Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress,Library of Congress. Subject Cataloging Division,Library of Congress. Office for Subject Cataloging Policy,2013 Family Interaction and Psychopathology Theodore Jacob,2013-11-21 Throughout the past 30 years there have been significant developments in theory and research relating family variables to various psychopathologies The potential importance of such efforts is obviously great given the implications that reliable and valid findings would hold for treatment and preventive inter ventions across a variety of settings and populations The purpose of this volume is to present a critical evaluation of this field of inquiry through a detailed assessment of the theoretical perspectives the methodological issues and the substantive findings that have characterized family studies of psychopathology during the past several decades The book is divided into four parts each con taining contributions from leading researchers and theorists in the field The first part Background presents a review of the major streams of influence that have shaped the development and the present character of the field The second part Conceptual Foundations contains presentations of gen eral models and orientations relevant to family studies of psychopathology In most cases a particular theoretical perspective provides the primary underpin ning of the approach the exception to this format being the family model of David Reiss based on the concept of the family paradigm The major objective of this part is to present a broad yet detailed set of chapters that address the conceptual status of the field It is hoped that this material will provide a rich background against which subsequent discussions of specific theories methods and findings can be more fully appreciated

Rosalia Baena's theoretically challenging analytical volume of essays explores the diversity of shapes that transcultural life writing takes demonstrating how it has become one of the most dynamic and productive literary forms of self inscription and self representation Expanding much of the contemporary criticism on life writing which tends to centre on content the essays highlight that reading contemporary forms of life writing from a literary perspective is a rich field of critical intervention that has been overlooked because of recent cultural studies concerns with material issues To read life writing as primarily cultural texts undercuts much of its value as a complex dynamic of cultural production where aesthetic concerns and the choice and manipulation of form serve as signifying aspects to experiences and subjectivities This book was previously published as a special issue of Prose Studies
