Making Health Teams Work:

Making Health Teams Work Harold Franklin Wise, 1974 Making Health Care Whole Christina Puchalski, Betty Ferrell, 2011-06-01 In the last fifteen years the field of palliative care has experienced a surge in interest in spirituality as an important aspect of caring for seriously ill and dying patients While spirituality has been generally recognized as an essential dimension of palliative care uniformity of spiritual care practice has been lacking across health care settings due to factors like varying understandings and definitions of spirituality lack of resources and practical tools and limited professional education and training in spiritual care In order to address these shortcomings more than forty spiritual and palliative care experts gathered for a national conference to discuss guidelines for incorporating spirituality into palliative care Their consensus findings form the basis of Making Health Care Whole This important new resource provides much needed definitions and charts a common language for addressing spiritual care across the disciplines of medicine nursing social work chaplaincy psychology and other groups It presents models of spiritual care that are broad and inclusive and provides tools for screening assessment care planning and interventions This book also advocates a team approach to spiritual care and specifies the roles of each professional on the team Serving as both a scholarly review of the field as well as a practical resource with specific recommendations to improve spiritual care in clinical practice Making Health Care Whole will benefit hospices and palliative care programs in hospitals home care services and long term care services It will also be a valuable addition to the curriculum at seminaries schools of theology and medical and nursing schools Organizational Behavior, Theory, and Design in Health Care Nancy Borkowski, 2015 Due to the vast size and complexity of the U S health care system the nation's largest employer health care managers face a myriad of unique challenges such as labor shortages caring for the uninsured cost control and quality improvement Organizational Behavior Theory and Design Second Edition was written to provide health services administration students managers and other professionals with an in depth analysis of the theories and concepts of organizational behavior and organization theory while embracing the uniqueness and complexity of the healthcare industry Using an applied focus this book provides a clear and concise overview of the essential topics in organizational behavior and organization theory from the healthcare manager's perspective Primary Health Care in the Making U. Laaser, R. Senault, H. Viefhues, 2012-12-06 Since the historical conference held in Alma Ata in 1978 it has been possible to observe a reorientation of the medical profession More and more issues of health enter the stage and curative medicine is not just losing ground but some interest How effective is health education and Whose task is primary prevention are questions which stimulate great concern and public debate It seems also to be the first time since the last decades of the 19th century that the social dimension of health receives adequate consideration Thus the recent publication of the so called Black Report on Inequalities in Health Penguin 1982 led to a heated discussion in Great Britain certainly of relevance to many other countries The 6 years since 1978 are much too short a time to proceed far towards Health for All as the slogan of the World Health Organization puts it but the concepts are spelled out vaguely but convincing to many of us It is the right time to discuss first experiences and to move from philosophy to empirical work This work as it relates to the process evolving since Alma Ata is characterized by participation cooperation and prevention Participation because disease concerns only the individual patient his or her family and immediate social environment while health concerns everyone and should involve everyone It is a task of the whole of society rather than the domain of a single profession or party

Organizations: Theory, Behavior, and Development James A. Johnson, 2008-02-01 Feelin' Alright: How the Message in the Music Can Make Healthcare Healthier Stephen K. Klasko, 2023-04-02 Feelin' Alright leverages the emotional power of song lyrics to inspire healthcare executives to envision and build a more accessible high quality and equitable healthcare system Using music as a metaphor author Stephen Klasko encourages readers to examine what is problematic in the existing healthcare model and to take tangible steps toward a more consumer centered healthcare experience Dr Klasko shares his experiences as a physician a health system CEO a university president and dean and now bridging the gap between academic health systems and digital health innovators and entrepreneurs Each chapter features his multifaceted perspective and is anchored with a song that reflects the chapter's central themes Topics explored include Why consumers are starting to rebel against traditional healthcare How technology can be used to transform healthcare through consumer empowerment How medical education must evolve to prepare physicians for paradigm shifts What radical changes are needed to decrease health inequity Infused with the passion inherent in music Feelin' Alright will motivate healthcare executives to take the lead in building a better healthcare system

