New Role Of The Academies Of Sciences In The Balkan Countries:

The New Role of the Academies of Sciences in the Balkan Countries C. Proukakis, Nikolaos Katsaros, 2012-12-06 It is well known that the Academies of Sciences in Western Europe have different goals than those of Eastern Europe mainly due to their independent status Although some of the Academies in the West supervise research activities or some institutes their main mission is to stimulate and access scientific developments in their own countries In particular they have a mission to advise their governments and other central bodies on science policy and organization of research The Academies of Central and Eastern Europe supervise numerous research institutes with a relatively large number of research scientists Also many of these institutes carry out basic and applied research isolated from that of universities and industry Industry on a few occasions in the past sought solutions to its problems or the development of new products from the Institutes of the Academies of Sciences The challenges now facing the Academies of Central and Eastern Europe include the lack of adequate financing the loss of status of scientific work the defection of young researchers and the difficulties of recruiting new high level research staff A major problem is the emerging lack of candidates for doctorate studies The organization and financing of research in institutes universities and industries and the role that the Academies of Sciences can play is also one of the subjects to be addressed Public funding is limited and most of the funds available are directed towards applied research

Towards European Science Linda Wedlin, Maria Nedeva, 2015-12-18 Since the European Research Area was launched at the beginning of the century significant efforts have been made to realise the vision of a coherent space for science and research in Europe But how does one define such a space and measure its development This timely book analyses the dynamics of change in the policy and governance of science and research within Europe over the past decade It widens the scope of traditional policy analysis by focusing attention on the interaction between policy rationales new governance mechanisms and the organisational dynamics of the scientific field The contributors build a novel analytical framework to understand the European research space as one shifting from a fragmented space of Science in Europe to one that is labeled European Science The chapters explore the dynamics of this shift through the lenses of political science organisation theory science policy and related analytical traditions Towards European Science is an interdisciplinary book which will attract a wide set of scholars and professionals interested in science policy governance and scientific practice It will also be of use to university leaders and managers as well as policy makers and practitioners working on issues of internationalisation and the Europeanisation of science Annals of the American Academy of Political and Social Science ,1928 The Annals of the American Academy of Political and Social Science ,1927 The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 1999

Turkey's Return to the Western Balkans Branislav Radeljić, Mustafa Cüneyt Özşahin, 2022-11-01 This volume sheds new light on the interaction between Turkey and the Western Balkans Written from a multidisciplinary perspective the contributions decode the essence of bilateral relations by analyzing various aspects of regional diplomacy including official initiatives for cooperation and the impact of different interstate exchanges In addition to the political aspect the book highlights the economic dimensions of Turkey s involvement in the Western Balkans by exploring trade linkages and prospects for future partnership arrangements Finally socio cultural components of bilateral relations are examined with some contributors focusing on the role of art religion and cultural heritage in Turkish foreign policy toward the Western Balkans While providing detailed analysis and reflections on Turkey s direction and policy preferences this unique collection appeals to scholars of international relations Balkan and Turkish studies and other neighboring disciplines as well as to policymakers and general readership interested in the region and international collaboration

The Routledge Handbook to Regional Development in Central and Eastern Europe Gábor Lux,Gyula Horváth,2017-07-06 Twenty five years into transformation Central and Eastern European regions have undergone substantial socio economic restructuring integrating into European and global networks and producing new patterns of regional differentiation and development Yet post socialist modernisation has not been without its contradictions manifesting in increasing social and territorial inequalities Recent studies also suggest there are apparent limits to post socialist growth models accompanying a new set of challenges within an increasingly uncertain world Aiming to deliver a new synthesis of regional development issues at the crossroads between post socialism and post transition this book identifies the main driving forces of spatial restructuring in Central and Eastern Europe and charts the different regional development paths which take shape against the backdrop of post crisis Europe A comparative approach is used to highlight common development challenges and the underlying patterns of socio economic differentiation alike The issues investigated within the Handbook extend to a discussion of the varied economic consequences of transition the social structures and institutional systems which underpin development processes and the broadly understood sustainability of Central and Eastern Europe s current development model This book will be of interest to academics and policymakers working in the fields of regional studies economic geography development studies and policy

Balkan Transnationalism at the Time of Neoliberal Catastrophe Dušan I. Bjelić, 2019-03-27 Offering a fresh look at the ways in which neoliberalism has claimed to cure the Balkan region of its ethnic particularities under the pretext of Europeanization this book shows how the reconfiguration of the economic political and cultural landscape of the region has resulted in its functioning as Europe s neocolony The contributors to this volume engage in postcolonial analysis of the Balkans past and present coloniality by way of interrogating race racism trauma film and global capitalism They challenge the idea of a United Europe that rests on the assumption that the European Union s newness represents both a clean slate and the right to shift ownership of its colonial histories to former colonial subjects and their national histories Taken as a whole the volume seeks to transform Europe s colonial amnesia into postcolonial awareness and to speak from within the Balkans as a site of Europe s neocolony As it critically interrogates a neocolonial reconfiguration of the Balkans as a massive social overhaul which includes at once global integration and local social disintegration this book will be of interest to those studying the region as well as postcolonialism in general This book was originally published as a special issue of

Interventions Journal of Postcolonial Studies An Agenda for the Western Balkans: From Elite Politics to Social Sustainability Nikolaos Pasamitros, Nikolaos Papakostas, 2015-03-01 The Western Balkan countries have been both a popular subject matter for diachronic analysis and a 1990s favorite The significant changes that followed the most recent times of conflict in the region mostly evolve around the process of Europeanization Despite the plethora of analyses most approaches to the Western Balkans suffer from theoretical stagnancy ex parte political practice and detachment of politics from societal needs This volume is the work of a team of theorists and practitioners who attempt a multidisciplinary approach to Western Balkans reality An Agenda for the Western Balkans offers a critical view on issues that have been over analyzed in mainstream terms and opens a discussion that will occupy researchers and practitioners for years to come It addresses novel topics and engages in innovative approaches that cut across disciplines of social sciences political science international relations sociology historiography geography political economy and levels of analysis local national regional European global This collection is a pioneer theoretical and practical guide towards a sustainable future for the Western Balkans Central and South-Eastern Europe 2004 Europa Publications, 2003 Comprises a general survey of the region country surveys political profiles of the region and information on international and regional organizations and research institutes
