Emergence and Diversity of Modern Human Behavior in Paleolithic Asia Yousuke Kaifu,Masami Izuho,Ted Goebel,Hiroiyuki Sato,Akira Ono,2014-12-19 Despite the obvious geographic importance of eastern Asia in human migration its discussion in the context of the emergence and dispersal of modern humans has been rare Emergence and Diversity of Modern Human Behavior in Paleolithic Asia focuses long overdue scholarly attention on this under studied area of the world Arising from a 2011 symposium sponsored by the National Museum of Nature and Science in Tokyo this book gathers the work of archaeologists from the Pacific Rim of Asia Australia and North America to address the relative lack of attention given to the emergence of modern human behavior as manifested in Asia during the worldwide dispersal from Africa

ASEAN Resistance to Sovereignty Violation Southgate, Laura,2019-05-08 Available Open Access under CC BY NC licence Examining how the Association of Southeast Asian Nations ASEAN has responded to external threats over the past 50 years this book provides a compelling account of regional state actions and foreign policy in the face of potential sovereignty violation The author draws on a large amount of previously unanalysed material including declassified government documents and WikiLeaks cables to examine four key cases since 1975 Taking into account state interests and the role of external powers the author develops the vanguard state theory to explain ASEAN state responses to sovereignty violation which it is argued has universal applicability and explanatory power Brunei - History, Islam, Society and Contemporary Issues Ooi Keat Gin, 2015-12-14 Brunei although a relatively small state is disproportionately important on account of its rich resource base. In addition in recent years the country has endeavoured to play a greater role in regional affairs especially through ASEAN holding the chair of the organisation in 2013 and also beyond the region fostering diplomatic political economic and educational ties with many nations. This book presents much new research and new thinking on a wide range of issues concerning Brunei largely drawn from Bruneian academics. Subjects covered include Brunei's rich history the sultanate formerly had much more extensive territories and was a key player in regional affairs the country's economy politics society and ethnicities and resource issues and international relations Crime and Punishment around the World Graeme R. Newman, 2010-10-19 This comprehensive detailed account explores crime and punishment throughout the world through the eyes of leading experts local authors and scholars and government officials. It is a subject as old as civil society yet one that still fuels debate. Now the many and varied aspects of that subject are brought together in the four volume Crime and Punishment around the World. This unprecedented work provides descriptions of crimes and the justice systems that define and punish them in more than 200 nations principalities and dependencies. Each chapter examines the historical political and cultural background as well as the basic organization of the subject state's legal and criminal justice system. It also reports on the types and levels of crime the processes leading to the finding of guilt the rights of the accused alternatives to going to trial how suspects are prosecuted for their crimes and the techniques and conditions of typical punishments employed. Comprising a study that is at once extraordinarily comprehensive and minutely detailed the essays collected here showcase the variety and the universality of crime and punishment the world over Cold War Asia Hajimu Masuda, 2025-05-05 Conventional narratives of the Cold War revolve around high level diplomats and state leaders in Washington Beijing and Moscow but this anthology instead reveals how ordinary people across Asia experienced the era. Heavily rooted in oral history this study takes readers to the villages of rural Java the jungles of northern Thailand the indigenous tribal communities of Kerala India and many other places in this vast region. Masuda Hajimu organizes each chapter around the theme of many Cold Wars or more precisely the many local and social wars that were imagined as part of the global Cold War. These histories raise fundamental questions about standard Cold War narratives encouraging readers to rethink why the Cold War still matters. It is one based primarily on absolute national sovereignty exclusive national identity and patriotic national citizenship. This sovereignty based or state centered order however has been challenged and progressively undermined by a people centric order that is governed by ideals of global citizenship and principles of global justice In this people centric order the emergence of a new form of politics in which citizens are empowered by various non governmental organizations that serve to define and influence world politics is envisaged Clearly such an order clashes with the prevailing Asian national sovereignty based model This book provides a systematic descriptive explanatory and normative analysis of the clash of normative orders in Asia and develops an analysis of Asian responses to the challenge posed by a more diffuse people centric order and the implications this may have for global justice The book aims to study two paradigms of political order a national statist sovereignty based order and a people centric order analyze the conflict between two diverse political paradigms within an Asian setting and assess the various challenges a people centric order poses for a sovereignty based order It also aims to address the paucity of Asian normative thinking through a synthesis of intellectual sources and normative theories It applies tests revises and develops Western normative theories of the people centric order It is a must read for students and researchers who are interested in the theoretical debates especially Asian voices on normative issues in Asia

Regional Organisations and Security Stephen Aris,Andreas Wenger,2013-10-30 This book aims to examine the conceptions and practices of security adopted by Regional Organisations ROs across the globe Since the end of the Cold War there has been an increased focus on regions as a relevant realm for security with actors within regional contexts identifying a significant degree of interdependency between one another As a consequence international security has taken on a distinct regionally institutionalised character as seen by the increase in calls for greater utilisation of Chapter VIII Regional Arrangements of the UN in order to create a devolved UN led system of global security management. However the idea of a system of global security management is a remote prospect because divergence seems to be as important as commonality in terms of regional security. In light of the above Regional Organisations and Security analyses the primary ROs that are active in Africa Asia Eurasia the Middle East and South America. The findings of individual case studies are compiled to highlight disparities and similarities in how security is seen prioritised understood practised managed and implemented across regions. On this basis the authors reach conclusions about whether we live in an increasingly globalised or regionally distinct world and go on to assess the prospects for a globalised system of security management and consider how this might be developed and organised. This book will be of interest to students of comparative regionalism international organisations international security and IR.

