Global Logistics and Supply Chain Management John Mangan, Chandra Lalwani, Tim Butcher, 2008-06-10 Written by two highly experienced authors this new text provides a concise global approach to logistics and supply chain management Featuring both a practical element enabling the reader to do logistics select carriers identify routes structure warehouses etc and a strategic element understand the role of logistics and supply chain management in the wider business context the book also uses a good range of international case material to illustrate key concepts and extend learning Reaching the Bar Robin Sax, 2009-03-10 Women account for 30% of the 1 14 million attorneys currently practicing in the U S and in 2007 48% of all juris doctor degrees were awarded to women Despite the growing appearance of women at the bar the law is still a profession dominated by older white men While some of the challenges an aspiring lawyer faces are the same regardless of gender other issues are particular hurdles for woman attorneys Reaching the Bar provides the perspectives of women lawyers to their peers and to women just getting started in their legal careers From their first torts class to their final case studies women at law have to make choices about what specialty degrees to pursue whether or when to have children and how they are going to respond to sexism in the workplace and the courtroom These books provide a forum for women at all levels to describe and examine those choices Reaching the Bar features stories from each stage of a lawyer s career beginning with the law school students and clerks through the corporate stages from junior associate to senior partner then on to late stage careers like judges or professors Reaching the Bar blends inspirational funny and dramatic stories with the constant theme of seasoned women looking back at their experiences and sharing what they ve learned A Thrice-Told Tale Margery Wolf, 1992-04 A Thrice Told Tale is one ethnographer s imaginative and powerful response to the methodological issues raised by feminist and postmodernist critics of traditional ethnography The author a feminist anthropologist uses three texts developed out of her research in Taiwan a piece of fiction anthropological fieldnotes and a social science article to explore some of these criticisms Each text takes a different perspective is written in a different style and has different outcomes yet all three involve the same fascinating set of events A young mother began to behave in a decidedly aberrant perhaps suicidal manner and opinion in her village was sharply divided over the reason Was she becoming a shaman possessed by a god Was she deranged in need of physical restraint drugs and hospitalization Or was she being cynically manipulated by her never do well husband to elicit sympathy and money from her neighbors In the end the woman was taken away from the area to her mother's house For some villagers this settled the matter for others the debate over her behavior was probably never truly resolved The first text is a short story written shortly after the incident which occurred almost thirty years ago the second text is a copy of the fieldnotes collected about the events covered in the short story the third text is an article published in 1990 in American Ethnologist that analyzes the incident from the author's current perspective Following each text is a Commentary in which the author discusses such topics as experimental ethnography polyvocality authorial presence and control reflexivity and some of the differences between fiction and ethnography The three texts are framed by two chapters in which the author discusses the general problems posed by feminist and postmodernist critics of ethnography and presents her personal exploration of these issues in an argument that is strongly self-reflexive and theoretically rigorous She considers some feminist concerns over colonial research methods and takes issues with the insistence of some feminists that the topics of ethnographic research be set by those who are studied The book concludes with a plea for ethnographic responsibility based on a less academic and more practical perspective
