Industrialization and Trade Policies S. R. Lewis, 1970 Industrial Concentration and Economic Power in Pakistan Lawrence J. White, 2015-03-08 Although observers of the Pakistani economy are well aware that a small number of family groups popularly called the twenty two families dominates the industrial structure of the country the actual effects of this concentration of economic power on income distribution and on other areas of widespread social and political concern are less well understood In this important work Lawrence J White uses the concepts of industrial organization analysis to achieve an overall view of the problems stemming from the marked industrial concentration in Pakistan After discussing the economic effects of industrial concentration as they apply generally to less developed countries Professor White reviews the Pakistani experience estimating the overall concentration of power that exists in manufacturing banking and insurance Following an estimate of the extent of concentration in individual markets he examines the origins of this concentration of power and analyzes its economic and noneconomic effects in Pakistan The author concludes with a review of the policies that Pakistan has pursued in dealing with industrial concentration and suggests new courses of action for the future Originally published in 1974 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the long term planning including investments in infrastructure and cleaner production 2 Upgraded trade facilitation and infrastructure particularly transport and energy to address some of industrialization s spatial aspects Improved transport infrastructure will lower production s environmental costs 3 Greening of Pakistan s industrial sector to enhance international competitiveness greening will make Pakistan a more attractive export partner for nations and firms committed to green production 4 Strong institutions for example environmental management agencies to control pollution and cleaner production centers to increase domestic awareness of international environmental standards to implement industrialization initiatives effectively including those for small and medium sized enterprises This book provides a comprehensive analysis of issues relating to the debate about Pakistan s green industrial growth and lays out priorities and strategies for greening Pakistan s industrial growth The Industrial Policy Revolution II J. Pakistan - The Political Economy of Growth, Stagnation and the State, 1951-2009

 Matthew McCartney, 2011-06-07 This book provides a comprehensive reassessment of the development of the economy of Pakistan since independence to the present It employs a rigorous statistical methodology which has applicability to other developing economies to define and measure episodes of growth and stagnation and to examine how the state has contributed to each Contesting the orthodox view that liberalisation has been an important driver of growth in Pakistan the book places the state at the centre of economic development rather than the market It examines the state in relation to its economic roles in mobilising resources and promoting a productive allocation of those resources and its political roles in managing the conflict inherent in economic development The big conclusions for economic growth in Pakistan are that liberalisation the market and the external world economy in fact have less influence than that of the state and conflict Overall the book offers analyses of the different successive approaches to promoting economic growth and development in Pakistan relates these to medium term economic outcomes periods of growth and stagnation and thereby explains how the mechanisms by which the state can better promote growth and development
