Rise Of Bronze Age Society Travels Transmissions And Transformations:

The Rise of Bronze Age Society Kristian Kristiansen, Thomas B. Larsson, 2005-12-08 This 2005 book presents a significant interpretation of the social transformation in Bronze Age Europe

The rise of Bronze Age society Kristian Kristiansen, 2005

Warfare in Bronze Age Society Christian Horn, Kristian Kristiansen, 2018-04-26 Warfare in Bronze Age Society takes a fresh look at warfare and its role in reshaping Bronze Age society The Bronze Age represents the global emergence of a militarized society with a martial culture materialized in a package of new efficient weapons that remained in use for millennia to come Warfare became institutionalized and professionalized during the Bronze Age and a new class of warriors made their appearance Evidence for this development is reflected in the ostentatious display of weapons in burials and hoards and in iconography from rock art to palace frescoes These new manifestations of martial culture constructed the warrior as a Hero and warfare as Heroic The case studies written by an international team of scholars discuss these and other new aspects of Bronze Age warfare Moreover the essays show that warriors also facilitated mobility and innovation as new weapons would have quickly spread from the Mediterranean to northern Europe

Continental Connections Hugo Anderson-Whymark, Duncan Garrow, Fraser Sturt, 2015-02-26 The prehistories of Britain and Ireland are inescapably entwined with continental European narratives The central aim here is to explore cross channel relationships throughout later prehistory investigating the archaeological links material social cultural between the areas we now call Britain and Ireland and continental Europe from the Mesolithic through to the end of the Iron Age Since the separation from the European mainland of Ireland c 16 000 BC and Britain c 6000 BC their island nature has been seen as central to many aspects of life within them helping to define their senses of identity and forming a crucial part of their neighbourly relationship with continental Europe and with each other However it is important to remember that the surrounding seaways have often served to connect as well as to separate these islands from the continent In approaching the subject of continental connections in the long term and by bringing a variety of different archaeological perspectives associated with different periods to bear on it this volume provides a new a new synthesis of the ebbs and flows of the cross channel relationship over the course of 15 000 years of later prehistory enabling fresh understandings and new insights to emerge about the intimately linked trajectories of change in both regions

The Southeast Asia Connection Sing C. Chew, 2018-03-28 The contribution of Southeast Asia to the world economy during the late prehistoric and early historic periods has not received much attention It has often been viewed as a region of peripheral entrep ts especially in the early centuries of the current era Recent archaeological evidence revealed the existence of established and productive polities in Southeast Asia in the early parts of the historic period and earlier This book recalibrates these interactions of Southeast Asia with other parts of the world economy and gives the region its due instead of treating it as little more than of marginal interest

Rethinking Migrations in Late Prehistoric Eurasia Manuel Fernández-Götz, Courtney Nimura, Philipp W. Stockhammer, Rachel

