Rise Of Conservation In South Africa Settlers Livestock And The Environment 1770 195:

The Rise of Conservation in South Africa William Beinart, 2008-05-29 A major contribution to the environmental history of settler societies William Beinart's innovative study analyses the development of conservationist ideas over the long term in South Africa examining them as a response to the rapid transformation of natural pastures brought about as the Cape became a major exporter of wool

Integrating Indigenous and Scientific Knowledge for Sustainable Food Systems in Africa Saa Dittoh, Anna Bon, Hans Akkermans, 2025-04-25 This open access book presents a novel approach to food security research SDG 2 Zero Hunger by integrating indigenous and scientific knowledge Through extensive field based research in Burkina Faso Ghana Kenya Mali and South Africa it explores the impact of merging traditional practices and local knowledge with scientific methods Through field studies the book shows the value of local knowledge and community led innovations in combating hunger achieving food security and enhancing nutrition sustainably and food sovereignty Drawing on decades of research in rural Africa the authors introduce the Plug In Principle a theory for integrating indigenous and modern knowledge systems to foster sustainable agricultural practices and enriched food ecosystems in Africa The Plug In Principle advocates that advancements in science and technology should enhance rather than replace existing indigenous knowledge This principle emerged from the failures of many development interventions where attempts at replacement often led to challenges and failures In agriculture for instance interventions in mechanization soil amendments seed and breed improvements and extension services have seldom succeeded due to a lack of integration with existing practices The Plug In Principle emphasizes that effective knowledge integration hinges on a deep understanding and appreciation of prevailing systems By designing interventions that seamlessly plug in to existing technologies we can ensure the co creation of effective solutions to the challenges we face This book is a testament to the potential of collaborative innovation in fostering sustainable development Development workers policymakers researchers students and donor agencies in agriculture and other development areas will find this volume invaluable Additionally scholars focused on decolonization and indigenous knowledge in the Global South will uncover insightful case studies and analyses

Namibia's Red Line G. Miescher, 2012-06-18 Based on archival sources and oral history this book reconstructs a border building process in Namibia that spanned more than sixty years The process commenced with the establishment of a temporary veterinary defence line against rinderpest by the German colonial authorities in the late nineteenth century and ended with the construction of a continuous two metre high fence by the South African colonial government sixty years later This 1250 kilometre fence divides northern from central Namibia even today The book combines a macro and a micro perspective and differentiates between cartographic and physical reality The analysis explores both the colonial state's agency with regard to veterinary and settlement policies and the strategies of Africans and Europeans living close to the border The analysis also includes the varying perceptions of individuals and populations who lived further north and south of the border and describes their experiences crossing the border as migrant workers African traders European settlers and colonial officials The Red Line s history is understood as a gradual process of segregating livestock and people and of constructing dichotomies of modern and traditional healthy and sick European and African Our Gigantic Zoo Thomas M. Lekan,2020 Our Gigantic Zoo tells the story of Bernhard Grzimek the most important European wildlife conservationist and his role in creating a permanent sanctuary for innocent animals in Serengeti National Park The Nature of Heritage Lynn Meskell,2011-08-26 The Nature of Heritage The New South Africa is unique in revealing the conflicts inherent in preserving both natural and cultural heritage by examining the archaeological ethnographic and economic evidence of a nation s attempts to master its past and its future Provides a classic example of how nations attempt to overcome a negative heritage through past mastering of their histories Evaluates the continuing dominance of nature and conservation over concerns for cultural heritage Employs ethnographic and archaeological methodologies to reveal how the past is processed into a new national heritage Identifies heritage as therapy exemplified in the strategy for repairing legacies of racial and ethnic difference in post apartheid South Africa Highlights the role of archaeological heritage sites national parks and protected areas in economic development and social empowerment Explores how nature trumps culture and the global implications of the new configurations of heritage

In the Shadow of Policy Paul Hebinck,Ben Cousins,Henning de Klerk,Jonathan Denison,Ntombekhaya Faku,Derick Fay,Klara Jacobson,Petunia Khutswane,Rosalie Kingwill,Karin Kleinbooi,Zamile Madyibi,Francois Marais,Modise Moseki,Malebogo Phetlhu,Robert Ross,Dik Roth,Limpho Taoana,Harriët Tienstra,Wim van Averbek, Yves van Leynseele,2013-10-01 Notions of land and agrarian reform are now well entrenched in post apartheid South Africa But what this reform actually means for everyday life is not clearly understood nor the way it will impact on the political economy In the Shadow of Policy explores the interface between the policy of land and agrarian reform and its implementation and between the decisions of policy experts and actual livelihood experiences in the fields and homesteads of land reform projects Starting with an overview of the socio historical context in which land and agrarian reform policy has evolved in South Africa the volume presents empirical case studies of land reform projects in the Northern Western and Eastern Cape provinces These draw on multiple voices from various sectors and provide a rich source of material and critical reflections to inform future policy and research agendas In the Shadow of Policy will be a key reference tool for those working in the area of development studies and land policy and for civil society groups and NGOs involved in land restitution Naturalizing Africa Cajetan Iheka,2018 This book analyzes how African literary texts have engaged with pressing ecological problems in Africa It is a multi disciplinary text for both researchers and scholars of African Studies the environment and postcolonial literature The Extraordinary Khotso Felicity Wood,Michael Lewis,2007 Unraveling the mysteries surrounding a South African medicine man while recognizing a remarkable figure who has been left out of the history books this biography explores the life of Khotso Sethundsa an enigmatic herbalist who created an eccentric kingdom around himself and was rumored to control a large fortune Legend held that he had spiritual contact with Paul Kruger and some people claimed that leading Afrikaner nationalist politicians came to him for potions that bestowed sexual and political powers He also was thought to have an occult spiritual pact with a mermaid and even after his death many thought he still exerted a dangerous magic Featuring interviews with people who knew him as well as an analysis of the traditional folklore that may have crept into these stories this book presents the real Khotso Sethundsa who despite his lack of occult powers traveled in high circles all the same

