Risk Capital Costs And Project Financing Decisions:

Risk, Capital Costs, and Project Financing Decisions F.G.J. Derkinderen, R.L. Crum, 2012-12-06 The ending of the decade of the seventies and the dawning of the eighties can be characterized as a period of great uncertainty with prospects for economic political instability High inflation and fluctuating exchange rates in the developed Western world have served to strengthen the forces of disequilibrium in the financial markets leading to an investment situation with several unusual but significant factors Capital spending by business leading to the creation of new jobs has not been reduced substantially during this period of uncertainty as happened in similar periods in the past This is shown in part by the continuing low unemployment rates in evidence during the period which are in contradiction to the trend exhibited in similar past periods The expanding financing requirements resulting from high price inflation have led to an increase in the capital intensity of firms and thus to enhanced sensitivity of their income streams to economic fluctuations At the same time the record high interest rates that companies have had to pay to acquire this inflated amount of capital have caused a deterioration in the safety or quality indicators by which the creditworthiness of the firms is judged These developments tend to increase vii viii INTRODUCTION the stakes involved in business decision making One important repercussion of this is that greater attention is now being focused on improving the quality of investment decisions

Capital Budgeting Under Conditions of Uncertainty R.L. Crum, F.G.J. Derkinderen, 2012-12-06 The business environment particularly after the continuing oil crises of the seventies can be characterized as evolving rapidly in complex and often unpredictable ways Such things as high interest and inflation rates fluctuating exchange rates volatile commodity markets and increasing political turmoil have led to a situation in which explicit consideration of environmental dynamics is becoming much more important for successful business planning than was true in the past Companies are finding that it is no longer possible to conduct business as usual under these changing circumstances Rather decision makers are having to be more cognizant of the many sources of uncertainty that could have serious impacts on the continued prosperity of the firm as well as of actions that can be taken so that the company can thrive in spite of these greater uncertainties Businesses have responded to these challenges by giving more thorough consideration to strategic issues Whereas in the past the steady progression of markets and technology was taken for granted the uncertainties associated with increased worldwide competition as well as with other exogenous factors have vii viii INTRODUCTION forced companies to think more about flexibility This involves not only how best to exploit profitable current options but also how to position themselves at present to be able to respond appropriately to threats and opportunities as they arise in the future Unfortunately in this redirection of outlook the finance profession has not kept pace
