden France Germany and Japan For comparative purposes other states particularly those with developing economics are referred to and discussed where relevant The book concludes by systematically describing and assessing contemporary globalization and appraising the implications of globalization for the sovereignty and autonomy of SIACS It also confronts directly the political fatalism that surrounds much discussion of globalization with a normative agenda that elaborates the possibilities for democratizing and civilizing the unfolding global transformation

Beyond the Spirit of Empire Joerg Rieger, 2013-01-25 How does empire mould human subjectivity for instance and how does it affect the understanding of humans within the whole of creation This title analyzes the global empire in its political and economic dimensions in its symbolic constructions of power and in its general assumptions often taken for granted

Education in the Era of Globalization Klas Roth, Ilan Gur-Ze'ev, 2007-10-11 Education seems to have lost its orientation in Western culture and is in disarray all over the globe in time of global transitions Globalizing capitalism is the general headline for some of the most profound deep and dramatic developments in our era that education must address The response of educationalists is only in its beginning and there is an urgent need to address the dramatic changes inflicted on promised to our era philosophically sociologically culturally ecologically physically aesthetically and politically In the proposed book we try to address the challenge of globalization to education in the broadest sense of the concept of education by treating this challenge in various perspectives through different disciplines and topics within which the challenge of globalization is conceived as the most profound dynamic of this historical moment a development that is realized in many diverse and different levels fields and spaces of human and natural existence The various texts in this collection written by some of the famous and interesting scholars in the field of philosophy of education and the sociology of education try to address the richness and diversity of the challenge of globalization It tries to reconstruct historically sociologically and philosophically the roots the practices and the fruits of globalization as a threat and as a gateway for new possibilities for today s education The collection is a meeting point for research that is not only analytical and critical but also offers new roads and possibilities for education in the 21st century in face of globalization As such this collection is unique in this field and opens the door for further research and public discussion on the future role of education

Globalization and Money Supriya Singh, 2013-10-03 Globalization and Money explores how men and women particularly the poor and the unbanked in the global South use money in ways that empower themselves and their families Supriya Singh argues that money as a medium of relationships across cultures is a central component of globalization. She deftly weaves theory and individual stories to show how money is emblematic of interconnected markets, the half of the world that is unbanked, and gender disparities. She shows how men's and women's banking patterns are tied to their management of money in the household. Migrants send money home to show they care for their families and communities left behind. Yet these remittances are far from symbolic; instead, they represent more than three times the total amount of official development assistance. This book illustrates how many of the most exciting changes in harnessing people's savings, widening credit, and insurance, and lowering the cost of technologies, payments, and money transfers are taking place in Africa, Asia, and Latin America. Singh demonstrates how strategies to help the poor and marginalized have gone global in South-South conversations, making us rethink the contours of globalization and money.

Global Empowerment: Emerging Practices Uma Narula, 2008-10

Making Globalisation a Force for Good Great Britain. Department of Trade and Industry, 2004. Globalisation refers to the process of growing interdependence between the economies and businesses of different countries with the ever-increasing movement across national boundaries of goods, services, investment, finance, and jobs. This White Paper considers the Government's policy approach towards international trade and investment based upon its commitment to sustainable development and in the context of an enlarged EU. It addresses the implications of globalisation both nationally and internationally and sets out the Government's vision of a world trading system which is fair as well as free for all. It contains three sections which focus on: i) the internationalisation of business markets and production; EU developments and the experience of developing countries; ii) how to ensure the UK economy benefits from globalisation; and iii) the role of trade and investment in global poverty reduction, including the Doha Development Agenda, market liberalisation in developing countries, international regulation, agricultural trade and development, environmental protection, and labour standards, promoting corporate social responsibility, and improving the functioning of the World Trade Organization.
