Making Mandated Addiction Treatment Work:

Making Mandated Addiction Treatment Work Barbara C. Wallace, 2019-04-15 The second edition of Making Mandated Addiction Treatment Work integrates cutting edge research with evidence based addiction treatments to create a unified and effective treatment model for mental health professionals and those in training. Because the largest and fastest growing segment of the community based addiction treatment population includes those who are mandated, Barbara C. Wallace provides insightful best practices for tailoring addiction treatment to diverse and challenging clients including those who may have a history of trauma or mental disorders, different levels of motivation, and a high risk of relapse. Applicable in a variety of treatment settings in both urban and rural communities, this text weaves together new research and vivid case studies into a concise and practical resource. This book is ideal for practitioners and students of public health, criminal justice, and social welfare services.

Working with Female Offenders Katherine van Wormer, 2010-04-12 Praise for Working with Female Offenders: Encyclopedic in scope and full of very relevant work drawn from the fields of biology, psychology, criminology, and corrections, this book is a must read for those working with girls and women offenders. Meda Chesney-Lind, Professor, Women's Studies, University of Hawaii at Manoa. In this timely and thoughtful book, van Wormer provides a gender sensitive lens through which the reader can examine pathways to female criminality, a global perspective on female crime and punishment, and innovative treatment approaches. This book is a must have for any student or professional who wishes to truly impact and empower the lives of female offenders. David W. Springer, Associate Dean for Academic Affairs, School of Social Work, The University of Texas at Austin. This book is timely in light of promising developments that are taking place at every level of the criminal justice system. It is a must read for policymakers, practitioners, academics, and students in criminal justice, social work, and other related fields. Barbara E. Bloom, Professor, Criminology and Criminal Justice Studies, Sonoma State University, California. The first book to combine elements from the social work, counseling, and criminology fields to create a framework tailored to working with female offenders. Taking into account the special needs of girls and women within a system designed by men for male offenders. Working with Female

Offenders offers counselors correctional officers lawyers probation officers in short anyone who works in some capacity with female offenders an evidence based gentler approach for working effectively and successfully with girls and women in trouble with the law Working with Female Offenders provides coverage devoted to the nature of female crime and to the institutional settings in which much of the female specific programming is designed to take place This timely volume equips professionals with proven counseling strategies tailored to fit this population Practical guidelines are included for case management interventions teaching skills of communication and assertiveness and anger and stress management for female offender populations as well as A strengths empowerment restorative framework for counseling women in crisis Narratives from personal interviews with female offenders and correctional counselors Discussion of controversial topics such as prison homosexuality AIDS in prison girls in gangs and women on death row Examples of successful innovative programs for female offenders from the United States and abroad Working with Female Offenders addresses the unique challenges of female offenders and those who treat them and provides a much needed addition to the literature on innovative programming for female offenders

Men, Addiction, and Intimacy Mark S. Woodford, 2012-06-14 In the substance abuse and addiction treatment realm males outnumber females two to one While gender issues are seen as a key element of women's treatment the acknowledgement that males are gendered beings who have lived lives full of male specific developmental challenges is often overlooked This text takes a developmental lifespan approach to examine the neurobiological and psychosocial factors associated with substance use disorders for males specifically in relation to emotional growth and awareness and how these areas in turn affect the development of healthy relationships Theoretical concepts from the field of interpersonal neurobiology the psychology of boys and men and the substance abuse and addiction literature are interwoven with practical clinical examples to help elucidate how the notion of fostering emotional development can strengthen the treatment and recovery processes with boys and men Relevant case examples are included that illustrate work with males of all ages and address a variety of factors associated with culture ethnicity race religion and sexual orientation Mental health practitioners will find this a valuable guide to understanding male development in relation to substance use and abuse and providing more comprehensive gender responsive counseling and assessment practices
