New Generation Vaccines Gregory Gregoriadis, Brenda McCormack, Anthony C. Allison, George Poste, 2012-12-06
Proceedings of a NATO ASI held at Cape Sounion Beach Greece June 24 July 5 1992 New-generation vaccines and novel vaccinal strategies against infectious diseases of livestock, wild and companion animals Denis Archambault, Raul Manzano Roman, Suresh Kumar Tikoo, Christophe Chevalier, Brad Pickering, 2023-08-25 Emerging and re emerging infections in particular those caused by viruses are expected to rise in correlation among other factors with climate changes Antibiotic resistance is another issue that will limit the therapeutic arsenal against bacterial and parasitic infections Therefore one must be adequately prepared to overcome and prevent current and novel infections and vaccination remains the optimal way to fight infectious diseases in humans This is also true for many impacting diseases of livestock and companion animals to which there are no available vaccines First attenuated and inactivated and second subunit generation vaccines have their limitations To overcome this efforts have been made in recent years to develop novel vaccine types such as virus like particle VLP viral vector and DNA based vaccines in humans and animals The recent success in utilizing RNA technology based vaccines to fight SARS CoV 2 to limit the severity of clinical symptoms and mortality constitutes a promising way to develop such vaccines against animal diseases Development of novel molecules or materials with adjuvant or immunostimulatory activity to adequately stimulate the innate immune response and therefore the pathogen specific adaptive immune response as well as the identification of suitable antigenic material that would bring broad protection against infectious agent variants are other key issues to be considered in developing safe and innovative immunization strategies New Generation Vaccines Myron M. Lewis, 2020-07-10 Novel Immune Potentiators and Delivery Technologies for Next Generation Vaccines Manmohan Singh, 2013-03-03 Development of new generation vaccines is now more challenging than ever as identifying purifying and evaluating vaccine antigens is a complex undertaking Most importantly once the relevant antigens have been identified key focus then shifts to the development of suitable delivery systems and formulations to achieve maximum in vivo potency with minimum potential side effects These novel formulations many of which will be nanoparticulates can deliver the antigens to the desired site to the relevant antigen presenting cells and prevent systemic exposure of the immune potentiators The proposed book will outline all the critical steps that need to be considered for successful development of various types of nanoparticulate delivery systems for vaccine antigens These contributions from leading experts in the area of vaccine formulation and delivery systems will tie in what is the most current status including clinical evaluations with these novel vaccine technologies New Generation Vaccines, Fourth Edition Myrone M.
