Engaging with Ethics in International Criminological Research Michael Adorjan, Rose Ricciardelli, 2016-06-10

Despite a voluminous literature detailing the procedures of research ethics boards and institutional ethical review processes there are few texts that explore the realpolitik of conducting criminal research in practice This book explores the unique lived experiences of scholars engaging with ethics during their criminological research and focuses on the ethical dilemmas that researchers encounter both in the field and while writing up results for publication Who benefits from criminological research What are the roles and impacts of ethics review boards How do methodological and theoretical decisions factor in to questions of ethical conduct and research ethics governance This book is divided into four parts Part I Institutional arrangements and positionality explores the ongoing and expanding process of ethics protocol and procedures principles of confidentiality and the positionality of the researcher Part II Trust and research with vulnerable populations examines the complexity of work involving prisoners indigenous peoples and victims of extreme violence power dynamics between researchers and participants and the challenges of informed consent Part III Research on and with police reflects on the importance of transparent relations with police best practices and the consequences of undertaking research in authoritarian contexts Part IV Emerging areas scrutinizes the ethics of carceral tours and suggests possible alternatives and offers one of the first sociological and criminological examinations of dark net cryptomarkets Drawing upon the experiences of international experts this book aims to provoke further reflection on and discussion of ethics in practice This book is ideal for students undertaking courses on research methods in criminology as well as a key resource for criminology researchers around the world

Procedural Justice and Relational Theory Denise Meyerson, Catriona Mackenzie, Therese MacDermott, 2020-10-29 This book bridges a scholarly divide between empirical and normative theorizing about procedural justice in the context of relations of power between citizens and the state Empirical research establishes that people's understanding of procedural justice is shaped by relational factors A central premise of this volume is that this research is significant but needs to be complemented by normative theorizing that draws on relational theories of ethics and justice to explain the moral significance of procedures and make normative sense of people's concerns about relational factors The chapters in Part 1 provide comprehensive reviews of empirical studies of procedural justice in policing courts and prisons Part 2 explores empirical and normative perspectives on procedural justice and legitimacy Part 3 examines philosophical approaches to procedural justice Part 4 considers the implications of a relational perspective for the design of procedures in a range of legal contexts This collection will be of interest to a wide academic readership in philosophy law psychology and criminology

Tides and Currents in Police Theories Elke Devroe, Paul Ponsaers, Lodewijk Gunther Moor, Jack Greene, Lieselot Bisschop, Layla Skinns, Antoinette Verhage, Matthew Bacon, 2012 This volume of the Journal of Police Studies reflects on theoretical developments concerning police The book is focused on a paper by Jack R Greene titled The Tides and

Currents Eddies and Whirlpools and Riptides of Modern Policing Connecting Thoughts The paper was the outcome of a seminar organized at Ghent University in the framework of the working group on policing of the European Society of Criminology ESC held in September 2010 Greene s contribution refers to original background papers which were published earlier This book pushes the analysis further starting from the observations Greene makes in his provocative roundup The book s themes include collective action and crime policing and social democracy the role of the law in policing violence and police the militarization and demilitarization of police politics and policing the transformation of policing the evaluation of research methodology buzz words and basics in policing the history of theory the emerging new policing role and its implications police education and training the erosion of community policing the complexity of policing dirty crime global crime and policing the central tasks of the police democratic policing Unhappy Dialogue James Whitfield,2013-01-10 This book is concerned with the origins of the often difficult relationship between the Metropolitan Police and London s West Indian community and is the first detailed account of the relationship between them during the crucial early decades of largescale immigration It shows how and why the early seeds of mistrust between police and black immigrants were sown culminating in the subsequent riots and public enquiries in particular the Scarman and MacPherson enquiries Drawing upon a wide range of interviews as well as detailed archival research this book also sheds new light on the relationship between the Home Secretary and the Metropolitan Police Commissioner in the post war period the cultures and subcultures within the Met and the different priorities to be found within its rank structure the nature of cultural and ethnic prejudice in the Met at the time its self imposed alienation from the community it served and the Met s lack of commitment at the highest level to community and race relations training All these issues are examined in the broader context of British society in the 1950s and 1960s providing a prism through which to explore the broader context of race relations in Britain in the post war period Police Without Borders Cliff Roberson,Dilip K. Das,Jennie K. Singer,2010-07-07 The Fifteenth Annual International Police Executive Symposium brought together 65 police executives government officials academics and researchers to discuss issues relating to all aspects of policing in a global community It focused on policing without borders the need for national and international cooperation among policing agencies and th Police Leadership and Management Margaret Mitchell,John Peter Casey,2007 This volume presents the new contexts and challenges for contemporary police leaders and managers in the changing landscapes of policing The governance of contemporary police organisations requires leaders and managers even at the local level to work in and understand complex social political and organisational environments The wide range of topics in this collection explores what is changing what is known about the impact of these changes and what leaders and managers now need to be able to do or anticipate as a consequence Operational policing is no longer the militaristic singular activity it once was but embraces new models of partnership and community to manage crime and disorder Equally while command and control models are still an essential of many aspects of policing managing police officers and staff increasingly depends on their professional development and encouraging enthusiasm and innovation Policing takes place under conditions of intense scrutiny from the media and from the community and crime and disorder is the subject of much political debate Each of these broad areas are addressed and present a surprising range of perspectives The volume is aimed at every level of management and leadership in policing researchers of policing and students of police management and leadership

