Sheetz-Nguyen, 2012-05-10 This volume seeks to address the questions of poverty charity and public welfare taking the nineteenth century London Foundling Hospital as its focus It delineates the social rules that constructed the gendered world of the Victorian age and uses respectability as a factor for analysis the women who successfully petitioned the Foundling Hospital for admission of their infants were not East End prostitutes but rather unmarried women often domestic servants determined to maintain social respectability The administrators of the Foundling Hospital reviewed over two hundred petitions annually deliberated on about one hundred cases and accepted not more than 25 per cent of all cases Using primary material from the Foundling Hospital s extensive archives this study moves methodically from the broad social and geographical context of London and the Foundling Hospital itself to the micro historical case data of individual mothers and infants The Origins of the Liberal Welfare Reforms 1906-1914 J R Hay, 1983-11-11 This study examines the different approaches of social scientists and historians to the origins of social welfare legislation between 1906 and 1914 From this critical review Mr Hay shows how the Liberal legislation can be seen as one example of a process common to advanced industrial societies He outlines the fundamental economic political ideological and institutional pressures for reform analyses recent research on each aspect and demonstrates the importance of the conversion of a significant proportion of the ruling elite to acceptance of the value of social legislation The individual reforms are examined and assessment made of the particular influences which were important in each case Mr Hay concludes that the origins of the Liberal social legislation are not to be found in piecemeal remedies for specific social problems nor in the vision of a few influential individuals There were he shows competing proposals for social reform at the turn of the century Part of the problem is to explain why the Liberal solutions were adopted but he poses the more fundamental question Why were all the various proposals under discussion In answer he points out that Liberal social reform was only one part of a search for ways of preserving British society from internal and external challenges
