New Faculty A Practical Guide For Academic Beginners:

New Faculty C. Lucas, John W. Murry, 2016-04-30 A useful compendium of survival advice for the faculty newcomer on a variety of subjects practical tips on classroom teaching student performance evaluation detailed advice on grant writing student advising professional service and publishing New Faculty C. Lucas, J. Murry, Jr., 2002-08-15 Successfully launching an academic career in the challenging environment of higher education today is apt to require more explicit preparation than the informal socialization typically afforded in graduate school As a faculty novice soon discovers job success requires balancing multiple demands on one's time and energy New Faculty offers a useful compendium of survival advice for the faculty newcomer ranging from practical tips on classroom teaching and student performance evaluation to detailed advice on grant writing student advising professional service and publishing Beginning faculty members and possibly their more experienced colleagues as well will find this lively guidebook both informative and thought provoking

The Essential College Professor Jeffrey L. Buller, 2009-11-19 The Essential College Professor is about the how and why of being a faculty member today Based on the author's series of highly successful faculty development workshops each chapter deals concisely with the most important information college professors need at their fingertips when confronted by a particular challenge or faced with an exciting opportunity Written both as a comprehensive guide to an academic career and as a ready reference to be consulted whenever needed The Essential College Professor emphasizes proven solutions over untested theories and stresses what faculty members have to know now in order to be successful in their careers Each chapter is concluded by a short exercise that faculty members can perform to help them for instance completely revise a course by restructuring the syllabus and course materials bring new life to a research project by reframing it as a book proposal or grant application and so on Faculty Mentoring Susan L. Phillips, Susan T. Dennison, 2023-07-03 Faculty mentoring programs greatly benefit the institutions that have instituted them and are effective in attracting and retaining good faculty Prospective faculty members commonly ask about mentoring at on campus interviews and indicate that it is a consideration when choosing a position Mentoring programs also increase the retention rate of junior faculty greatly reducing recruitment costs and particularly help integrate women minority and international faculty members into the institution while providing all new hires with an orientation to the culture mission and identity of the college or university The book provides step by step guidelines for setting up planning and facilitating mentoring programs for new faculty members whether one on one or using a successful group model developed and refined over twenty five years by the authors While it offers detailed guidance on instituting such programs at the departmental level it also makes the case for establishing school or institutional level programs and delineates the considerable benefits and economies of scale these can achieve The authors provide guidance for mentors and mentees on developing group mentoring and individual mentor protégé relationships the corresponding chapters being available online for separate purchase as well as detailed outlines and advice to department chairs administrators and facilitators on how to establish and conduct institution wide group mentoring programs and apply or modify the material to meet their specific needs For training and faculty development purposes we also offer two chapters as individual e booklets Each respectively provides a succinct summary of the roles and expectations of the roles of Mentor and Mentee Faculty Mentoring Mentor Guide Faculty Mentoring Mentee Guide The booklets are affordably priced and intended for individual purchase by mentors and mentees and are only available through our Web site

Over Ten Million Served Michelle A. Massé, Katie J. Hogan, 2012-02-01 All tenured and tenure track faculty know the trinity of promotion and tenure criteria research teaching and service While teaching and research are relatively well defined areas of institutional focus and evaluation service work is rarely tabulated or analyzed as a key aspect of higher education's political economy Instead service is silent and invisible coexists with the formal official economy of many institutions just as women's unrecognized domestic labor props up the formal official economies of countries the world over Over Ten Million Served explores what academic service is and investigates why this labor is often not acknowledged as labor by administrators or even by faculty themselves but is instead relegated to a gendered form of institutional caregiving By analyzing the actual labor of service particularly for women and racial ethnic and sexual minorities contributors expose the hidden economy of institutional service challenging the feminization of service labor in the academy for both female and male academic laborers

Teaching and Learning at Business Schools Pär Mårtensson, Magnus Bild, 2016-04-01 Business schools are facing ever increasing internationalization students are far less homogenous than before faculty members come from different countries and teaching is carried out in second or even third languages As a result business schools and their teachers wrestle with new challenges as these changes accelerate Teaching and Learning at Business Schools brings together contributions from business school managers and educators involved in the International Teachers Programme a faculty development programme started by Harvard Business School more than 30 years ago and now run by a consortium of the London Business School Manchester Business School Kellogg Stern School of Business INSEAD HEC Paris IAE Aix en Provence IMD SDA Bocconi Milan and Stockholm School of Economics The book tackles themes both within the classroom teaching across different contexts and cultures and outside the classroom leading and developing business schools designing and running programmes developing faculty members The authors provide direction ideas and techniques for transforming business education that are accessible to everyone

