Making Of Kings Lynn A Documentary Survey:

The Making of King's Lynn Dorothy M. Owen, 1984-11-15 Lynn was a port of the late eleventh century founded on the estates of the Bishop of Norwich This collection of documents provides evidence for the origin and topography of medieval Lynn and also for its religious social and economic life      King's Lynn and the Fens John McNeill, 2017-07-05 The fourteen papers collected in this volume explore the medieval art architecture and archaeology of King s Lynn and the Fens They arise out of the Association s 2005 conference and reflect its concern to engage with a broad range of monuments and themes rather than focusing on a single major building Within King s Lynn contributors consider the superb 14th century enamelled drinking vessel popularly known as King John s Cup the former Hanseatic Steelyard the Red Mount Chapel and the oak furnishings of the chapel of St Nicholas while the pine standard chest from St Margaret s church is assessed in terms of the importation and distribution of similar chest across England as a whole Outside King s Lynn there are articles on the historical manipulation of landscapes and buildings at Kirkstead the 13th century architecture and sculpture of Croyland Abbey the 14th century parish church of St Mary at Snettisham the tomb of Sir Humphrey de Littlebury at All Saints Holbeach the overlooked medieval wall paintings in the Prior s Chapel at Castle Acre and the late medieval stained glass at Wiggenhall St Mary Magdalen Finally there are three papers that look at particular aspects of the ways in which parish churches were financed embellished and used across the region in terms of late 12th and early 13th century patronage their 12th century deployment of architectural sculpture and the types and arrangements of choir stalls that appeared at a parochial level during the later Middle Ages      A Life in Norfolk's Archaeology: 1950-2016 Peter Wade-Martins, 2017-11-03 A personal history of Peter Wade Martins archaeological endeavour in Norfolk set within a national context It covers the writer s early experiences as a volunteer the rise of field archaeology as a profession and efforts to conserve archaeological heritage      The Art of Solidarity in the Middle Ages Gervase Rosser, 2015 Explores the motives and experiences of the medieval men and women who joined together in guilds family like societies that affected most aspects of their members lives

Edward III W. M. Ormrod, 2012-01-24 Edward III 1312 1377 was the most successful European ruler of his age Reigning for over fifty years he achieved spectacular military triumphs and overcame grave threats to his authority from parliamentary revolt to the Black Death Revered by his subjects as a chivalric dynamo he initiated the Hundred Years War and gloriously led his men into battle against the Scots and the French In this illuminating biography W Mark Ormrod takes a deeper look at Edward to reveal the man beneath the military muscle What emerges is Edward s clear sense of his duty to rebuild the prestige of the Crown and through military gains and shifting diplomacy to secure a legacy for posterity New details of the splendor of Edward s court lavish national celebrations and innovative use of imagery establish the king s instinctive understanding of the bond between ruler and people With fresh emphasis on how Edward s rule was affected by his family relationships including his roles as traumatized son loving husband and dutiful father Ormrod gives a valuable new dimension to our understanding of this remarkable warrior king      The Routledge Companion to Marine and Maritime Worlds 1400-1800 Claire Jowitt, Craig Lambert, Steve Mentz, 2020-05-21 This book has been nominated for The Mountbatten Award for Best Book in the Maritime Media Awards 2021 The Routledge Companion to Marine and Maritime Worlds 1400 1800 explores early modern maritime history culture and the current state of the research and approaches taken by experts in the field Ranging from cartography to poetry and decorative design to naval warfare the book shows how once traditional and often Euro chauvinistic depictions of oceanic mastery during the early modern period have been replaced by newer global ideas This comprehensive volume challenges underlying assumptions by balancing its assessment of the consequences and accomplishments of European navigators in the era of Columbus da Gama and Magellan with an awareness of the sophistication and maritime expertise in Asia the Arab world and the Americas By imparting riveting new stories and global perceptions of maritime history and culture the contributors provide readers with fresh insights concerning early modern entanglements between humans and the vast unpredictable ocean With maritime studies growing and the ocean s health in decline this volume is essential reading for academics and students interested in the historicization of the ocean and the ways early modern cultures both conceptualized and utilized seas      Carlisle and Cumbria Mike McCarthy, 2024-11-01 This book compiles the papers presented at the British Archaeological association conference held in 2001 which concentrated on the Roman and medieval art architecture and archaeology of the city and county It provides scholars with a firm baseline for future research in this area      Shipping the Medieval Military Craig L. Lambert, 2011 Mariners made a major but neglected contribution to England s warfare in the middle ages Here their role is examined anew showing their importance During the fourteenth century England was scarred by famine plague and warfare Through such disasters however emerged great feats of human endurance Not only did the English population recover from starvation and disease but thousands of the kingdom s subjects went on to defeat the Scots and the French in several notable battles Victories such as Halidon Hill Neville s Cross Cr cy and Poitiers not only helped to recover the pride of the English chivalrous class but also secured the reputation of Edward III and the Black Prince Yet what has been underemphasized in this historical narrative is the role played by men of more humble origins none more so than the medieval mariner This is unfortunate because during the fourteenth century the manpower and ships provided by the English merchant fleet underpinned every military expedition The aim of this book is to address this gap Its fresh approach to the sources allows the enormous contribution of the English merchant fleet to the wars conducted by Edward II and Edward III to be revealed the author also explores the complex administrative process of raising a fleet and provides career profiles for many mariners examining the familial relationships that existed in port communities and the shipping resources of English ports Craig L Lambert is Research Assistant at the University of Hull      The Cartulary of Chatteris Abbey Chatteris Abbey, 1999 Takes its place as perhaps the finest available study of a house for women religious

