Beyond 1989 K. Bullivant, 1997-09-01 With the fall of the Berlin Wall in November 1989 four decades of separation seemed to have been brought to an end In the literary arena as in many others this seemed to be the surprising but ultimately logical end to the situation in which after the extreme separation of the two Germanies literatures during most of the period up to 1980 an increasing closeness could be observed during the 1980s as relations between the two German states normalized With the opening up of the East in the Autumn of 1989 claims were being made on the one hand that German literature had never in fact been divided while others were proclaiming the end of East and West German literatures as they had existed and the beginning of a new era This volume examines these claims and other aspects of literary life in the two Germanies since 1945 with the hindsight born of unification in 1990 as well as looking at certain aspects of developments since the fall of the Wall when as on East German put it in 1996 rapprochement came to an end

American Poetry Robert Rehder, Patrick Vincent, 2006 Beyond the Mother Tongue Yasemin Yildiz, 2013-12-01 Beyond the Mother Tongue examines distinct forms of multilingualism such as writing in one socially unsanctioned mother tongue about another language Franz Kafka mobilizing words of foreign derivation as part of a multilingual constellation within one language Theodor W Adorno producing an oeuvre in two separate languages simultaneously Yoko Tawada and mixing different languages codes and registers within one text Feridun Zaimoglu Encounters with Islam in German Literature and Culture James R. Hodkinson, Jeffrey Morrison, 2009 German language writings about Islam not only reveal much about Islamic culture but also about the European home culture Islam has been a rich topic in German language literature since the middle ages and the writings about it not only reveal much about Islamic culture but also about the European home culture Many of the early essays in this chronologically arranged volume uncover fresh evidence of how German writers used images of Islam as other to define their individual subject positions as well as to define the German nation and the Christian religion The perspectives of many contemporary writers are however far removed from such a polar opposition of cultures Their experience of the German Islamic encounter is complicated by a crucial factor many of them emerge from Muslim migrant communities such as the German Turkish community The culturally hybrid origins of these writers and their expression of experiences and ideologies that cross boundaries of East and West Christendom and Islam strongly affect the findings of the essays as the volume moves toward the present The texts discussed include travelogues and other firsthand encounters with Islam reports for colonial authorities aesthetic treatises on Islamic art literary essayistic and theological writing on Islamic religious practice the incorporation of characters situations and settings from the Islamic world into fiction or drama and fictional and autobiographical writing by Muslims in German Contributors Cyril Edwards Silke Falkner James Hodkinson Timothy R Jackson Margaret Littler Rachel MagShamr in Frauke Matthes Yomb May Jeffrey Morrison Kate Roy Monika Shafi Edwin Wieringa W Daniel Wilson Karin E Yesilada James Hodkinson is Assistant Professor of German at Warwick University Jeffrey Morrison is Senior Lecturer at the National University of Ireland Maynooth