Square Pegs and Round Holes Fred A. Bonner II, Rosa M. Banda, Stella L. Smith, Aretha F. Marbley, 2023-07-03 Developing alternative student development frameworks and models this groundbreaking book provides student affairs practitioners as well as faculty with illuminating perspectives and viable approaches for understanding the development of today's diverse student populations and for building the foundation for their academic success and self authorship With the increasing number of adult working students minoritized multiracial LGBTQ and first generation students this book offers readers vital insights into and ways to interrogate existing practice and develop relevant responses to the needs of these populations Building on and critiquing the past frameworks and integrating the insights of contemporary scholarship on student development the contributors collectively put forward a robust theoretical and methodological foundation for this work using Critical Race Theory as their central frame CRT allows chapter authors to situate race related encounters at the center of their proposed alternative framework or model and deconstruct and challenge commonly held assumptions about diverse college student development In the tradition of CRT each author offers an alternative model or framework that can be applied to the diverse population upon which the chapter is framed prompting readers to address such questions as Who are our college students What set of experiences do our students bring to the higher education context What role have their environments contexts i e home p 12 community family peer groups mentors played in our student s lives What impact have intervening variables i e race oppression power had on their experiences What strategies do they use to overcome developmental obstacles How do they define success and how they know they have achieved it By laying bare the experiences of these diverse college students that inform this volume s alternative frameworks this book contests that notion that they constitute square pegs that must fit into the round holes of traditional frameworks

Universities and Colleges

David Palfreyman, Paul Temple, 2017-12-15 What is a university What is the University How have universities evolved over the centuries How might they change over the coming decades as the physical and organisational entity most identified with higher education being delivered to over 250 million students What will be the impact of digital and distance learning of commercial for profit new entrants to the higher education market of government austerity of globalization of student consumerism Exploring the origins and the concept the idea and the ideal of the university this Very Short Introduction discusses one of the world s oldest most resilient and most adaptable institutions David Palfreyman and Paul Temple consider the links between universities and the economy and the role of universities within society Highlighting some of the key questions surrounding the position of universities they ask how the university can be politically accountable for its taxpayer funding if it needs to be autonomous to function effectively as a public good Are professors professional enough in their teaching practices at a time that increasing tuition fees transform students more and more into consumers And just what does academic freedom for university faculties really entail ABOUT THE SERIES The Very Short Introductions series from Oxford University Press contains hundreds of titles in almost every subject area These pocket sized books are the perfect way to get ahead in a new subject quickly Our expert authors combine facts analysis perspective new ideas and enthusiasm to make interesting and challenging topics highly readable

Black Women, Academe, and the Tenure Process in the United States and the Caribbean Talia Esnard, Deirdre Cobb-Roberts, 2018-08-06

This book explores the meanings experiences and challenges faced by Black women faculty that are either on the tenure track or have earned tenure The authors advance the notion of comparative intersectionality to tease through the contextual peculiarities and commonalities that define their identities as Black women and their experiences with tenure and promotion across the two geographical spaces By so doing it works through a comparative treatment of existing social inequalities educational disparities and injustices in the promotion and retention of Black women academics Such interpretative examinations offer important insights into how Black women's subjugated knowledge and experiences continue to be suppressed within mainstream structures of power and how they are negotiated across contexts Early Career

Academics in New Zealand: Challenges and Prospects in Comparative Perspective Kathryn A. Sutherland, 2017-08-08

What does it mean to be starting an academic career in the twenty first century What challenges and prospects are new academics facing and how are they dealing with these This book provides answers to these questions through an investigation of the experiences of early career academics in New Zealand universities Filling a gap in the international literature on the academic profession by providing a comprehensive overview of the experiences of New Zealand academics the book includes research findings from a national survey covering all eight New Zealand universities This research is also compared with various findings from the 2007 Changing Academic Profession survey in 19 other countries The book encourages readers to think about the early career academic experience in New Zealand in relation to their own experiences of the academic profession internationally Key areas of focus in the nine chapters include the teaching research and service preferences and activities of early career academics work life balance satisfaction the experiences of Māori academics and professional development and support for all early career academics Underpinning the book is the issue of the socialisation of early career academics into the academic profession in the twenty first century and how structure and agency interact to affect that socialisation Suggestions are made and links to freely available online resources are provided for improving socialisation at the individual departmental institutional and national levels
