Out Of Iran One Woman's Escape From The Ayatollahs:

Out of Iran Sousan Azadi, Angela Ferrante, 1987 Out of Iran Sousan Azadi, Angela Ferrante, 1987 Out of Iran Sousan Azadi, Angela Ferrante, 1987 The Literature of the Iranian Diaspora Sanaz Fotouhi, 2015-04-03 The 1979 Revolution in Iran caused the migration of millions of Iranians many of whom wrote and are still writing of their experiences. Formed at the junctions of Iranian culture, English language and Western cultures, this body of work has not only formed a unique literary space offering an insightful reflection of Iranian diasporic experiences and its shifting nature but it has also been making a unique and understudied contribution to World Literatures in English as significant as Indian, African and Asian writing in English. Sanaz Fotouhi here traces the origins of the emerging body of diasporic Iranian literature in English and uses these origins to examine the socio-political position and historical context from which they have emerged. Fotouhi brings together, introduces and analyses for the first time a significant range of diasporic Iranian writers alongside each other and alongside other diasporic literatures in English. While situating this body of work through existing theories such as postcolonialism, Fotouhi sheds new light on the role of Iranian literature and culture in Western literature by showing that these writings distinctively reflect experiences unique to the Iranian diaspora. Analysing the relationship between Iranians and their new surroundings by drawing on theories of migration, narration and identity, Fotouhi examines how the literature borne out of the Iranian diaspora reconstructs, maintains and negotiates their individual and communal identities and reflects today's socio-political realities. This book will be vital for researchers of Middle Eastern literature and its relationship with writings from the West as well as those interested in the cultural history of the Middle East. Seen and Unseen: Visual Cultures of Imperialism, 2017-10-02 Seen and Unseen teases out and explores how visual mediums construct visual cultures that often create limited perspectives of certain issues and groups. This volume focuses in particular on the representation of Islam and Muslims. It deals with fixed and stereotypical visual representations and explores alternative and challenging visual representations that reconstruct and dismantle existing belief systems. It approaches the topic from a vantage point of diverse multiple perspectives. Covering issues from Brunei, Iran, Egypt and England and cyberspace, the essays in this volume examine the visual cultures of how Islam and Muslims are understood, misunderstood, misrepresented or even embraced visually. Scholars in this volume draw on historical paintings, books and their covers, photography and news to demonstrate the diversity and sometimes contradictory visual cultures that construct and adhere meaning to how Islam and Muslim people are seen. Contributors: Hoda Afshar, Jared Ahmed, Syed Farid Alatas, Sanaz Fotouhi, Christiane Gruber, Layla Hendow, Raihana M M Bruno, Starrs and Esmaeil Zeiny. Representing Post-Revolutionary Iran Hossein Nazari, 2022-06-30 Memoirs of diasporic Iranian American authors are a unique and culturally powerful way in which Iran, its politics and people are understood in the USA and the rest of the world. This book offers an analysis of the processes of production, promotion and reception of the representations of post-revolutionary Iran. The book provides new perspectives on some of the most famous examples of the genre such as Betty Mahmoody's Not Without My Daughter Azar Nafisi's Reading Lolita in Tehran A Memoir in Books and Fatemeh Keshavarz's Jasmine and Stars Reading More Than Lolita in Tehran Hossein Nazari places these texts in their social historical and political contexts tracing their origins within the trope of the American captivity narrative teasing out and critiquing neo Orientalist tendencies within and finally focusing on modes of discursive resistance to neo Orientalist narratives The book analyzes the structural means by which stereotypes about Islam and women in the Islamic Republic in these narratives are privileged by news media and the creative industries while also charting a growing number of counterhegemonic memoirs which challenge these narratives by representing more nuanced accounts of life in Iran after 1979

Farewell Shiraz Cyrus Kadivar, 2017 In Farewell Shiraz Kadivar tells the story of his family and childhood against the tumultuous backdrop of twentieth century Iran from the 1905 1907 Constitutional Revolution to the fall of Mohammad Reza Shah Pahlavi before presenting accounts of his meetings with key witnesses to the Shah's fall and the rise of Khomeini Each of the people interviewed provides a richly detailed picture of the momentous events that took place and the human drama behind them

