San Miguel de Allende Lisa Pinley Covert, 2017-06 Struggling to free itself from a century of economic decline and stagnation the town of San Miguel de Allende nestled in the hills of central Mexico discovered that its timeless quality could provide a way forward While other Mexican towns pursued policies of industrialization San Miguel on the economic political and cultural margins of revolutionary Mexico worked to demonstrate that it preserved an authentic quality earning designation as a typical Mexican town by the Guanajuato state legislature in 1939 With the town's historic status guaranteed a coalition of local elites and transnational figures turned to an international solution tourism to revive San Miguel's economy and to reinforce its Mexican identity Lisa Pinley Covert examines how this once small quiet town became a UNESCO World Heritage Site and home to one of Mexico's largest foreign born populations By exploring the intersections of economic development and national identity formation in San Miguel she reveals how towns and cities in Mexico grappled with change over the course of the twentieth century Covert similarly identifies the historical context shaping the promise and perils of a shift from an agricultural to a service based economy In the process she demonstrates how San Miguel could be both typically Mexican and palpably foreign and how the histories behind each process were inextricably intertwined

Tourism, Heritage and Commodification of Non-human Animals: A Posthumanist Reflection Álvaro López López, Gino Jafet Quintero Venegas, Carol Kline, 2023-12-19 Heritage is a social construction rooted in modern and contemporary societies It is commonly a positive assessment of many elements of the physical and human environment e g ecosystems and landscapes monuments customs gender norms religious practices gastronomy and livelihoods Heritage and tourism are strongly related to each other in that heritage gives rise to tourist attractions and activities and tourism enhances the designation of heritage sites A post humanist perspective the moral valuation of equality between humans and other animals demands that both are sentient beings and self aware of their pain and pleasure Thus the involvement of animals as heritage elements by themselves or as an element of tourist consumption in heritage sites implies their commodification and lack of agency As such these practices are usually unethical since they threaten the animals primary interests not to suffer not to feel pain and to be able to live their freedom This book contains chapters that reveal both the unethical interactions between humans and animals within heritage tourism and those that show experiences in which efforts are made to minimize damage within the commercialization of animals involved as heritage themselves
