Rigour And Complexity In Educational Research:

Rigour and Complexity in Educational Research Joe L. Kincheloe, Kathleen S. Berry, 2004 Aimed at fourth year undergraduates masters and PhD students in education this title presents a new examination of scientific rigour and evidence based research in education Rigour and Complexity in Educational Research Kincheloe, 2004 What does it mean to engage in rigorous research What does a researcher need to know to produce such research What is specifically involved in multiple method bricolage research In an era where talk abounds about scientific rigour and evidence based research in education this groundbreaking book presents a new and compelling examination of these concepts Arguing that much of what is promoted as rigorous inquiry is reductionistic and ultimately misleading the authors present an alternative to such approaches to educational inquiry Rigour and Complexity in Educational Research provides readers with an understanding of the complexities of educational research and of the interrelationships between multiple methods theoretical perspectives philosophical orientations social positionalities modes of power and narrative strategies The authors use the French term bricolage to signify the use of a variety of research tools and ways of seeing The book then constructs a new conception of rigour in research that is culturally sensitive and socially transformative and shows researchers how to use multiple methods After developing this approach the authors devise a practical process of initiating researchers into the bricolage and provide concrete examples and guidelines for using this innovative approach This book is important reading for academics researchers and students undertaking education and social science courses

Ubuntu and Buddhism in Higher Education David Robinson-Morris, 2018-10-26 Ubuntu and Buddhism in Higher Education theorizes the equal privileging of ontology and epistemology towards a balanced focus on being becoming and knowledge acquisition within the field of higher education In response to the shift in higher education s aims and purposes beginning in the latter half of the 20th century this book reconsiders higher education and Western subjectivity through southern African Ubuntu and Eastern Buddhist onto epistemologies By mapping these other than West ontological viewpoints onto the discourse surrounding higher education this volume presents a vision of colleges and universities as transformational institutions promoting our shared connection to the human and non human world and deepens our understanding of what it means to be a human being