ENGLISH HISTORICAL REVIEW The fifteenth century cartulary of the Benedictine nunnery of Chatteris Abbey in

Cambridgeshire founded in the early eleventh century has important implications for the study of women religious especially in the light of the small number of surviving cartularies from English nunneries yet until now it has received little attention perhaps due to its damage in the Cotton Library fire of 1731 This critical edition of the manuscript which contains documents copied into it from the mid twelfth to the fifteenth centuries offers a full transcription together with historical notes and apparatus The introduction draws on the cartulary itself as well as manorial and episcopal records to analyse the nunnery's relationship with its patron the bishop of Ely and the development and management of its estates it also examines the location and layout of the abbey the social and geographical origins of the nuns and the production and organisation of the cartulary The edition is accompanied by an annotated list of all known abbesses prioresses and nuns

The Life and Passion of William of Norwich Thomas of Monmouth, 2014-09-25 A fascinating surviving chronicle from 12th century England which holds a unique and terrible place in the history of anti-Semitism The Life and Passion of William of Norwich gives a remarkable insight into life in a medieval cathedral city brilliantly capturing the everyday concerns of ordinary people and focussing on the miraculous cures carried out at a shrine But this was no ordinary shrine fervent worshippers gathered around the burial place where they believed that a boy was buried a boy murdered by the Jews of Norwich A chilling highly significant document The Life and Passion of William of Norwich is as far as we know the earliest version of what was to become the blood libel which has haunted Europe ever since Miri Rubin both superbly translates the book and in her introduction interprets the sequence of events that led to the monk Thomas of Monmouth's appalling narrative The consequences of his fantasies have been incalculable

Cambridge Medieval History: c. 1024-c. 1198. Pt. 1 and 2 Rosamond McKitterick, Paul Fouracre, Timothy Reuter, David Edward Luscombe, David Abulafia, Jonathan Riley-Smith, Christopher Allmand, Michael Jones, 1995

Writing Religious Women Christiana Whitehead, Denis Renevey, 2000-01-01 This collection of commissioned essays explores women's vernacular theology through a wide range of medieval prose and verse texts from saints' lives to visionary literature. Employing a historicist methodology the essays are sited at the intersection of two discursive fields: female spiritual practice and female textual practice. The contributors are primarily interested in the relation of women to religious books as writers, receivers and as objects of representation. They focus on historical approaches to the question of women's spirituality and generically unrestricted examinations of issues of female literacy, book ownership and reading practice. The essays are grouped under four main themes: the influence of anchoritic spirituality upon later lay piety; Carthusian links with female spirituality; the representation of femininity in Anglo-Norman and Middle English religious poetry and veneration; performance and delusion in the Book of Margery Kempe.

Common Women Ruth Mazo Karras, 1998-04-23 Through a sensitive use of a wide variety of imaginative and didactic texts, Ruth Karras shows that while prostitutes as individuals were marginalized within medieval culture, prostitution as an institution was central to the medieval understanding of what it meant to be a woman. This important work will be of interest to scholars and students of history, women's studies and the history of sexuality.

A Marginal Economy? Mark Bailey, 1989-06-29 A theory of the margin has long featured in the work of medieval historians. Marginal regions are taken to be those of poor soil or geographical remoteness where farmers experienced particular difficulties in grain production. It is argued that such regions were cultivated only when demographic pressure intensified in the thirteenth century, but that a combination of soil exhaustion and demographic decline resulted in severe economic contraction by the end of the fourteenth century. Marginal regions are seen not just as sensitive barometers of economic change but as important catalysts in that change. Despite the importance placed by historians on the general theory of the margin, this book represents the first detailed study of a marginal region. It focuses upon East Anglian Breckland, whose blowing sands are among the most barren soils in lowland England. Drawing upon a wide range of sources, this study reconstructs Breckland's late medieval economy and shows it to be more diversified and resilient than the stereotype depicted in marginal theory.

Medieval Single Women Cordelia Beattie, 2007-09-13 In a culture in which marriage was the desirable norm and virginity was particularly prized in females, the categories virgin and widow held particular significance. This book investigates the uses of the category single woman. The law gave unmarried women legal rights and responsibilities that were generally withheld from married women. The pervasiveness of religion and the law in people's day-to-day lives led to a complex interplay between moral and economic concerns in how medieval women were seen. As a result, they were marked out as single women in very different contexts, and this study reveals the multiplicity of ways in which dominant cultural ideas impacted on them.