Cartwright,2022-12-22 Rethinking Migrations in Late Prehistoric Eurasia rethinks the role of migrations in late prehistoric Eurasia integrating cutting edge scientific analyses with theoretical perspectives that highlight the complexity of past population movements Wrapping and Unwrapping Material Culture Susanna Harris,Laurence Douny,2016-06-16 This innovative volume challenges contemporary views on material culture by exploring the relationship between wrapping materials and practices and the objects bodies and places that define them Using examples as diverse as baby swaddling Egyptian mummies Celtic tombs lace underwear textile clothing and contemporary African silk the dozen archaeologist and anthropologist contributors show how acts of wrapping and unwrapping are embedded in beliefs and thoughts of a particular time and place Employing methods of artifact analysis microscopy and participant observation the contributors provide a new lens on material culture and its relationship to cultural meaning Modes of Production and Archaeology Robert M. Rosenswig,Jerimy J. Cunningham,2017-05-15 This volume challenges the historical materialistic non capitalist modes that are used by archaeologists as not all that useful and instead considers how social labor is organized to transform nature into culturally refined and useful resources and how this can either maintain or change a culture Rather than describe what a society is using the theoretical framework of Marx and materialism a mode of production approach explores what a society does in a more dynamic sense The Oxford Handbook of Neolithic Europe Chris Fowler,Jan Harding,Daniela Hofmann,2015-03-26 The Neolithic a period in which the first sedentary agrarian communities were established across much of Europe has been a key topic of archaeological research for over a century However the variety of evidence across Europe the range of languages in which research is carried out and the way research traditions in different countries have developed makes it very difficult for both students and specialists to gain an overview of continent wide trends The Oxford Handbook of Neolithic Europe provides the first comprehensive geographically extensive thematic overview of the European Neolithic from Iberia to Russia and from Norway to Malta offering both a general introduction and a clear exploration of key issues and current debates surrounding evidence and interpretation Chapters written by leading experts in the field examine topics such as the movement of plants animals ideas and people including recent trends in the application of genetics and isotope analyses cultural change from the first appearance of farming to the first metal artefacts domestic architecture subsistence material culture monuments and burial and other treatments of the dead In doing so the volume also considers the history of research and sets out agendas and themes for future work in the field New Perspectives on the Bronze Age Sophie Bergerbrant,Anna Wessman,2017-04-30 This collection of articles helps to explain why the Bronze Age has come to hold such a fascination within modern archaeological research By providing new theoretical and analytical perspectives on the evidence new interpretative avenues have opened it situates the history of the Bronze Age in both a local and a global setting The Oxford Handbook of the European Bronze Age Anthony Harding,Harry Fokkens,2013-06-27 The Oxford Handbook of the European Bronze Age is a wide ranging survey of a crucial period in prehistory during which many social economic and technological changes took place Written by expert specialists in the field the book provides coverage both of the themes that characterize the period and of the specific developments that took place in the various countries of Europe After an introduction and a discussion of chronology successive chapters deal with settlement studies burial analysis hoards and hoarding monumentality rock art cosmology gender and trade as well as a series of articles on specific technologies and crafts such as transport metals glass salt textiles and weighing The second half of the book covers each country in turn From Ireland to Russia Scandinavia to Sicily every area is considered and up to date information on important recent finds is discussed in detail The book is the first to consider the whole of the European Bronze Age in both geographical and thematic terms and will be the standard book on the subject for the foreseeable future Prehistoric Warfare and Violence Andrea Dolfini, Rachel J. Crellin, Christian Horn, Marion Uckelmann, 2018-07-20 This is the first book to explore prehistoric warfare and violence by integrating qualitative research methods with quantitative scientific techniques of analysis such as paleopathology morphometry wear analysis and experimental archaeology It investigates early warfare and violence from the standpoint of four broad interdisciplinary themes skeletal markers of violence and weapon training conflict in prehistoric rock art the material culture of conflict and intergroup violence in archaeological discourse The book has a wide ranging chronological and geographic scope from early Neolithic to late Iron Age and from Western Europe to East Asia It includes world renowned sites and artefact collections such as the Tollense Valley Bronze Age battlefield Germany the UNESCO World Heritage Site at Tanum Sweden and the British Museum collection of bronze weaponry from the late Shang period China Original case studies are presented in each section by a diverse international authorship The study of warfare and violence in prehistoric and pre literate societies has been at the forefront of archaeological debate since the publication of Keeley s provocative monograph War Before Civilization Oxford 1996 The problem has been approached from a number of standpoints including anthropological and behavioural studies of interpersonal violence osteological examinations of sharp lesions and blunt force traumas wear analysis of ancient weaponry and field experiments with replica weapons and armour This research however is often confined within the boundaries of the various disciplines and specialist fields In particular a gap can often be detected between the research approaches grounded in the humanities and social sciences and those based on the archaeological sciences The consequence is that to this day the subject is dominated by a number of undemonstrated assumptions regarding the nature of warfare combat and violence in non literate societies Moreover important methodological questions remain unanswered can we securely distinguish between violence related and accidental trauma on skeletal remains To what extent can wear analysis shed light on long forgotten fighting styles Can we design meaningful combat tests based on historic martial arts And can the study of rock art unlock the social realities of prehistoric warfare By breaking the mould of entrenched subject boundaries this edited volume promotes interdisciplinary debate in the study of prehistoric warfare and violence by presenting a number of innovative approaches that integrate qualitative and quantitative methods of research and analysis Far from Equilibrium: An archaeology of energy, life and humanity Michael J. Boyd, Roger C. P. Doonan, 2021-03-03 Archaeology is in crisis Spatial turns material turns and the ontological turn have directed the discipline away from its hard won battle to find humanity in the past Meanwhile popularised science camouflaged as archaeology produces shock headlines built on ancient DNA that reduce humanity's most intriguing historical problems to two dimensional caricatures Today archaeology finds itself less able than ever to proclaim its relevance to the modern world This volume foregrounds the relevance of the scholarship of John Barrett to this crisis Twenty four writers representing three generations of archaeologists scrutinise the current turmoil in the discipline and highlight the resolutions that may be found through Barrett's analytical framework Topics include archaeology and the senses the continuing problem of the archaeological record practice discourse and agency reorienting archaeological field practice the question of different expressions of human diversity and material ecologies Understanding archaeology as both a universal and highly specific discipline case studies range from the Aegean to Orkney and encompass Anatolia Korea Romania United Kingdom and the very nature of the Universe itself This critical examination of John Barrett's contribution to archaeology is simultaneously a response to his urgent call to arms to reorient archaeology in the service of humanity Bronzization: Essays in Bronze Age Archaeology Heide W. Nørgaard, Samantha S. Reiter, 2025-02-20 A collection of state of the art articles which integrate new insights from the many advances in research on the subject into a new and up to date vision of the Bronze Age as a Europeanised or even globalised period Papers revise current understanding of bronzization and bronzification in line with a holistic view of recent scientific advances Europe before Rome T. Douglas Price, 2013-01-09 Werner Herzog's 2011 film Cave of Forgotten Dreams about the painted caves at Chauvet France brought a glimpse of Europe's extraordinary prehistory to a popular audience But paleolithic cave paintings stunning as they are form just a part of a story that begins with the arrival of the first humans to Europe 1.3 million years ago and culminates in the achievements of Greece and Rome In Europe before Rome T Douglas Price takes readers on a guided tour through dozens of the most important prehistoric sites on the continent from very recent discoveries to some of the most famous and puzzling places in the world like Chauvet Stonehenge and Knossos This volume focuses on more than 60 sites organized chronologically according to their archaeological time period and accompanied by 200 illustrations including numerous color photographs maps and drawings Our understanding of prehistoric European archaeology has been almost completely rewritten in the last 25 years with a series of major findings from virtually every time period such as tzi the Iceman the discoveries at Atapuerca and evidence of a much earlier eruption at Mt Vesuvius Many of the sites explored in the book offer the earliest European evidence we have of the typical features of human society tool making hunting cooking burial practices agriculture and warfare Introductory prologues to each chapter provide context for the wider changes in human behavior and society in the time period while the author's concluding remarks offer expert reflections on the enduring significance of these places

