

The background of the cover is a composite image. The profile of a human head, facing left, is formed by a dense urban landscape. The head's features, including the forehead, nose, and jawline, are defined by the silhouette of the city. Inside the head, various city buildings and structures are visible, creating a textured, layered effect. The background behind the head is a hazy, light-colored sky, and the foreground below the head shows more city buildings and a body of water in the distance.
