New Criminology Revisited:

The New Criminology Revisited P. Walton, J. Young, 2016-07-27 In 1973 The New Criminology was published and quickly established itself as a key textbook in criminology casting a major influence over a generation of scholars. It has remained in print ever since. This volume published twenty five years later traces the major developments in the field including feminism, postmodernism, critical criminology and realism. The articles are by leading authorities from Britain, the United States and Australia and include Stan Cohen, Elliott Currie, Pat Carlen and Kerry Carrington as well as separate commentaries by the three original authors themselves: Ian Taylor, Paul Walton and Jock Young.

The New Criminology Revisited Paul Walton, Jock Young, 1998

Criminological Theory J. Robert Lilly, Francis T. Cullen, Richard A. Ball, 2007 The Fourth Edition of this highly acclaimed book expands on previous editions with coverage of newly emerged theories and empirical updates supported by a significant amount of new references. Criminological Theory provides coverage of the latest theories in the field without diminishing the presentation of classic analysis. Major theoretical perspectives that have developed from both recent critical work and traditional schools together with practical applications compel the reader to apply theories to the contemporary social milieu.

Recent Developments in Criminological Theory Scott A. Lukas, 2017-07-05 This volume contains recent and cutting edge articles from leading criminological theorists. The book is organized into ten sections each representing the latest in the multi disciplinary orientations representing a cross section of contemporary criminological theory. These sections include: 1 Classical and Rational Choice 2 Biological and Biosocial 3 Psychological 4 Social Learning and Neutralization 5 Social Control 6 Social Ecology Sub cultural and Cultural 7 Anomie and Strain 8 Conflict and Radical 9 Feminist and Gender 10 Critical Criminologies Anarchist Postmodernist Peacemaking. The articles were selected based on their contributions to advancing the field including ways in which the authors of each chapter understand the current theoretical tendencies of their respective approaches and how they envision the future of their theories. Because of this the articles focus on theory rather than empirical research. Of particular note is the tendency toward integration of different perspectives as described by editors Henry and Lukas in their original introduction to this volume.

Sociology Robert Van Krieken, Daphne Habibis, Philip Smith, Brett Hutchins, Greg Martin, Karl Maton, 2013-09-12 Building upon the success of previous editions this fully revised edition of Sociology lays the foundations for understanding sociology in Australia. Changing Contours of Criminal Justice Mary Bosworth, Carolyn Hoyle, Lucia Zedner, 2016-11-03 Celebrating the 50th Anniversary of the Oxford Centre for Criminology this edited collection of essays seeks to explore the changing contours of criminal justice over the past half century and to consider possible shifts over the next few decades The question of how social science disciplines develop and change does not invite any easy answer with the task made all the more difficult given the highly politicised nature of some subjects and the volatile evolving status of its institutions and practices A case in point is criminal justice at once fairly parochial much criminal justice scholarship is now global in its reach and subject areas that are now accepted as central to its study victims restorative justice security privatization terrorism citizenship and migration to name just a few were topics unknown to the discipline half a century ago Indeed most criminologists would have once stoutly denied that they had anything to do with it Likewise some central topics of past criminological attention like probation have largely receded from academic attention and some central criminal justice institutions like Borstal and corporal punishment have at least in Europe been abolished Although the rapidity and radical nature of this change make it quite impossible to predict what criminal justice will look like in fifty years time reflection on such developments may assist in understanding how it arrived at its current form and hint at what the future holds The contributors to this volume have been invited to reflect on the impact Oxford criminology has had on the discipline providing a unique and critical discussion about the current state of criminal justice around the world and the origins and future implications of contemporary practice All are leading internationally renowned criminologists whose work has defined and often re defined our understanding of criminal justice policy and literature

Sociology After Postmodernism David Owen, 1997-03-25 Postmodernism is frequently described as dealing a death blow to sociology This book however argues that it is a mistake to conceive postmodernism in terms of a fatal attack upon what sociologists do The contributors locate the identity of sociology after postmodernism as a contested site which opens up the possibility of re imagining the enterprise of sociology They show how this re imagination might be conducted and trace some of the key potential consequences

Expanding the Criminological Imagination Alana Barton, Karen Corteen, David Scott, Dave Whyte, 2013-01-11 This book brings together a series of writings on the problems facing contemporary criminology highlighting the main theoretical priorities of critical analysis and their application to substantive case studies of research in action Its main aim is to establish the conceptual and practical foundations for a new generation of studies in criminology and to set a new agenda for critical criminology Each chapter will critically assess the main conceptual and empirical problems they have encountered in their research and to bring to life the key theoretical debates within the discipline This book will be essential reading for students seeking an understanding of the nature of the discipline of criminology and criminological research
