Production, Development, Quality and Export of Seed Spices S. K. Malhotra, 2007 Handbook of Herbs and Spices K. V. Peter, 2004-03-23 This is a comprehensive handbook for food processors covering over 30 major herbs and spices. It is introduced with general information about the spices trade and quality and safety issues followed by details on individual herbs and spices. Chemistry of Spices V. A. Parthasarathy, Bhageerathy Chempakam, T. John Zachariah, 2008 Spices are high value export oriented crops used extensively in food and beverage flavourings, medicines, cosmetics and perfumes. Interest is growing however in the theoretical and practical aspects of the biosynthetic mechanisms of active components in spices as well as the relationship between the biological activity and chemical structure of these secondary metabolites. A wide variety of phenolic substances and amides derived from spices have been found to possess potent chemopreventive, anti-mutagenic, anti-oxidant and anti-carcinogenic properties. Representing the first discussion of the chemical properties of a wide cross section of important spices, this book covers extensively the three broad categories of plant derived natural products: the terpenoids, the alkaloids and the phenyl propanoids and allied phenolic compounds. Spice crops such as black pepper, ginger, turmeric and coriander are covered with information on botany, composition, uses, chemistry, international specifications and the properties of a broad range of common and uncommon spices. Handbook of Spices in India: 75 Years of Research and Development P. N. Ravindran, K. Sivaraman, S. Devasahayam, K. Nirmal Babu, 2024-06-24 This compendium presents comprehensive information on more than 25 important spice crops commercially grown in India and traded globally, apart from over 40 spices that have the potential to be popularized. In 70 chapters, the book covers the achievements in research and development made in India for the past 75 years in various organizations including research institutes, agricultural universities and private sector laboratories. Spices are natural products of plant origin used primarily for flavouring and seasoning or for adding pungency and flavour to foods and beverages. The flavour and fragrance of Indian spices had a magic spell on human culture since very ancient days. The importance of spices in Indian life and its contribution to the economy are substantial. India, as the world's leading producer of spices, is also a significant stakeholder in spices export trade globally. Indian spices, being sources of many high value compounds, are also gaining much importance for other diversified uses, especially for their pharmaceutical and nutraceutical properties. A wide variety of 52 spices are grown in

India including black pepper chillies cardamom ginger turmeric cinnamon nutmeg garlic onion cumin coriander saffron and vanilla This book complies a comprehensive holistic review on the subject written by the best experts in the field in India representing diverse agencies This book is a single point reference book for all those involved in the research study teaching and use of spices in India and abroad