Knowing with New Media Lena Redman, 2018-11-21 This cutting edge book considers how advances in technologies and new media have transformed our perception of education and focuses on the impact of the privatisation of digital tools as a mean of knowledge production Arguing that education needs to adapt to the modern learner the book s unique approach is based on a disassociation with the deeply ingrained attitude with which people have traditionally viewed education learning the existing symbolic systems of certain disciplines and then expressing themselves strictly within the operational modes of these systems The ways of knowledge production exploring recording representing making meaning of and sharing human experiences have been fundamentally transformed through the infusion of digital technologies into all aspects of human activity allowing learners to engage with their immediate natural social and cultural environments by capitalising on their individual abilities and interests This book proposes a new approach to teaching and learning termed cinematic bricolage which involves generating knowledge from heterogeneous resources in a do it yourself manner while making meaning through multimodal representations It shows how cinematic bricolage reconnects ways of knowing with ways of being empowering the individual with a sense of personal identity and responsibility helping to shape more aware social citizens Cracking Facebook Maria Leena Korpijaakko, 2015-10-30 This book presents a Facebook study on members of the Cusp Generation or those born before the great digital divide of 1995 This delineation allows for a discussion on the possible socio cultural implications of Facebook use for people of all ages Members of the Cusp Generation are in a unique position as part digital natives to easily acquire and use new media technologies while being more critically aware of the personal social and cultural effects that may arise from them thanks to having some memory of the pre digital era Drawing on identity theories rooted in critical theory and cultural studies the author shows that there are potential constrictions on people s agency in their Facebook use caused by consumer discourse Facebook s hyperreal nature and structure psychological predispositions and the potential for avatar attachment In raising concerns over the impacts of technology based communication this book explores how the medium of Facebook extends and exacerbates processes of offline social reproduction and discusses how the positive social and political aspects of Facebook can be enhanced The findings contribute to academic discussions in the fields of cultural studies and Education and can be applied to the development of critical media literacy for curriculum and pedagogy Understanding Narrative Inquiry Jeong-Hee Kim, 2015-03-03 This comprehensive thought provoking introduction to narrative inquiry in the social and human sciences guides readers through the entire narrative inquiry process from locating narrative inquiry in the interdisciplinary context through the philosophical and theoretical underpinnings to narrative research design data collection excavating stories data analysis and interpretation and theorizing narrative meaning Six extracts from exemplary studies together with questions for discussion are provided to show how to put theory into practice Rich in stories from the author s own research endeavors and incorporating chapter opening vignettes that illustrate a graduate student s research dilemma the book not only accompanies readers through the complex process of narrative inquiry with ample examples but also helps raise their consciousness about what it means to be a qualitative researcher and a narrative inquirer in particular This book has received the 2017 Outstanding Publication Award from the Narrative Research Special Interest Group SIG of the American Educational Research Association AERA The award honors research based texts dedicated to advancing the educational process through research or scholarly inquiry Key Works in Critical Pedagogy kecia hayes, Shirley R. Steinberg, Kenneth Tobin, 2011-11-22 Key Works in Critical Pedagogy Joe L Kincheloe comprises sixteen papers written within a twenty year period in which Kincheloe inspired legions of educators with his incisive analyses of education Kincheloe was a prolific thinker and writer who produced an enormous number of books and chapters and journal articles In a career cut short by his untimely death Kincheloe led the way with an approach to research and pedagogy that incorporated multiperspectival approaches that examined a wide range of topics including schooling cultural studies research bricolage kinderculture Christotainment and capitalism In these works Kincheloe used accessible elegantly produced language to capture his emotional yet scholarly ways of engaging with the world He was a champion of the disenfranchised and his writing consistently examined social life from the perspective of participants who were often treated harshly because of their marginalization. The articles in this book were selected to encompass Kincheloe's impressive scholarly career and to draw attention to the necessity for educators to take a critical stance with respect to the enactment of education to reproduce disadvantage. Among the theoretical frameworks included in the works are critical pedagogy, research hermeneutics, phenomenology, cultural studies, and post-formal thought. Key Works in Critical Pedagogy is a comprehensive introduction to the scholarly contributions of one of the foremost educational researchers of our time. The selected chapters and associated scholarly review essays constitute a reference resource for researchers, educators, students of education, and all of those with an interest in adopting a deeper view of ways in which policies and practices shape education and social life to produce privilege and disadvantage simultaneously in ways that are often hidden from view. The critical perspective that permeates these works constitutes ways of thinking and being in the world that others can adopt as a framework for analyzing their engagement in education as researchers, teachers, educators, policymakers, students, parents of students, and members of the community at large. Responding to each of Kincheloe's chapters is a scholar-teacher who is intimately familiar with the works, theories, and epistemologies of this unique scholar.

An Introduction to Using Mapping Sentences* Paul M. W.

Hackett, Katelyn Lustig, 2021-08-24 This book acts as an introductory guide to understanding and using the mapping sentence as a tool in social science and humanities research. The book fills the need for a concise text that simply instructs how and when to use a mapping sentence and provides practical examples. Mapping sentences are a major research component and tool of facet theory. The book begins by covering the background to mapping sentence, including the philosophy and theory underpinning it. The following chapter discusses what mapping sentence is, what different kinds of mapping sentences exist, and knowing when and which to use it in a given situation. The book then moves into describing how to write a mapping sentence and how to analyse the information gained from mapping sentence research. It ends with a consideration of the future developments of mapping sentences and their applications across the social sciences and humanities, including in particular psychology, marketing, behavioural biology, art, and health.

Doing Educational Research in Rural Settings* Simone

White, Michael Corbett, 2014-04-24 Doing Educational Research in Rural Settings is a much needed guide for educational researchers whose research interests are located outside metropolitan areas in places that are generically considered to be rural.