The Cambridge Constitutional History of the United Kingdom: Volume 1, Exploring the Constitution Peter Cane,H. Kumarasingham,2023-08-17 Featuring contributions from leading scholars of history law and politics this path breaking two volume work traces the development of the United Kingdom s constitution from Anglo Saxon times and explores its role in the creation exercise and control of public power Chapters in Volume One entitled Exploring the Constitution approach the constitution and its history from various scholarly perspectives and provide historically sensitive discussions of constitutional actors and institutions and of political traditions and transformations of the constitution Together the two volumes form the first wide ranging history of the constitution to be published for decades By their cross disciplinary approach taking account of the latest legal political and historical scholarship on the constitution they fill a large gap in the literature of the constitution and in political thought and British history the Republic of South Africa and Russia Homeland Security Organization in Defence Against Terrorism J. P. I. A. G. Charvat, 2012 Centre of Excellence Defence Against Terrorism Ankara Turkey How Do We Know What Information Sharing Is Really Worth? Exploring Methodologies to Measure the Value of Information Sharing and Fusion Efforts Brian A. Jackson, 2014-06-18 The sharing of intelligence and law enforcement information is a central part of U S domestic security efforts yet there are concerns about the effectiveness of information sharing and fusion activities and their value relative to the public funds invested in them This report lays out the challenges of evaluating information sharing efforts that seek to achieve multiple goals simultaneously reviews past evaluations of information sharing programs and lays out a path to improving the evaluation of such efforts Volume 7, Issue 1, Winter 2019 Journal of Law and Cyber Warfare, Crime and Justice, Volume 53 Michael Tonry, 2025-06-09 Presents cutting edge scholarship by preeminent criminology scholars Since 1979 Crime and Justice has presented a review of the latest international research providing expertise to enhance the work of sociologists psychologists criminal lawyers justice scholars and political scientists The series explores a full range of issues concerning crime its causes and its cures In both the review and the thematic volumes Crime and Justice offers an interdisciplinary approach to address core issues in criminology Public Management and Vulnerability Gareth Addidle, Joyce Liddle, 2020-07-07 This book locates the issue of vulnerability in an international context within public sector reform processes and goes beyond the conceptualization of existing concepts of policing and vulnerability to include multi and intra agency working It uncovers many competing and contradictory conceptualisations of the phenomenon and shows how a variety of agencies in different jurisdictions prioritise and operationalise this escalating 21st century social problem Two recurring themes of this edited collection are the ways in which non state organisations and agencies have become an acknowledged feature of modern service delivery and how the withdrawal of the state has heralded a perceptive shift from collective or community provision towards the stigmatization of individuals Increasingly public service professionals and street level bureaucrats work in collaboration with non state agents to attempt to ameliorate vulnerability Chapter contributions were deliberately drawn from combinatory empirical theoretical policy and practice fields and diverse academic and policy professional authors Editors and authors deliberately cast their nets widely to provide integrative scholarship and contributions from international perspectives to confirm the complexity and how socio cultural political and historic antecedents shape the definitions and responses to vulnerability This collection will appeal to academics policy makers and practitioners in a wide variety of disciplines such as public management and leadership criminology policing social policy social work and business management and any others with an interest in or responsibility for dealing with the issue of vulnerability Applied Police Research Ella Cockbain, Johannes Knutsson, 2014-09-15 Remarkably little has been written about the theory and practice of applied police research despite growing demand for evidence in crime prevention Designed to fill this gap this book offers a valuable new resource It contains a carefully curated selection of contributions from some of the world's leading applied police researchers. Together the authors have almost 300 years of relevant experience across three continents. The volume contains both practical everyday advice and calls for more fundamental change in how police research is created, consumed, and applied. It covers diverse topics including the art of effective collaborations, the interaction between policing, academia, and policy; the interplay between theory and practice; and managing ethical dilemmas. This book will interest a broad and international audience from academics and students to police management officers and trainees, to policymakers and research funders.
