Governing Climate Change in Southeast Asia Jens Marquardt, Laurence L. Delina, Mattijs Smits, 2021-12-07 This volume showcases the diversity of the politics and practices of climate change governance across Southeast Asia Through a series of country level case studies and regional perspectives the authors in this volume explore the complexities and contested nature of climate governance in what can be considered as one of the most dynamic and multi faceted regions of the world They reflect upon the tensions between authoritarian and democratic climate change governance the multiple roles of civil society and non state interventions and the conflicts between state planning and market driven climate change governance Shedding light on climate change mitigation and adaptation efforts in Southeast Asia this book presents the various formal and informal institutions of climate change governance their relevant actors procedures and policies Empirical findings from a diverse set of environments are merged into a cross country comparison that allows for elaborating on similar patterns whilst at the same time highlighting the distinct features of climate change governance in Southeast Asia Drawing on case studies from all Southeast Asian countries namely Brunei Darussalam Cambodia Indonesia Laos Malaysia Myanmar the Philippines Singapore Thailand Timor Leste and Viet Nam this book will be of great interest to students scholars and practitioners dealing with climate change and environmental governance      Library of Congress Catalogs Library of Congress,1977

Trade and Society in the Straits of Melaka Nordin Hussin,2007 This study compares Melaka and Penang in the context of overall trends policy geographical position nature and direction of trade and morphology and sociology and how these factors were influenced by trade and policies Conclusions are drawn concerning where and how Melaka and Penang fit in the urban traditions of Southeast Asia and the significance of the fact that the period under study coincided with the shift from the height of the Age of Commerce towards a period of heightened imperialist activities      State Structure, Policy

Formation, and Economic Development in Southeast Asia Antoinette R. Raquiza,2013-06-17 Why do some small developing countries industrialize and others don t What factors account for different economic performance among states that are vulnerable to external shocks crony capitalism and political instability This book argues that the answer lies in the structuring of state power specifically the way different sets of governing elites political leaders and economic technocrats are embedded in political organisations and state institutions and the way these elites relate to each other in the economic development policy process Conducting a comparative historical analysis of Thailand and the Philippines the book argues that the institutional settings of governing elites influence economic outcomes In Thailand political power traditionally connects to state institutions in ways that has limited the impact of political turnovers and global downturns conducive to long term industrial activities In contrast Philippine state power derives from family networks that merge social and political power suited to fast moving short term commercial interests In focusing on this political and institutional story the author analyses the current development dilemmas of countries weighed down by historical legacies of unstable regimes dependency and social conflict and how they are likely to develop in the future      Research in Education ,1974
