History of California. 1884-90 Hubert Howe Bancroft, 1886 History of California Hubert Howe Bancroft, 1886 The Century Dictionary and Cyclopaedia: The Century cyclopedia of names, ed. by B.E. Smith, 1904 History, Abolition, and the Ever-Present Now in Antebellum American Writing Jeffrey Insko, 2018-12-06 History and the Ever Present Now in Antebellum American Writing examines the meaning and possibilities of the present and its relationship to history and historicity in a number of literary texts specifically the writings of several figures in antebellum US literary history some but not all of whom associated with the period's romantic movement Focusing on nineteenth century writers who were impatient for social change like those advocating for the immediate emancipation of slaves as opposed to those planning for a gradual end to slavery the book recovers some of the political force of romanticism Through close readings of texts by Washington Irving John Neal Catharine Sedgwick Frederick Douglass Ralph Waldo Emerson and Herman Melville the book argues that these writers practiced forms of literary historiography that treat the past as neither a reflection of present interests nor as an irretrievably distant other but as a complex and open ended interaction between the two In place of a fixed and linear past these writers imagine history as an experience rooted in a fluid dynamic and ever changing present The political philosophical and aesthetic disposition Insko calls romantic presentism insists upon the present as the fundamental sphere of human action and experience and hence of ethics and democratic possibility

Wherefrom Does History Emerge? Tilo Schabert, John von Heyking, 2020-10-26 Powers of chaos accompany any order of the human world being the force against which this order is set Human experience of history is two fold There is history ruled by chaos and history ruled by order History occurs in a continuous flow of both histories The dialectics of life unto nothingness creation struggles for order order achieved is unceasingly actual In exploring it within a wide interdisciplinary and transcultural range this book reaches beyond a conventional philosophy of history It deals with the chaotic as well as the cosmic part of the human historical experience It stages this drama through the tales that religious mythical literary philosophical folkloristic and historiographical sources tell and which are retold and interpreted here From early on humans wished to know where why and wherefore all started and took place Couldn't the dialectics between chaos and order be meaningful Couldn't they assume a productive role as to the world's precarious event Power strife guilt divine grace and revelation literary symbolization as well as storytelling are discussed in this book Philosophy political theory theology religious studies and literary studies will greatly benefit from its width and density
