Leaving Christian Fundamentalism and the Reconstruction of Identity Josie McSkimming, 2016-10-04 There is an increasing interest in the influence of religious fundamentalism upon people's motivation identity and decision making Leaving Christian Fundamentalism and the Reconstruction of Identity details the stories of those who have left Christian fundamentalist churches and how they change after they have left It considers how the previous fundamentalist identity is shaped by aspects of church teaching and discipline that are less authoritarian and coercive and more subtle and widely spread throughout the church body That is individuals are understood as not only subject to a form of judgment but also exercise it with everyone seemingly complicit in maintaining the stability of the church organisation This book provocatively illustrates that the reasons for leaving an evangelical Christian church may be less about what happens outside the church in terms of the lures and attractions of the secular world and more about the experience within the community itself

Pastoral Care in Pregnancy Loss
Thomas Moe, 2014-01-02 Until now the church has been unaware of the need for ministry to those suffering from pregnancy loss. At a time when approximately one in four pregnancies ends in loss, the need to understand and provide caring ministry is painfully obvious. Pastoral Care in Pregnancy Loss introduces the religious community to the issue of pregnancy loss and describes the ministries that can be helpful to those who experience these tragedies. Effective ministry in pregnancy loss requires that one develop basic life theories in order to prepare for such in-depth care. Thus the book is more than a how-to as it explores why there is suffering and why some suffer more than others, how to find grace when God seems far away, how to minister when we don't have answers, and how religious ministry can consistently work with other helping professionals in support of the individual. With the foundation of ministry theory provided by Pastoral Care in Pregnancy Loss, you can help your faith community develop strategies for ministry to those suffering from pregnancy loss. Numerous case studies illustrate what is usually done wrong in providing pastoral care in these difficult and delicate situations and explain why those who experience loss may blame themselves, why they may blame God, and why they may not feel able to return to church. Providing helpful insight to hospital pastoral care departments, church libraries, funeral directors, counselors, and psychologists, nursing and obstetrics professionals, and seminaries with a marriage and family ministry specialty, this book provides readers with information about three types of pregnancy loss: miscarriage, stillbirth, and neonatal loss. Church outreach, the grieving process, victims as consenters or experiencers, the spiritual needs of those suffering loss, practical ministries, crisis support, and long-term support. Pastoral Care in Pregnancy Loss furthers your understanding of pregnancy loss by enumerating theories on how suffering and loss are viewed by those suffering, either as a time of testing, a time of training, a mystery of God, a sign of punishment and warning, or as having no meaning. The book also shows how pregnancy loss affects five different types of personal relationships and discusses both immediate and long-term concerns of providing pastoral care. From helping the victim find meaning or reason for the loss to providing support in preparing for future pregnancies, this book provides much needed guidance to an often neglected ministry.

These are self care by being intentionally nurtured by nature, spiritual enrichment by enjoying the transcendent Spirit in nature, and responding by nurturing nature more responsibly and lovingly. The theories and practical applications presented in the book come together to explore long overlooked issues at the boundary between human health and the health of the natural environment. Psychotherapists, health professionals, and teachers, pastoral counselors, and other clergy who counsel and teach laypersons who are parents and grandparents and individuals and groups interested in environmental issues will find Ecotherapy Healing Ourselves Healing the Earth essential for approaching the long neglected earthy roots of the total human mind/body/spirit organism. Gilbert, 2016-12-05 One of the unspoken aspects of mourning concerns the ways that loss affects our intimate relationships and our sexual expressiveness. This text opens these subjects for conversation with the aim of promoting the trust, care, and respect that enable us to be vulnerable. It purposefully covers a range of topics including 1. the meaning of intimacy and the significance of sexuality, providing a basis for the use of these terms throughout the book; 2. death, grief, and differences in sexual orientation, including death and intimacy in the lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender (LGBT) community and the losses endured by young people due to gender issues; 3. loss of relationship and restoration of intimacy in families, including pharmacological effects on the grief processes of widowers, grieving a not so loved parent, the layered losses of infertility and intimacy, and the tolls of war, intimacy, and sexuality challenges for soldiers and their families; 4. adjusting to life's losses associated with aging or illness or infirmity, including Alzheimer's and dementia-related illnesses, physical health losses after 50, and intimacy, sex, and hospice, self-determination, and dignity at the end of life; and 5. religious bases that have shaped our perspectives for understanding intimacy, sexuality, and healing after loss, and which give us hope, including the spiritual reflections of a rabbi and a Christian voice in defining what is right. Set in a framework that is both psychological and spiritual, the well-researched contributions are intended to acknowledge these experiences both professionally and personally. The book concludes with an extensive bibliography valuable for research and reference. This book will be of value in undergraduate and graduate courses on thanatology as well as for anyone interested in knowing more about grief, both those currently bereaved and those who wish to support others in mourning. The contributors appreciate both the importance of our capacities for intimacy and sexuality and our inhibitions and hesitations in giving voice to our needs and concerns, perhaps especially when we are grieving. The information and compassionate understanding they provide encourage us to bridge the gap between the secret and the private and to share what is close to our hearts. Handbook of Affirmative Psychotherapy with Lesbians and Gay Men Kathleen Ritter, Anthony I.
