Transnational Capital and Class Fractions Bob Jessop, Henk Overbeek, 2018-08-14 Emerging in the late 1970s the Amsterdam School's AS most distinctive contribution to international political economy was the systematic incorporation of the Marxian concept of capital fractions into the study of international politics Contending that politics in advanced capitalist countries takes place in a fundamentally transnationalized space in which the distinction between domestic and international has blurred it shows how in this space politics is structured by competing comprehensive concepts of control Presenting a concise and instructive introduction to the origins development and significance of this distinct approach this book provides a unique overview of the School's contemporary significance for the field Offering a new generation of critical scholars the opportunity to become acquainted at first hand with some of the contributions that have shaped the work of the AS the contributions present critical commentaries discussing the merits and shortcomings of the AS from a variety of perspectives and undertake a self critical evaluation of the current place and value of the AS framework in the broader landscape of approaches to the study of contemporary capitalism Written for scholars and students alike it will be of interest to those working in international political economy international relations and political science political sociology European studies and branches of academic economics such as regulation theory and institutional economics

how our contemporary understanding of the Internet is shaped by visions of the future that were put together in the 1950s and 1960s At the height of the Cold War the Americans invented the only working model of communism in human history the Internet Yet for all of its libertarian potential the goal of this hi tech project was geopolitical dominance the ownership of time was control over the destiny of humanity The potentially subversive theory of cybernetics was transformed into the military friendly project of artificial intelligence Capitalist growth became the fastest route to the information society The rest of the world was expected to follow America s path into the networked future Today we re still being told that the Internet is creating the information society and that America today is everywhere else tomorrow Thankfully at the beginning of the twenty first century the DIY ethic of the Internet shows that people can resist these authoritarian prophecies by shaping information technologies in their own interest Ultimately if we don t want the future to be what it used to be we must invent our own improved and truly revolutionary future