Blood, Sweat and Earth Tjil Vanneste, 2021-09-16 A sweeping history of our enduring passion for diamonds and the exploitative industry that fuels it Blood Sweat and Earth is a hard hitting historical exposé of the diamond industry focusing on the exploitation of workers and the environment the monopolization of uncut diamonds and how little this has changed over time It describes the use of forced labor and political oppression by Indian sultans Portuguese colonizers in Brazil and Western industrialists in many parts of Africa as well as the hoarding of diamonds to maintain high prices from the English East India Company to De Beers While recent discoveries of diamond deposits in Siberia Canada and Australia have brought an end to monopolization the book shows that advances in the production of synthetic diamonds have not yet been able to eradicate the exploitation caused by the world's unquenchable thirst for sparkle

The Promise of Planning Philip Harrison, Alison Todes, 2024-07-10 The Promise of Planning explores the experience of planning internationally since the global financial crisis focusing on South Africa The book is a response to a decade plus in which state led planning has re-emerged as a putative means for achieving developmental goals as indicated in global initiatives such as the New Urban Agenda and where planning in South Africa has consolidated in terms of its legal and policy basis However the return of planning is happening in an inauspicious context with economic fragilities technological shifts political populism institutional complexities and more threatening to upturn the new promise of planning The book provides a careful analytical account of planning in South Africa and how and why its promises have been difficult to achieve Building on the authors previous book Planning and Transformation the book sheds light on planning as an increasingly complex and diverse governmental practice within a perpetually changing world It can be used as a resource for planners who must make good on the new promise of planning while navigating the risks and threats of the contemporary world as well as students and faculty interested in international planning debates and the South African case

In Pursuit of Healthy Environments Esa Ruuskanen, Heini Hakosalo, 2020-11-12 In Pursuit of Healthy Environments brings temporal depth to a highly topical issue the interaction between health and the environment By means of a rich set of historical case studies from Americas to Europe and from the tropics to the Arctic the volume demonstrates that the concern for creating and finding healthy environments is not a new one shows how the link between the environment and health has been perceived at different times and in different cultures and discusses the practical implications of these conceptualizations The book written by scholars from architecture cultural anthropology history Indigenous Studies media studies and sociology will be of interest to a reader interested in the historical roots of present health related environmental issues It discusses the spatiality and materiality of the conceptions of health and the practices of nurture in colonial and post colonial environments and shows how greatly indigenous and colonial mindsets have differed during the last 300 years It also investigates how certain environments have become labelled as healthy and life preserving while others stigmatized by death and disease and how fluctuating these notions can be Finally it analyses the materialities and immaterialities as well as the transgenerational and transboundary characters of environmental and medical knowledge

Nature Conservation in Southern Africa, 2018-11-26 Nature conservation in southern Africa has always been characterised by an interplay between Capital specific understandings of Morality and forms of Militarism that are all dependent upon the shared subservience and marginalization of animals and certain groups of people in society Although the subjectivity of people has been rendered visible in earlier publications on histories of conservation in southern Africa the subjectivity of animals is hardly ever seriously considered or explicitly dealt with In this edited volume the subjectivity and sentience of animals is explicitly included The contributors argue that the shared human and animal marginalisation and agency in nature conservation in southern Africa and beyond could and should be further explored under the label of sentient conservation Contributors are Malcolm Draper Vupenyu Dzingirai Jan Bart Gewald Michael Glover Paul Hebinck Tariro Kamuti Lindiwe Mangwanya Albert Manhamo Dhoya Snijders Marja Spierenburg Sandra Swart Harry Wels

Conserved Spaces, Ancestral Places Teresa Connor, 2014 Combining a rich ethnography with social and political history this book examines 300 years of social conflict over land in South Africa s frontier like Sundays River Valley the scene of multiple displacements and the location of the extended Addo Elephant National Park Conserved Spaces Ancestral Places tells how the historical relationships among farm workers owners and conservationists have produced a dynamic and uniquely hybrid zone The book argues that close ties exist between farming and wildlife conservation and shows how local inhabitants challenge the boundaries created by the narrative of wildlife ecology It asks Have residents around the new conservation zones in South Africa really benefitted from models of co management The subtle and deep reading of the agrarian and environmental history of the Sundays River Valley carries important implications for policy and practice related to conservation of protected areas in South Africa and relates it to international thought The book will appeal to readers interested in environmental and agrarian history political ecology displacement as well as space place and identity a carefully researched work that crosses the boundaries between agrarian studies and political ecology and makes unique contributions to the ethnography of the Eastern Cape and southern Africa more broadly It problematizes notions of displacement particularly in relation to protected areas Derick Fay Associate Professor of Anthropology UC Riverside Subject African Studies Ethnography Social History Conservation Environmental Studies Development Studies Agricultural Studies
