Public Productivity Through Quality And Strategic Management International Institute Of Administrative Science Monographs Vol 1:

Contracts, Performance Measurements, and Accountability in the Public Sector Gavin Drewry, Carsten Greve, Thierry Tanquerel, 2005 This book addresses issues to do with public accountability audit and performance measurement that are both highly topical and of crucial importance to the theory and practice of public administration in an era of contractualized public management The literature on public sector contracting covering both hard agreements ones that are legally enforceable and soft agreements enforced by negotiation and mutual trust has been growing for some time and the present book adds a primarily European perspective on contracting performance based management and accountability One important aspect of this study is its recognition that those responsible for monitoring public services and holding them to account have had to an increasing extent to reconcile tensions between on the one hand the need for strong oversight and on the other the encouragement of innovation and risk in an increasingly competitive and entrepreneurial public service culture Following an introductory overview by the three editors the book is in three parts The first part deals with the theory and practice of performance measurement and evaluation the second part provides a series of specific case studies of audit and accountability in a variety of countries and contexts the third part offers some wider cross cutting perspectives Based on the work of the EGPA permanent study group on the history of contractualization Contracts Performance Measurement and Accountability in the Public Sector draws upon the wide expertise and research interests of academics and practitioners from the United Kingdom Denmark Switzerland Belgium Sweden and the USA

Public Administration and Development United Nations, 1997 This publication addresses the complex questions of improving accountability responsiveness and legal frameworks in the public sector particularly in developing countries The topics covered include the role of the State and the future of public services faced with the problems of transition and development the institutional implications of changing policy management the role and scope of public administration in Central and Eastern European countries recent changes in Asian public service in a context of privatisation a Latin American view of urban transportation as a socio economic policy what form of administration for what State The annexes include the Resolution adopted by the General Assembly UN on Public Administration and Development Highlights of the General Assembly Resumed Session on Public Administration and Development and the historical background of the IIAS and the UN

Ethics and Accountability in a Context of Governance and New Public Management Annie Hondeghe, European Group of Public Administration, 1998 Ethics and accountability have become important themes for modern government as in most of the countries there is a severe crisis of legitimacy Increasingly there is a feeling that performance management alone will not solve this crisis Citizens also expect from politicians and public servants ethical responsible conduct As to the ethics however there is a problem Governance and new public management have raised new problems which cannot be solved by referring to the traditional bureaucratic ethics Devolution and decentralisation processes have enhanced the responsibility of public servants The increase of transparency and openness and the service orientation of public organisations have challenged the traditional values of discretion and equality before the rule The growing interaction between the public and the private sector have raised the question of integrity In light of these developments it is important to update the ethical system or reversibly the traditional values of the public service can question some actual evolutions in government

Managing Diversity in the Civil Service Undesa - Iias,2001 Those who wish to read other papers and follow the debate between the participants can visit the DPEPA website Citizens and the New Governance Luc Rouban,1999 This book addresses the relationship of citizenship and public management in Europe After fifteen years of State reform it is time for an overall discussion of the theoretical and empirical impact and limits of New Public Management as one of the latest re orientations in public administration on the practice of citizenship All the authors have pointed out the tension between a focus on improvement of state bureaucracies on the one hand and the involvement of citizens in the co production of policies on the other They point to a fundamental change that is taking place the importance of state apparatuses for the development and sustainability of viable societies is being de emphasised and special attention to governance is now taking over the central place that for so long has been occupied by attention to government Through the co production of public policies by citizens and public authorities working together a new civil society is emerging This book highlights the fact that the re invention of the citizen is of crucial importance to public administrative practice as well as to the various public administration disciplines in Europe Governmental Response to Environmental Challenges in Global Perspective

Joseph G. Jabbra,O. P. Dwivedi,1998 In our drive to improve human standards of living we have paradoxically paid scant attention to the need for clean air and water the impact of acid rain on agriculture lakes and rivers the effect of pollutants on the ozone layer the safe disposal of hazardous wastes and the relationship between population growth and the environment It seems that every time governments are faced with an apparent choice between economic development and the protection of the environment priority is always given to the former Short term plans dictated by canons of political survival and expediency always seem to take precedence over long term strategies with politicians and decision makers deftly relegating environmental concerns to the realm of rhetoric This book is an effort to better understand the problems faced by our global ecosystems It is also the result of the authors deep commitment to urge both citizens and their leaders the world over to work together for a better protection of the environment so that our planet may be saved for the present and for future generations De Nouveaux Défis Pour L'administration Du XXIème Siècle B. Etien,1997 This work contains reports of the International Institute of Administrative Sciences The scientific programme emphasizes a comparative approach and incorporates significant theoretical and conceptual developments Six workshops are reported upon including the reconstruction of government functions decentralization redesigning for responsiveness accountability and risk taking special interests and client relationships reaffirmation of values and mobilizing learning A panel on administrative reform in China forms a unique contribution Readers include professionals scholars and students of public administration

Transformations in Social Security Systems, 1997 The main idea of the working group was to have a sample of different answers to common problems shared by most if not all western industrialised countries But these common problems are embedded in very different systems of social protection Answers are different both in process and content This book will give a rather diverse and broad overview of problems and solutions in adapting social security systems to the environment of the XXIst century Organisation Institutionnelle de la Gestion de L'eau Aux XIXe Et XXe Siecles J. C. N.

