Right and Turtles Can Fly:

The History of Genocide in Cinema Jonathan Friedman, William Hewitt, 2016-10-27 The organization Genocide Watch estimates that 100 million civilians around the globe have lost their lives as a result of genocide in only the past sixty years. Over the same period the visual arts in the form of documentary footage has aided international efforts to document genocide and prosecute those responsible but this book argues that fictional representation occupies an equally important and problematic place in the process of shaping minds on the subject. Edited by two of the leading experts in the field, The History of Genocide in Cinema analyzes fictional and semi-fictional portrayals of genocide focusing on, amongst others, the repression of indigenous populations in Australia, the genocide of Native Americans in the 19th century, the Herero genocide in Africa, the Holocaust, Stalin's policy of starvation in Ukraine, the Nazi Holocaust, Nanking, and Darfur. Comprehensive and unique in its focus on fiction films as opposed to documentaries, The History of Genocide in Cinema is an essential resource for students and researchers in the fields of cultural history, Holocaust studies, and the history of film.

Children and Violence Bina D'Costa, 2016-10-04 Explores the conceptualisation of childhood in South Asia and comments on the shift from welfare to the protection of children's rights in the region.

No Place for a War Baby Donna Seto, 2016-05-06 Donna Seto investigates why children born of wartime sexual violence are rarely included in post-conflict processes of reconciliation and recovery. The focus on children born of wartime sexual violence questions the framework of understanding war and recognizes that certain individuals are often forgotten or neglected. This book considers how children are neglected sites for the reproduction of global norms. It approaches this topic through an interdisciplinary perspective that questions how silence surrounding the issue of wartime sexual violence has prevented justice for children born of war from being achieved. In considering this, Seto examines how the theories and practices of mainstream International Relations (IR) can silence the experiences of war rape survivors and children born of wartime sexual violence and explores the theoretical frameworks within IR and the institutional structures that uphold protection regimes for children and women.

Forgetting Children Born of War Charli Carpenter, 2010-05-31 Sexual violence and exploitation occur in many conflict zones and the children born of such acts face discrimination, stigma, and infanticide. Yet the massive transnational network of organizations working to protect war-affected children has for two decades remained curiously silent on the needs of this vulnerable population. Focusing specifically on the case of Bosnia and Herzegovina, Charli Carpenter questions the framing of atrocity by human rights organizations and the limitations these narratives impose on their response. She finds that human rights groups set their agendas according to certain grievances: the claims of female rape victims or the complaints of aggrieved minorities, for example, and that these concerns can overshadow the needs of others. Incorporating her research into a host of other conflict zones, Carpenter shows that the social construction of rights claims is contingent upon the social construction of wrongs. According to Carpenter, this pathology prevents the full protection of children born of war.

Ancestral Mindset John Daniel,2025-01-14 Ancestral Mindset by thought leader and human relations expert John Daniel offers deep insight into what motivates us and drives our actions and how we can use that information to better lead influence and collaborate at work and home If human evolutionary history were compressed into a single calendar year with our earliest ancestor arriving on January 1 our transition from hunter gatherers wouldn t occur until the end of December We were hunter gatherers for well over 90 percent of our collective history The key to understanding us is understanding the hunter gatherer neurocircuitry that crafted our human nature In Ancestral Mindset John Daniel traces the development of the human brain from the birth of our species and applies his insights to teach leadership and teamwork from an evolutionary neurological perspective Why is your fight or flight instinct on a hair trigger when the boss calls you in Why does receiving advice from a colleague induce a threat state Why does it feel so disproportionately risky to disagree with the team The answers to those questions lie in our collective past As a heart transplant recipient with decades of executive HR experience Daniel knows a thing or two about risk survival and human behavior from the operating room to the board room His unique personal story and voracious appetite for research have led to a text as potentially transformative as it is bursting with information If you are interested in upping your leadership game improving your relationships or just becoming more persuasive Ancestral Mindset will help you adapt from the brain down Access your inner hunter gatherer and transform your take on what motivates elevates and convinces It will make you a better leader a better employee and a better Homo sapiens to those around you Right... and Turtles Can Fly! Debi Ogg,2003-11 In the times in which we are living and in spite of the increased intelligence of humankind the false teachings and perversions of the word that Jesus and the Apostles warned about and the Prophets of old battled against have reared their ugly heads to a phenomenal degree erasing the boundaries on God's playing field throwing out God's laws and wringing His values from the fabric of humanity This book is written for Americans and the ordinary atheist walking wounded suffering the consequences of false teachings from both sides of the pulpit The good news is to simply remember that God loves you and that's all you need Redback Lindy Cameron, 2018-09-01 Commander Bryn Gideon and the crack Australian Redback Retrieval Team rescue hostages from Pacific island rebels American journalist Scott Dreher researching computer war game training uncovers links between Western government agencies and known terrorist groups Meanwhile ritual killings in London and Tokyo a bomb on a European train an assassination on an Australian beach and an attack on a US army base have half the world on high alert The question is are these incidents the work of isolated opportunistic terrorists or part of something more sinister Gideon's Redbacks join the race to expose the ultimate conspiracy of a truly evil force one that plays both sides of the terror divide against each other Water Rights and the Environment in the United States John R. Burch Jr., 2015-07-20 This sweeping study traces the development of water policy in the United States from the 19th century to the present day exploring the role of legislation in appropriating access to water to the American people Three factors influence the development of water policy and politics in the United States the availability of water the manner in which people use the commodity to its maximum economic benefit and governmental control This book is a one stop resource for understanding the scope of water issues in America from governing doctrine and legislation to Native American water rights to water protection and pollution and to the mitigation of natural and manmade disasters Distinguished author and noted scholar John R Burch Jr reviews the conflicts among state federal and international agencies in dealing with water supply and points to competing legal rulings and laws as undermining the creation of a cohesive policy for all Through an analysis of key documents Burch examines the recent calamities befalling the American water system including droughts oil spills and natural disasters and considers the future of water distribution to the American people Organized into six parts sections include doctrines and rights waters of the West border regions water management and flood control environmental issues and water supply and safety

Contemporary Debates in Human Rights and Literature Elvan Karaman Mez, Ferma Lekesizalin, 2025-03-12 This book offers fresh perspectives on the literary perceptions of human rights as a discursive field set of norms and political goal while providing cutting edge readings of specific literary works Each chapter engages with current debates about human rights and literature addressing complex questions about how human rights are portrayed in diverse contexts such as identity ethnicity nationality sex religion and language By examining the interplay between literary discourse and the political legal and cultural dimensions of human rights the book expands the boundaries of this field It appeals to both researchers and general readers by highlighting human rights as a universal concern Newsweek, 2005 Alfred's Tale Jack

Dawson,2013-12-13 This first book in the House at Bent Creek Series captures a summer in the life of a turtle named Alfred who lives with his family in a pond behind a country home belonging to a sweet elderly woman When the woman s grandson comes to visit Alfred s otherwise peaceful life is turned upside down and he must use all his courage skill and wit to survive the encounter This humorous and heart warming tale is an ideal bedtime storybook that is sure to leave children wanting just one more chapter eager to find out what will happen next Along the way they may learn a few things about turtles and more importantly about friendship family and how to treat others Nature's Flyers David E.
