New Horizons In East West Economic And Business Relations:

New Horizons in East-West Economic and Business Relations Marvin R. Jackson, James D. Woodson, 1984

East-West Financial Relations Iliana Zloch-Christy, 1991-04-26 The impact of Eastern Europe's convertible currency external debt situation on the financing of East West trade in the late 1980s and early 1990s East European economies, 1986 Pressures for Reform in the East European Economies, 1989 Steel And The State Thomas R

Howell, William A Noellert, Jesse G Kreier, Alan Wm Wolff, 2019-06-21 The problems of the U S steel industry have been a source of public controversy for over twenty years The industry has grown substantially smaller since the 1960s and hundreds of thousands of steelworkers have lost their jobs Some steel firms and many steel mills have shut down entirely profoundly affecting regional economies based on steel and its related industries An industrial transformation of this magnitude has inevitably given rise to efforts to identify its underlying causes This book is a contribution to that effort

Post-Communist Economies and Western Trade Discrimination C. Horne, 2015-12-11 The author examines the United States and European Union's use of anti dumping laws to demonstrate that discriminatory treatment persists even a decade after the end of the Cold War She argues that lingering Cold War beliefs about the trade threat posed by Communist countries continue to affect the method of implementing these trade remedy laws The East European Economy in

Context David Turnock, 2003-09-02 Since 1989 the former communist countries of Eastern Europe have witnessed a profound and dramatic upheaval The economic coherence of this region formerly maintained through the adoption of the Soviet system of government has fractured In The East European Economy in Context Communism and Transition David Turnock examines the transition from communist to free market economies both within and between the states of Eastern Europe As well as containing an informative survey of the impact of communism The East European Economy in Context provides Political profiles of individual countries A clear study of the contrasts between northern and balkan groups

Summaries of regional variations in the transition process An exploration of the new state structures and resources Discussion of political stability inter ethnic tensions and progress in economic change Distrust Russell Hardin, 2004-05-20 If trust is sometimes the rational response in interpersonal relations then it can also be rational to distrust Indeed distrust is the preferred response when it protects against harm as when parents do not entrust the safety of their child to a disreputable caretaker Liberal political theory was largely founded on distrust of government and the assumption that government cannot and should not be trusted led the framers of the U S constitution to establish a set of institutions explicitly designed to limit government power With contributions from political science anthropology economics psychology and philosophy Distrust examines the complex workings of trust and distrust in personal relationships groups and international settings Edna Ullman Margalit succinctly defines distrust as the negation of trust and examines the neutral state between the two responses in interpersonal relations As Margalit points out people typically defer judgment while remaining mildly wary of another's intentions until specific grounds for trust or distrust become evident. In relations between nations, misplaced trust can lead to grievous harm, so nations may be inclined to act as though they distrust other nations more than they actually do. Editor Russell Hardin observes that the United States and the former Soviet Union secured a kind of institutionalized distrust through the development of the nuclear deterrent system that stabilized the relationship between the two countries for four decades. In another realm where distrust plays a prominent role, Margaret Levi-Matthews and Theresa Buckley show that since the National Labor Relations Board has not been able to overcome distrust between labor unions and employers, it strives to equalize the power held by each group in negotiations. Recapitulating liberal concerns about state power, Patrick Troy argues that citizen distrust keeps government regulation under scrutiny and is more beneficial to the public than unconditional trust. Despite the diversity of contexts examined, the contributors reach remarkably similar conclusions about the important role of trust and distrust in relations between individuals, nations, and citizens and their governments. Distrust makes a significant contribution to the growing field of trust studies and provides a useful guide for further research. A Volume in the Russell Sage Foundation Series on Trust.

Market Entry and Operational Decision Making in East-West Business Relationships Jorma Larimo, 2013-04-03

Understand the dynamics of East-West relationships in business to make better decisions. The Eastern expansion of the European Union has increased interest in this geographic region. Market Entry and Operational Decision Making in East-West Business Relationships presents 10 case studies that focus on firms in Central and Eastern Europe and the strategies used for success. Academics, researchers, and practitioners examine a variety of topics including entry and marketing strategies of Western multinational companies, choices of locations for foreign direct investments, first-mover advantages, entry behavior of retailing companies, dynamics in subsidiary operations, industry clusters, decision making, autonomy, and internationalization. Market Entry and Operational Decision Making in East-West Business Relationships provides information that is uniquely timely and practical to those in business in this region. The chapters bring the academic and the practical perspectives together by analyzing various research studies from different companies in several Central and Eastern European countries. This resource discusses companies and the decisions about where they begin and maintain operations and why these strategies were chosen. The book provides a clear spotlight on the business decisions currently taking place in the East-West interaction. Topics in Market Entry and Operational Decision Making in East-West Business Relationships include studies of four Estonian companies on their emergence and success factors, a comparative study of performance measures of companies in Central and Eastern Europe, a detailed look at the strategies of Finnish and Swedish companies in the Baltic states and Russia, the location decisions of Italian firms, a comparative study of in-store shopping behavior in Italy, France, and Poland, the regionalization of multinational company strategies, studies of Estonian companies including the wood and forest industries, and more. Market Entry and Operational Decision Making in East-West Business Relationships is an essential resource that examines issues of critical importance to business researchers practitioners and policymakers
