The global development community has articulated many collective aspirations in the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) aimed at transforming the world. Given the complicated issues that accompany globalization, State and non-State actors continue to explore the utility of public-private cooperation mechanisms. Public-private cooperation initiatives strive for global governance mechanisms involving oversight by all of the actors and operating frameworks that include multiple states, intergovernmental organizations, NGOs, private sector companies, and prominent individuals.      Public-Private

Partnerships in Africa Thekiso Molokwane, Muhiya Tshombe Lukamba, Alex Nduhura, Innocent Nuwagaba, 2023-12-06 In the twenty-first century, governments around the world began to engage the private sector with the objective of achieving public service delivery targets, and the African continent has, as such, been experiencing transformation, particularly since the introduction of public-private partnerships (PPP) as a measure of reform and method of procurement. Unfortunately, there is a mixed bag of successes and challenges through this implementation of PPPs, causing a gap in infrastructure, leaving more than 640 million Africans without access to energy. Muhiya Tshombe Lukamba, Thekiso Molokwane, Alex Nduhura, and Innocent Nuwagaba in Public-Private Partnerships in Africa: Exploring Africa's Growth Potential explore ways in which the government can collaborate with the private sector in order to close these gaps. The chapters analyze the implementation of PPPs and provide case studies on the use of PPPs in different African countries and industry sectors. This book unearths new findings on PPPs within Africa and provides solutions that are beneficial to scholars, the government, and the PPP industry through the theoretical underpinning of various contemporary issues.      Public-Private Partnership: Asian Perspectives - Recommendations for Azerbaijan Mahir Humbatov, Nikita Singla, 2016-12-12 As the world makes great strides on the path to development, the gap between infrastructure needs and the resources governments possess to meet those needs is ever growing on account of governments' razor-thin budgets, rapid urbanization, and population growth. Asia's overall infrastructure investment needs are estimated at USD 9 trillion till 2030, 68% of which is for new capacity and 32% for maintaining and replacing existing infrastructure. The average annual infrastructure investment during this period is about USD 750 billion. As countries move up the value chain and urban populations expand, demand for transport, logistics, and utilities will only continue to grow, increasing the burden on public funds. If cash-flushed investors have an appetite for Asia's infrastructure projects, what is keeping them at bay? For infrastructure development, statistics show that Asian nations have been turning to Public-Private Partnerships (PPP), which seemed to be one of the main tools to attract financing and keep pace with rapid growth. Although the PPP models are established in several Asian countries such as Singapore, South Korea, and Japan, others are relatively immature. Indonesia, China, and India, in particular, have announced ambitious infrastructure programs with governments developing mechanisms to encourage PPP investment and address barriers to PPP development. The new game-changers of the 21st century, India and China, are showing aggressive signs of opening their domestic markets to international investors While PPPs hold significant potential for Asia they also present formidable challenges Case studies of PPP markets in Australia China India Indonesia Japan Korea Malaysia Singapore and Thailand provide an Asian perspective enabling recommendations for Azerbaijan The Azerbaijani government has achieved great progress over the last decade in integrating the country into the global economic marketplace and increasing foreign investment mainly due to its oil resources Now the government s focus is on diversifying the economy outside the oil sector Azerbaijan is facing increasing demand for investment in infrastructure development overstressing the government s budget There is need for not only private sector investment but also private sector knowledge and expertise The traditional approach of the government for infrastructure development of any kind has been to use the state s own budget or privatization The first is markedly insufficient to meet the country s needs while the latter only works in a sound legal and financial framework and is not appropriate for all public service delivery projects So there is a need to see if the time is ripe for public private partnerships PPPs may not be the ultimate solution but they can help address many of the issues systemic to the region in the field of infrastructure development All it needs is a systematic approach undertaken through joint efforts of private and public sectors

Public-private Partnerships Stephen P. Osborne, 2000 Public Private partnerships are an increasing aspect of the delivery of public policies and services across the world This book is the first to draw upon a range of disciplines to offer theoretical perspectives upon their analysis as well as a range of case studies of their management from around the world It also offers a number of frameworks for the evaluation of their management This book will be of interest to students of public policy and public management whether at the undergraduate or postgraduate level

The Law and Governance of Decentralised Business Models Roger M Barker, Iris H-Y Chiu, 2020-12-30 This book draws together themes in business model developments in relation to decentralised business models DBMs sometimes referred to as the sharing economy to systematically analyse the challenges to corporate and organisational law and governance DBMs include business networks the global supply chain public private partnerships the platform economy and blockchain based enterprises The law of organisational forms and governance has been slow in responding to changes and reliance has been placed on innovations in contract law to support the business model developments The authors argue that the law of organisations and governance can respond to changes in the phenomenon of decentralised business models driven by transformative technology and new socio economic dynamics They argue that principles underlying the law of organisations and governance such as corporate governance are crucial to constituting facilitating and enabling reciprocity mutuality governance and redress in relation to these business models the wealth creation of which subscribes to neither a firm nor market system is neither hierarchical nor totally decentralised and incorporates socio economic elements that are often enmeshed with incentives and relations Of interest to academics policymakers and legal practitioners this book offers proposals for new thinking in the law of organisation and governance to advance the possibilities of a new socio economic future