Tracing the evolution of human society in Europe across more than a million years Europe before Rome gives readers a vivid portrait of life for prehistoric man and woman Archaeology of Body and Thought Tomasz Gralak, 2024-03-07 This study explores what we as people can do with our bodies what we can use them for and how we can alter and understand them With analysis based on artefacts found in graves anthropomorphic images and written sources it considers the ways in which human groups from the Neolithic to the Migration Period have perceived and treated the body Flint Daggers in Prehistoric Europe Catherine J. Frieman, Berit Valentin Eriksen, 2015-12-31 For more than a century flint daggers have been among the most closely studied and most heavily published later prehistoric lithic tools It is well established that they are found across Europe and beyond and that many were widely circulated over many generations Yet few researchers have attempted to discuss the entirety of the flint dagger phenomenon The present volume brings together papers that address questions of the regional variability and socio technical complexity of flint daggers and their production It focuses on the typology chronology technology functionality and meaning of flint and other lithic daggers produced primarily in Europe but also in the Eastern Mediterranean and East Asia in prehistory The 14 papers by leading researchers provide a comprehensive overview of the state of knowledge concerning various flint dagger corpora as well as potential avenues for the development of a research agenda across national regional and disciplinary boundaries The volume originates from a session held at the 2011 meeting of the European Association of Archaeology but includes additional commissioned contributions Bringing Down the Iron Curtain Klára Šabatová, Laura Dietrich, Oliver Dietrich, Anthony Harding, Viktória Kiss, 2020-03-26 Since the fall of communism archaeological research in Central and Eastern European countries has seen a large influx of new projects and ideas fueled by bilateral contacts Europe wide circulation of scholars and access to research literature This volume is the first study which relates these issues specifically to Bronze Age Archaeology Socialising Complexity Sheila Kohring, Stephanie Wynne-Jones, 2007-11-30 Socialising Complexity introduces the concept of complexity as a tool rather than a category for understanding social formations This new take on complexity moves beyond the traditional concern with what constitutes a complex society and focuses on the complexity inherent in various social forms through the structuring principles created within each society The aims and themes of the book can thus be summarized as follows to introduce the idea of complexity as a tool which is pertinent to the understanding of all types of society rather than an exclusionary type of society in its own right to examine concepts that can enhance our interpretation of societal complexity such as heterarchy materialization and contextualization These concepts are applied at different scales and in different ways illustrating their utility in a variety of different cases to reestablish social structure as a topic of study within archaeology which can be profitably studied by proponents of both processual and post processual methodologies The Recurring Dark Ages Sing C. Chew, 2006-12-19 In this modern era of global environmental crisis Sing Chew provides a convincing analysis of the recurring human and environmental crises identified as Dark Ages In this his second of a three volume series concerning world ecological degradation Chew reviews the past 5 000 year history of structural conditions and processes that define the relationship between nature and culture Chew s message about the coming Dark Ages as human communities continue to reorganize to meet the contingencies of ecological scarcity and climate changes is a must read for those concerned with human interactions and environmental changes including environmental anthropologists and historians world historians geographers archaeologists and environmental scientists