Ethics and Professionalism in Healthcare Sabine Salloch, Verena Sandow, Jan Schildmann, Jochen Vollmann, 2016-06-17 Recent social developments such as demographic change skill shortages and new medical technologies have necessitated a transition in the traditional roles of health care professions New forms of division of labour and inter professional health care education are emerging while at the same time ethical challenges such as corruption and conflicts of interest have to be mastered This book addresses historical conceptual and empirical aspects of professionalism and inter professionalism in health care from an international and interdisciplinary perspective The work is divided into five sections historical and societal aspects of health care professions learning and teaching medical professionalism transformation of health care professions professional leadership and team decision making in health care and ethical challenges to health care professionalism The final chapter integrates the main ideas and perspectives on health care professionalism which have been developed throughout the book and highlights how the work in the diverse disciplines is interrelated The book will be a valuable reference for the many researchers and students with an interest in medical ethics professionalism and comparative systems of healthcare

EBOOK: Making Successful Decisions in Counselling and Psychotherapy: A Practical Guide David Lane, Sarah Corrie, 2012-05-16 It is commonly assumed that the ability to make decisions in therapy is acquired as a result of experience and for this reason the subject is more or less ignored in programmes of training Lane and Corrie effectively challenge this position in a comprehensive account of the process by which information is acquired interpreted and used The book benefits from the comprehensive experience of the two authors both as clinicians and researchers and is illustrated by some excellent case material and interesting self assessment exercises There is something of value here for therapists of every modality at all stages of development Ray Woolfe Psychologist and Psychotherapist in independent practice Bristol UK In this well written meticulously researched and timely book Lane and Corrie propose that the art of decision making like any art requires discipline training and continual practice This book should be required reading on clinical and counselling psychology programmes and related fields For those about to enter practice this book provides you with much needed support for engaging with the realities of a complex and shifting political and professional landscape For the more experienced practitioner this book challenges you to become more explicit about and to sharpen and widen the assumptions models and procedures that guide your everyday decision making This is continuing professional development of the most relevant and needed kind I will be recommending this text to my students colleagues peers and yes managers very strongly indeed Dr Michael Worrell Consultant Clinical Psychologist Programme Director CNWL Foundation Trust In this book Lane and Corrie have made an important contribution to the training of counsellors and therapists and the practice of working in the helping professions and they have managed to do this in a way that is engaging accessible and practical Whether you are just starting out in the helping professions or are a seasoned therapist this book will help you improve your practice The case studies illustrations and reflection questions bring to life the dynamics of decision making and provide the reader with useful pathways to more sophisticated and effective decision making in their work Dr Michael Cavanagh Coaching Psychology Unit Sydney University Australia and Visiting Professor Institute of Work Based Learning Middlesex University UK Lane and Corrie draw upon their rich experience and understanding not just as clinicians and researchers but also as adult educators to provide a book which deepens our understanding of decision making The insights and approach put forward go beyond the professional context which illustrates them to contribute to a broader understanding of what it is or what it might be to be a professional and to take professional decisions in an increasingly complex and rapidly changing world When considering how good decision makers develop the key insight is to focus our attention upon the learning process rather than knowledge content This change of viewpoint is profound Professor Jonathan Garnett Director Institute for Work Based Learning Middlesex University UK The book is organised well and an appealing aspect of this book is Lane and Corrie's ability to combine their clinical expertise with their research and training experience to engage the reader on their own self reflective journey through the use of practical exercises I would whole heartedly recommend this book to all clinicians whether to use as guidance when initially thinking about their decision making skills or as part of continuing professional development Rita Woo Clinical Psychologist CNWL Foundation NHS Trust Royal Holloway University of London UK Working with a client in order to bring about therapeutic change involves a constant stream of decisions But how exactly do you decide What influences your choices and how can you be sure that you are making the right ones This book examines some of the factors that are involved in making good decisions the range of thinking skills we need in order to make effective choices and some of the factors that can prevent us from making sound decisions in our work with clients Drawing on both the existing literature and a range of practical exercises Making Successful Decisions in Counselling and Psychotherapy provides invaluable guidance on how to tackle the task of decision making in real world counselling and psychotherapeutic settings in order to develop a systematic effective and creative approach The book includes A model to generate approaches to decision making Case studies across a wide range of situations in counselling and psychotherapy Reflection points throughout the text to assist you in critiquing refining and restructuring the tools you use to assist your clients to make successful decisions

Effective Communication in Multicultural Health Care Settings Gary L. Kreps, Elizabeth N. Kunitomo, 1994-04-08 This book provides insights into the complexities of multicultural relations in health care and demystifies the many cultural influences on health and health care to achieve its ultimate goal to help people get the most they can out of health care and facilitate the promotion of public health
