Selected Critical Writings David Herbert Lawrence, 1998 A critic must be able to feel the impact of a work of art in all its complexity and force To do so he must be a man of force and complexity himself A critic must be emotionally alive in every fibre intellectually capable and skilful in essential logic and then morally very honest These comments by D H Lawrence are as close a description as any of himself as a critic They come from his essay on fellow novelist John Galsworthy and there are many other pieces on novels and novelists in this selection But Lawrence's range of genres extends to poetry and plays and paintings and his critical writing encompasses an enormous variety of subjects from Aeschylus and the Apocalypse to symbolism and syphilis for his interests are philosophical psychological religious moral sociological historical and cultural as well as literary and artistic This selection is a treasure trove of thought adventures by one of literature's liveliest critical spirits Richard Aldington: Selected Critical Writings, 1928-1960 Richard Aldington, 1970 Alister Kershaw Aldington's closest friend from 1947 until his death in 1962 here presents ten trenchant and refreshing essays not previously published in book form by perhaps the last of the great literary critics to come to grips with the jubilant illiteracy of these times In his highly personal and reflective Introduction Kershaw discusses Aldington's deep involvement in life the catholicity of his interests and his considerable erudition which gave his writing an unusual quality of spontaneity and eloquence
