Pueblo Indians of New Mexico Paul R. Nickens, Kathleen Nickens, 2008 Beginning about 1900 tourism greatly increased in the American Southwest chiefly a response to the combined promotional efforts of the Santa Fe Railway and the Fred Harvey Company Postcard images of Southwestern Native Americans in particular became a mainstay of a widespread advertising campaign to promote the region to potential travelers Postcards also quickly became popular with visitors as collectibles and for expedient communications with friends and family back home In New Mexico hundreds of published images portrayed the beauty of the Pueblo villages as well as views of economic and domestic activities arts and crafts and religious aspects of the various Pueblo communities in the northern part of the state

Forgotten Tribes Mark Edwin Miller,2004-12-01 First book length overview of the Federal Acknowledgment Process enacted in 1978 the legal mechanism whereby native groups achieve official recognition of tribal status

Silko Brewster E. Fitz,2005-07-30 Leslie Marmon Silko a Laguna Pueblo Native American was raised in a culture with a strong oral tradition She also grew up in a household where books were cherished and reading at the dinner table was not deemed rude but instead was encouraged In his examination of Silko s literature the author explores the complex dynamic between the spoken story and the written word revealing how it carries over from Silko s upbringing and plays out in her writings Focusing on critical essays by and interviews with Silko the author argues that Silko s storytelling is informed not so much by oral Laguna culture as by the Marmon family tradition in which writing was internalized long before her birth In Silko s writings this conflicted desire between the oral and the written evolves into a yearning for a paradoxical written orality that would conceivably function as a perfect nonmediated language The critical focus on orality in Native literature has kept the equally important tradition of Native writing from being honored By offering close readings of stories from Storyteller and Ceremony as well as passages from Almanac of the Dead and Gardens in the Dunes the author shows how

Silko weaves the oral and the written the spirit and the flesh into a new vision of Pueblo culture As he asserts Silko s written word rather than obscuring or destroying her culture s oral tradition serves instead to sharpen it Native American Writers Steven Otfinoski,2010 Summarizes analyzes and explores the themes of the major works of notable Native American authors and presents short biographies about them Authorized Heritage Robert Coutts,2021-03-19 Authorized Heritage analyses the history of commemoration at heritage sites across western Canada Using extensive research from predominantly government records it argues that heritage narratives are almost always based on national messages that commonly reflect colonial perceptions of the past Yet many of the places that commemorate Indigenous fur trade and settler histories are contested spaces places such as Batoche Seven Oaks and Upper Fort Garry being the most obvious At these heritage sites Indigenous views of history confront the conventions of settler colonial pasts and represent the fluid cultural perspectives that should define the shifting ground of heritage space Robert Coutts brings his many years of experience as a public historian to this detailed examination of heritage sites across the prairies He shows how the process of commemoration often reflects social and cultural perspectives that privilege a conventional and conservative national narrative He also examines how class gender and sexuality often remain apart from the heritage discourse Most notably Authorized Heritage examines how governments became the mediators of what is heritage and just as significantly what is not New Mexico Magazine ,1963 Saints & Seasons Nasario García,Ana Pacheco,Richard McCord,2005
