Environments on Diverse Childhoods Kate Bishop, Katina Dimoulis, 2024-07-01 Children and young people are often discussed as if they are homogenous groups The reality is of course very different with an enormous variation within each of these groups and in any domain of experience pertaining to childhood or adolescence Driven by personal sociocultural geographic or economic circumstances many children and young people worldwide are experiencing a totally different reality to those who fit with more mainstream patterns of childhood This has substantial implications for their sociophysical environmental experience and our understanding of their physical environmental needs The aim of this book is to draw attention to these alternate realities for a number of these groups of children and young people highlighting the unique and different considerations associated with their particular circumstances in each instance and identifying the repercussions for their physical environmental needs Ultimately this book creates an evidence based discussion which can be used by designers planners and policy makers and those delivering services and programs to children and young people as a basis to make informed decisions on how to work with the groups of children and young people in our book for better environmental provision

Public Spaces, Private Lives Henry A. Giroux, 2003 While many of the essays in this book were written before 9 11 they point to a number of important issues such as the commercialization of public life the stepped up militarization racial profiling and the threat to basic civil liberties that have been resurrected since the terrorist attacks Public Spaces Private Lives serves to legitimate the claim that there is much in America that has not changed since 9 11 Rather than a dramatic change what we are witnessing is an intensification and acceleration of the contradictions that threatened American democracy before the tragic events of 9 11 Hence Public Spaces Private Lives offers a context for both understanding and critically engaging the combined threats posed by the increase in domestic militarization and a neoliberal ideology that substitutes market values for those democratic values that are crucial to rethinking what a vibrant democracy would look like in the aftermath of September 11th

Adult Supervision Required Markella B. Rutherford, 2011-08-03 Adult Supervision Required considers the contradictory ways in which contemporary American culture has imagined individual autonomy for parents and children In many ways today s parents and children have more freedom than ever before There is widespread respect for children s autonomy as distinct individuals and a broad range of parenting styles are flourishing Yet it may also be fair to say that there is an unprecedented fear of children s and parents freedom Dread about Amber Alerts and stranger danger have put an end to the unsupervised outdoor play enjoyed by earlier generations of suburban kids Similarly fear of bad parenting has not only given rise to a cottage industry of advice books for anxious parents but has also granted state agencies greater power to police the family Using popular parenting advice literature as a springboard for a broader sociological analysis of the American family Markella B Rutherford explores how our increasingly psychological conception of the family might be jeopardizing our appreciation for parents and children s public lives and civil liberties

Heider, Mary Renck Jalongo, 2014-12-05 This edited book presents the most recent theory research and practice on information and technology literacy as it relates to the education of young children Because computers have made it so easy to disseminate information the amount of available information has grown at an exponential rate making it impossible for educators to prepare students for the future without teaching them how to be effective information managers and technology users Although much has been written about information literacy and technology literacy in secondary education there is very little published research about these literacies in early childhood education Recently the National Association for the Education of Young Children and the Fred Rogers Center for Early Learning and Children's Media at Saint Vincent College published a position statement on using technology and interactive media as tools in early childhood programs This statement recommends more research to better understand how young children use and learn with technology and interactive media and also to better understand any short and long term effects Many assume that today's young children are digital natives with a great understanding of technology However children may know how to operate digital technology but be unaware of its dangers or its value to extend their abilities This book argues that information and technology literacy include more than just familiarity with the digital environment They include using technology safely and ethically to demonstrate creativity and innovation to communicate and collaborate to conduct research and use information and to think critically solve problems and make decisions