Singapore and the Asian Revolutions Geoffrey C. Gunn, 2008 The International People's Tribunal for 1965 and the Indonesian Genocide Saskia Wieringa, Jess Melvin, Annie Pohlman, 2019-01-21. The International People's Tribunal addressed the many forms of violence during the period of the massacres of 1965-1966 in Indonesia. It was held in The Hague The Netherlands in November 2015 to commemorate fifty years since the killings began. The Tribunal as a people's court holds no jurisdiction and was an attempt to achieve symbolic justice for the crimes of 1965. This book offers new and previously unpublished insights into the types of crimes committed in the 1965 genocide and how these crimes were prosecuted at the International People's Tribunal for 1965. Divided thematically each chapter analyses a different crime: enslavement sexual violence torture perpetrated during the Indonesian killings. The contributions consider either general patterns across Indonesia or a particular region of the archipelago. The book reflects on how crimes were charged at the International People's Tribunal for 1965 and focuses on questions relating to the place of people's tribunals in truth seeking and justice claims and the prospective for transitional justice in contemporary Indonesia. Positioning the events in Indonesia in 1965 within the broader scope of comparative genocide studies the book is an original and timely contribution to knowledge about the dynamics of the Indonesian killings. It will be of interest to academics in the field of Asian studies in particular Southeast Asia Genocide Studies Criminology and Criminal Justice and Transitional Justice Studies.

Routledge Handbook of the Environment in Southeast Asia Philip Hirsch, 2016-09-13. The environment is one of the defining issues of our times and it is closely linked to questions and dilemmas surrounding economic development. Southeast Asia is one of the world's most economically and demographically dynamic regions and it is also one in which a host of environmental issues raise themselves. The Routledge Handbook of the Environment in Southeast Asia is a collection of 30 chapters dealing with the most significant scholarly debates in this rapidly growing field of study. Structured in four main parts it gives a comprehensive regional overview of and insight into the environment in Southeast Asia. Wide ranging and balanced this handbook promotes scholarly understanding of how environmental issues are dealt with from diverse theoretical perspectives.

It offers a detailed empirical understanding of the myriad environmental problems and challenges faced in Southeast Asia. This is the first publication of its kind in this field, a helpful companion for a global audience and for scholars of Southeast Asian studies from a variety of disciplines.

Imagined Geographies Geoffrey C. Gunn, 2021-09-03. Imagined Geographies is a pioneering work in the study of history and geography of the pre-1800 world. In this book, Gunn argues that different regions astride the maritime silk roads were not only interconnected but can also be construed as imagined geographies. Taking a grand civilizational perspective, five such geographic imaginaries are examined across respective chapters: namely Indian, Arabic, Chinese, Japanese, and European, including an imagined Great South Land. Drawing upon an array of marine and other archaeological examples, the author offers compelling evidence of the intertwining of political, cultural, and economic regions across the sea silk roads from ancient times until the seventeenth century. Through a thorough analysis of these five geographic imaginaries, the author sets aside purely national history and looks at the maritime realm from a broader spatial perspective. He challenges the Eurocentric concept of center and periphery and establishes a revisionist view on a decentered world regional history. This book will definitely interest history lovers from all around the world who want to know more about how their forebears viewed their respective region and how their region fits into world history with local uniqueness. Gunn takes large themes and makes them understandable. He is not afraid to make the grand statement and to look at the sweep of history all in one arc. I admire that greatly; this is not history for the faint of heart. But it is history well done, and history that can show the forest from the trees.

Eric Tagliacozzo, John Stambaugh, Professor of History, Cornell University. This is one of the most ambitious and insightful books that I have read on pre-Modern maritime Asia. The author offers fascinating perspectives on how this vast region was imagined, charted, and experienced over many centuries. That requires mastery of an immense range of scholarship and primary sources. His aim is to knit this watery world together into a conceptual whole. This mission is accomplished with style and discipline.

Neutrality and Collaboration in South China Helena F. S. Lopes, 2023-06-15. The South China enclave of Macau was the first and last European colonial settlement in East Asia and a territory at the crossroads of different empires. In this highly original study, Helena F. S. Lopes analyses the layers of collaboration that developed from neutrality in Macau during the Second World War. Exploring the intersections of local, regional, and global dynamics, she unpacks the connections between a plurality of actors with competing and collaborative interests, including Chinese Nationalists, Communists, and collaborators with Japan, Portuguese colonial authorities, and British and Japanese representatives. Lopes argues that neutrality eased the movement of refugees of different nationalities who sought shelter in Macau during the war and that it helped to guarantee the maintenance of two remnants of European colonialism: Macau and Hong Kong. Drawing on extensive research from multilingual archival material from Asia, Europe, Australasia, and America, this book brings to light the multiple global connections framing the experiences of neutrality and collaboration in the Portuguese
