Metropolitan Transportation Planning Seminars: Summary, by Frederick F. Frye of Creighton, Hamburg, Inc United States. Office of the Assistant Secretary for Environment and Urban Systems, 1972 Metropolitan Transportation Planning in Institutional Perspective Gian-Claudia Sciara, 2005 Metropolitan Transportation Planning Seminars United States. Department of Transportation, 1972 Governing Metropolitan Transport Simone Buseti, 2015-02-04 This book investigates the link between institutions and public policies with specific reference to transport It opens by examining the main arguments for the establishment of metropolitan transport authorities The potential impacts of institutional change on the policy efficiency of institutions are then examined Key problems for institutional designers are identified showing how they can hamper the achievement of desired policy outcomes through institutional solutions Two in depth case studies on institutional change in metropolitan transport in London and Barcelona are presented with a view to testing the aforementioned hypotheses and providing insights into the ways in which the two transport institutions were reformed The concluding chapter identifies lessons for institutional designers and highlights the policy results that may be expected from the constitution of metropolitan transport authorities Power Moves Kyle Shelton, 2017-12-15 Since World War II Houston has become a burgeoning internationally connected metropolis and a sprawling car dependent city In 1950 it possessed only one highway the Gulf Freeway which ran between Houston and Galveston Today Houston and Harris County have more than 1 200 miles of highways and a third major loop is under construction nearly thirty miles out from the historic core Highways have driven every aspect of Houston s postwar development from the physical layout of the city to the political process that has transformed both the transportation network and the balance of power between governing elites and ordinary citizens Power Moves examines debates around the planning construction and use of highway and public transportation systems in Houston Kyle Shelton shows how Houstonians helped shape the city s growth by attending city council meetings writing letters to the highway commission and protesting the destruction of homes to make way for freeways which happened in both affluent and low income neighborhoods He demonstrates that these assertions of what he terms infrastructural citizenship opened up the transportation decision making process to meaningful input from the public and gave many previously marginalized citizens a more powerful voice in civic affairs Power Moves also reveals the long lasting results of choosing highway and auto based infrastructure over other transit options and the resulting challenges that Houstonians currently face as they grapple with how best to move forward from the consequences and opportunities created by past choices

Politics Across the Hudson Philip Mark Plotch, 2018-06-20 Winner of the 2015 American Planning Association New York Metro Chapter Journalism Award The State of New York is now building one of the world's longest widest and most expensive bridges the new Tappan Zee Bridge stretching more than three miles across the Hudson River approximately thirteen miles north of New York City In Politics Across the Hudson urban planner Philip Plotch offers a behind the scenes look at three decades of contentious planning and politics centered around this bridge recently renamed for Governor Mario M Cuomo the state's governor from 1983 to 1994 He reveals valuable lessons for those trying to tackle complex public policies while also confirming our worst fears about government dysfunction Drawing on his extensive experience planning megaprojects interviews with more than a hundred key figures including governors agency heads engineers civic advocates and business leaders and extraordinary access to internal government records Plotch tells a compelling story of high stakes battles between powerful players in the public private and civic sectors He reveals how state officials abandoned viable options squandered hundreds of millions of dollars forfeited more than three billion dollars in federal funds and missed out on important opportunities Faced with the public's unrealistic expectations no one could identify a practical solution to a vexing problem a dilemma that led three governors to study various alternatives rather than disappoint key constituencies This revised and updated edition includes a new epilogue and more photographs and continues where Robert Caro's The Power Broker left off and illuminates the power struggles involved in building New York's first major new bridge since the Robert Moses era Plotch describes how one governor Andrew Cuomo shrewdly overcame the seemingly insurmountable obstacles of onerous environmental regulations vehement community opposition insufficient funding interagency battles and overly optimistic expectations

New York Michael N. Danielson, Jameson W. Doig, 1982-09-15 This volume is the fourth in the Franklin K Lane series on the governance of major metropolitan regions The series is sponsored by the Institute of Governmental Studies and the Institute of International Studies University of California in Berkeley Readers of these volumes and other relevant literature will no doubt agree with the authors of this book that similar patterns are found in New York London Toronto Stockholm and indeed in every other major metropolitan region in the United States and in other advanced industrial societies The presence of such common factors and trends although they assume different configurations in various metropolitan regions has been demonstrated by the work of many scholars including Peter Hall Brian Berry Marion Clawson Jean Gottmann Larry Bourne and William Robson as well as by the authors of the other Franklin K Lane books Donald Foley Albert Rose and Thomas Anton In the present volume Michael Danielson and Jameson Doig have described and analyzed the cultural economic political and other social forces shaping development in the New York region They present a picture of a region singular in its attractions problems geographic scope magnitude of development and complexity of the network of organizations involved in its governance Substate Regionalism and the Federal System: Regional governance: promise and performance; case studies United States.
