Death and an Existential Theory of Addiction in particular existential philosophers Søren Kierkegaard 1813-1855 and Jean-Paul Sartre 1905-1980 According to Dr. Reed addiction is usually the result of existential or life conditions rather than underlying physiological problems Therefore it may involve not only drugs or alcohol but also relationships belief systems activities and even emotional states Anything that can serve to deflect one's consciousness from reflectively apprehending the task of becoming oneself can serve as an object of addiction If the object is another person one might ask whether in fact addiction can masquerade as love Is it possible to believe that you are in love with someone when in fact you are merely addicted to him or her In this creative and provocative work Reed argues that Sartre's theory of love is in fact a theory of addiction