Raadschelders, 2005 Water management has become a major issue for public policies at any latitude How and why this happened could not be assessed efficiently without developing a longitudinal and comparative analysis such as the one in this book Institutional arrangements for the provision and the use of water are peculiarly persistent as well as remarkably resilient This makes them an ideal subject of an historical account Not that history is worth writing about only when it treats immutable phenomena On the contrary its main purpose is to record changes and possibly explain them But long lasting continuity urges the scholar to venture into the remote past since only there are to be discovered the initial causes and the deeper meanings of the institutions under scrutiny Also continuity makes the strength of path dependency all the more evident and consequently underlines the weight of history Management of Public Service Reform Joan Corkery, 1998

The reform of public administration to adapt to the pressures and new requirements of an ever changing world has become a major global phenomenon This study has been produced by the International Institute of Administrative Sciences and the European Centre for Development Policy Management Rendre Et Gérer la Justice Au 21e Siècle Marco Fabri, P. M.

Langbroek, 2000 Comprises 21 papers grouped under five headings Management and efficiency versus judicial values Policy development in the justice systems Changing positions of courts in society Governance and change of courts and public prosecutors offices and Courts public prosecutors offices and ICT Equality Oriented Personnel Policy in the Public Sector Sarah Nelen, Annie Hondeghem, 2000 This text is the result of the co operation between academics and civil servants active in this policy field It aims to contribute to a more effective equality oriented personnel policy which takes into account policy insights and developments regarding gender equality and personnel policy Competency Management in the Public Sector Instituut voor de Overheid, 2002

Annotation Competency Management is increasingly being adopted as an approach to HRM in both the private and public sectors This book will be of interest to both practitioners and academics as it seeks to inform the reader about the practice of competency management in European public services It throws light on the origins and meanings of the concept and traces the competency movement from the 1980s in the UK and USA It links competency management to performance management and HRM and demonstrates how a competency approach can add value to all parts of an organisation The nine country studies provide a rich insight into the practices found across the public sectors of Europe At one end of the spectrum is Britain with its holistic approach to competency management in the Senior Civil Service and widespread use throughout the rest of the service Belgium the Netherlands and Finland provide further examples of recent developments and good practice In France and Germany however competency management has only just appeared on the reform agenda and the reasons for this are identified Micro studies in Italy and Sweden provide an insight into the problems that arise when the perceptions of reformers diverge from those of managers and managed while the study of Poland shows the problems faced by countries in transition which lack an appropriate educational sub structure for public management and HRM

Towards an Intelligent State Bernardo Kliksberg,2001 Explores the role that the State can play in relation to new social challenges Includes discussions of community participation in development the role of social and cultural capital in the development process and approaches to efficient social management Suggests a move away from an omnipotent or minimal State towards a more integral one Highlights the role the State can play in overcoming inequities and analyses the specific case of Latin America

Righting Wrongs Roy Gregory,Philip James Giddings,2000 6 Ombudsman in Australia Dennis Pearce

East-west Co-operation in Public Sector Reform Frits van den Berg,György Jenei,Lance T. LeLoup,2002 Building on the experience of hundreds of projects and programmes over more than a decade this is a comprehensive study of East West co operation in public sector reform since the collapse of communism

Governing Networks Ari Salminen,2003 Annotation The EGPA Yearbook provides an overall view of current scientific discussion concerning networks particularly the governing of networks in European public administration More than 30 presentations by researchers and practitioners of public administration in different European countries guarantee that the wide range of topics related to network governance information technology and also to other special issues of administrative and managerial reforms related to the subject is fully covered The Yearbook deals with two main topics centred on governing and developing networks In the first part issues are related to different interpretations of networks involved in social policy reforms administration citizen relationships reforming governance models public private relations also including health care local governance and professional policy networks In the second part networks are discussed from the perspective of information technology Among several presentations the authors analyse challenges and applications of new technology in public administration ICT networks in social networks and also reforms and improvements of new technology The accent is on how IT is bringing new patterns into the public administration of different countries The Yearbook demonstrates that a discussion of networks is a rather new and fresh way of thinking about the role of public sector authorities in society reforms of hierarchical structures in public agencies and e governance applications at all levels of government

The Turning World Guido Bertucci,Michael Duggett,2002 It is the task of the IIAS and the UNDESA to track and focus on changes in the atmosphere of world governance and public administration This work shows that a new prestige has been earned by public servants who are performing a public good and who are in the centre of the turning world

Essays in Economic

Globalization, Transnational Policies and Vulnerability Alexander Kouzmin, Andrew Hayne, 1999 The liberalization of trade and its questionable benefit the increasing fluidity in the movement of people and trade across geo political divides the emergence of unregulated virtual trade and its implications on domestic economic policy and the social implications of the new world order are all issues demanding on going critical examination from a perspective beyond the common lens of neo liberal economics Such an examination is pursued in Kouzmin and Hayne edited volume Essays in Economic Globalization Transnational Policies and Vulnerability a collection of 13 diverse challenging and often cautionary chapters contributed by an international cohort of scholars

Windows on China IASIA. Conference, 2004 The papers included in this publication represent windows through which others can view candid debates and discussions by Chinese scholars and public servants about current pressing issues challenging their national and local governments The papers address a wide range of challenging issues from the design of training for the Chinese civil service to experiments with marketing and mixed economies responsiveness of government to citizens how to carry on the democracy experiment in China transparency and openness in government building rule of law autonomy of local governments and selection of leaders Naturally these papers do not cover all the changes taking place in the Chinese national and local governments as a result of the reforms but the issues discussed here suggest the breadth and depth of changes that have occurred in recent years and they offer insights rare in English into modern Chinese public administration