Muslim Women in the United Kingdom and Beyond Haifaa Jawad, Tansin Benn, 2002-12-01 The book explores ways in which Muslim women are portrayed alongside their experiences of being Muslim and part of a predominantly western culture It engages with Muslim women living predominantly in the United Kingdom with contributions from other countries such as Australia America and Sweden Religious prejudice is a major theme that permeates the book providing empirical evidence of ways in which islamophobia and visible symbols such as the hijab influence life experiences and perceptions of Muslim women negatively Accounts of the impact of discrimination on life chances and opportunities are vivid The book recounts ways in which the women cope in challenging diasporic contexts and concludes with recommendations for positive change The text will be particularly valuable to anyone interested in issues of gender religion and ethnicity including students employers politicians and professionals

Human Rights in Iran Reza Afshari, 2011-06-07 Selected by Choice magazine as an Outstanding Academic Title Are the principles set forth in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights truly universal Or as some have argued are they derived exclusively from Western philosophic traditions and therefore irrelevant to many non Western cultures Should a state's claims to indigenous traditions and not international covenants determine the scope of rights granted to its citizens In his strong defense of the Declaration Reza Afshari contends that the moral vision embodied in this and other agreements is a proper response to the abuses of the modern state Asserting that the most serious violations of human rights by state rulers are motivated by political and economic factors rather than the purported concern for cultural authenticity Afshari examines one particular state that has claimed cultural exception to the universality of human rights the Islamic Republic of Iran In his revealing case study Afshari investigates how Islamic culture and Iranian politics since the fall of the Shah have affected human rights policy in that state He exposes the human rights violations committed by ruling clerics in Iran since the Revolution showing that Iran has behaved remarkably like other authoritarian governments in its human rights abuses For more than two decades Iran has systematically jailed tortured and executed dissidents without due process of law and assassinated political opponents outside state borders Furthermore like other oppressive states Iran has regularly denied and countered the charges made by United Nations human rights monitors defending its acts as authentic cultural practices Throughout his study Afshari addresses Iran s claims of cultural relativism a controversial thesis in the intense ongoing debate over the universality of human rights In prison memoirs he uncovers the actual human rights abuses committed by the Islamic Republic and the sociopolitical conditions that cause or permit them Finally Afshari turns to little read UN reports that reveal that the dynamics of power between UN human rights monitors and Iranian leaders have proven ineffective at enforcing human rights policy in Iran Critically analyzing the state s responses Afshari shows that the Islamic Republic like other oppressive states has regularly denied and countered the charges made by UN human rights monitors and when denials were patently implausible it defended its acts as authentic cultural practices This defense is equally unconvincing since it lacked domestic cultural consensus Taslina Nasrin Peter Priskil,2000 Is Fashion a Woman's Right? Carolyn Beckingham,2005-05-01 Addresses the evidence for the belief that enjoyment of fashion is necessarily inconsistent with feminist values from a feminist point of view This book begins by establishing that many feminists hold this belief and argues that disagreeing does not mean claiming that feminism was unnecessary or that it is rendered redundant by social mores

The Case For Democracy Natan Sharansky,Ron Dermer,2009-02-23 Natan Sharansky believes that the truest expression of democracy is the ability to stand in the middle of a town square and express one s views without fear of imprisonment He should know A dissident in the USSR Sharansky was jailed for nine years for challenging Soviet policies During that time he reinforced his moral conviction that democracy is essential to both protecting human rights and maintaining global peace and security Sharansky was catapulted onto the Israeli political stage in 1996 In the last eight years he has served as a minister in four different Israeli cabinets including a stint as Deputy Prime Minister playing a key role in government decision making from the peace negotiations at Wye to the war against Palestinian terror In his views he has been as consistent as he has been stubborn Tyranny whether in the Soviet Union or the Middle East must always be made to bow before democracy Drawing on a lifetime of experience of democracy and its absence Sharansky believes that only democracy can safeguard the well being of societies For Sharansky when it comes to democracy politics is not a matter of left and right but right and wrong This is a passionately argued book from a man who carries supreme moral authority to make the case he does here that the spread of democracy everywhere is not only possible but also essential to the survival of our civilization His argument is sure to stir controversy on all sides this is arguably the great issue of our times A Selective
