The Dialectics of Art John

Molyneux, 2020-08-04 To the question of what is art it is often simply responded that art is whatever is produced by the artist For John Molyneux this clearly circular answer is deeply unsatisfying In a tour de force spanning renaissance Italy and the Dutch Republic to contemporary leading figures The Dialectics of Art instead approaches its subject matter as a distinct field of creative human labour that emerges alongside and in opposition to the alienation and commodification brought about by capitalism The pieces and individuals Molyneux examines from Michelangelo's Slaves to Rembrandt's Jewish Bride to the vast drip paintings of Jackson Pollock are presented as embodying the social contradictions of their times giving art an inherently political relevance In its relationship of creative and dialectical tension to prevailing social relationships and norms such art points beyond the existing order of things hinting at a potential future society not based on alienated labour in which creative production becomes the property and practice of all

Art, History, and Postwar Fiction Kevin Brazil, 2018 Art History and Postwar Fiction explores the ways in which twenty century novelists responded to visual art and how writing about art was often a means of commenting on historical developments of the period

Epistolarity and World Literature, 1980-2010 Rachel Bower, 2017-09-29 This book examines the striking resurgence of the literary letter at the end of the long twentieth century It explores how authors returned to epistolary conventions to create dialogue across national linguistic and cultural borders and repositions a range of contemporary and postcolonial authors never considered together before including Monica Ali John Berger Amitav Ghosh Michael Ondaatje and Alice Walker Through a series of situated readings the book shows how the return to epistolarity is underpinned by ideals relating to dialogue and human connection Several of the works use letters to present non anglophone material to the anglophone reader Others use letters to challenge policed borders the prison occupied territory the nation state Elsewhere letters are used to connect correspondents in different cultural and linguistic contexts Common to all of the works considered in this book is the appeal that they make to us as readers and the responsibility they place on us to respond to this address By taking the epistle as its starting point and pursuing Auerbach's speculative ideal of weltliteratur this book turns away from the dominant trend of distant reading in world literature and shows that it is in the close situated analysis of form and composition that the concept of world literature emerges most clearly This study seeks to re think the ways in which we read world literature and shows how the literary letter in old and new forms speaks powerfully again in this period

Cultivating Reality Ragan Sutterfield, 2013-04-02 We are at our base humus beings Our lives are dependent upon the soil and we flourish when we live in this reality Unfortunately we have been a part of a centuries long push to build a new tower of Babel an attempt to escape our basic dependence on the dirt This escape has resulted in ecological disaster unhealthy bodies and broken communities In answer to this denial a habit of mind formed from working close with the soil offers us a way of thinking and seeing that enables us to see the world as it really is This way of thinking is called agrarianism In Cultivating Reality Ragan Sutterfield guides us through the agrarian habit of mind and shows Christians how a theological return to the soil will enliven us again to the joys of creatureliness

The Cruel Radiance Susie Linfield, 2011-05-27 In The Cruel Radiance Susie Linfield challenges the idea that photographs of political violence exploit their subjects and pander to the voyeuristic tendencies of their viewers Instead she argues passionately that looking at such images and learning to see the people in them is an ethically and politically necessary act that connects us to our modern history of violence and probes the human capacity for cruelty Grappling with critics from

Walter Benjamin and Bertolt Brecht to Susan Sontag and the postmoderns and analyzing photographs from such events as the Holocaust China's Cultural Revolution and recent terrorist acts Linfield explores the complex connection between photojournalism and the rise of human rights ideals In the book's concluding section she examines the indispensable work of Robert Capa James Nachtwey and Gilles Peress and asks how photography should respond to the increasingly nihilistic trajectory of modern warfare A bracing and unsettling book The Cruel Radiance convincingly demonstrates that if we hope to alleviate political violence we must first truly understand it and to do that we must begin to look

The Writer's Reader Robert Cohen, Jay Parini, 2017-01-12 Brings together both classic and less well known essays by major writers past and present on the vocation and craft of writing

Joseph Cornell Versus Cinema Michael Piggott, 2013-11-28 This book is available as open access through the Bloomsbury Open Access programme and is available on www.bloomsburycollections.com Joseph Cornell is one of the most significant American artists of the 20th century His work is highly visible in the world's most prestigious galleries including the Tate Modern and MOMA His famous boxes and his collage work have been admired and widely studied However Cornell also produced an extraordinary body of film work a serious contribution to 20th century avant garde cinema and this has been much less examined In this book Michael Piggott makes the case for the significance of Joseph Cornell's films This is an important contribution to our knowledge of 20th century culture for scholars and students of film and art history and American studies and for all those interested in pop culture celebrity and fandom

Marxism and the History of Art Andrew Hemingway, 2006-07-20 This book is the first comprehensive introduction to Marxist approaches to art history Although the aesthetic was a crucial part of Marx and Engels's thought they left no full statement on the arts Although there is an abundant scholarship on Marxist approaches to literature the historiography of the visual arts has been largely neglected This book encompasses a range of influential thinkers and historians including William Morris Mikhail Lifshits Frederick Antal Francis Klingender Max Raphael Meyer Schapiro Walter Benjamin Henri Lefebvre and Arnold Hauser It also addresses the heritage of the New Left In the spirit of Marxism the authors interpret the achievements and limitations of Marxist art history in relation to the historical and political circumstances of its production providing an indispensable introduction to contemporary radical practices in the field

Invisible Seasides Tony Blackshaw, 2025-08-01 Invisible Seasides positions the seaside as a lens for understanding lived utopia pinned in a certain place an immovable feature in a landscape where our hopes and fears continue to unfold Wide ranging in theme it brings a double perspective past and present to bear on how we understand contemporary seaside experience Presenting a magical paradox of the modern seaside this book traces the development of a cultural phenomenon from the mid 1800s to the present day In the process it modifies the accepted narrative about its rise and fall reappraising our understanding of the end of a Mass Utopia and shining new light on the diversity of post utopias that have emerged in its afterlife Fusing social theory social history and leisure studies its thesis adroitly envisions the diverse density of the seaside through a critical lens making the unfamiliar familiar and vice versa providing us with an exemplar for a different way of thinking sociologically which will be used by scholars from a range of different subject fields to encourage fresh reflection on social continuity and change
