

Nuclear Iran could trigger proliferation

Iran's disputed nuclear programme could prompt a regional cascade of proliferation in the volatile Middle East. In the span of 11 months between February 2006 and January 2007, at least 13 countries announced new or revived plans to pursue or explore civilian nuclear energy

■ Iran: Plans to open Bushehr nuclear reactor in 2009 despite strong international opposition

■ Israel: Considered de facto nuclear weapons state with sizeable arsenal despite policy of "nuclear ambiguity"

■ Syria: Apparent nuclear reactor destroyed by Israeli warplanes in 2007

■ Jordan: Wants to develop nuclear energy by 2015 but stresses will work in accordance with international norms

■ Egypt: Plans for first reactor to be operational by 2017

■ Gulf Cooperation Council: Saudi Arabia, Kuwait, Bahrain, Qatar, UAE and Oman undertaking joint feasibility study with IAEA into nuclear energy programme. UAE has signed nuclear framework agreement with France

■ Turkey: If current nuclear-energy plans are fulfilled, NATO member could have working nuclear reactor by 2020

■ Morocco: Plans first reactor by 2017

■ Algeria: Uranium-rich nation has advanced nuclear-science programme. Unlikely to agree to forgo enrichment and reprocessing processes

■ Tunisia: Undertaking feasibility study for nuclear power plant

■ Yemen: Forced to rescind $15bn plan to construct five nuclear reactors due to economic and security issues

Regional Approaches To Curbing Nuclear Proliferation In The Middle East And South Asia:

Regional Approaches to Curbing Nuclear Proliferation in the Middle East and South Asia Canadian Centre for Global Security,1992 Global and Regional Approaches to Arms Control in the Middle East Gamal M. Selim,2013-07-11

Since the end of the Cold War the Middle East has been the focus of various projects for the establishment of arms control including CBMs regimes Whereas some of these projects were initiated at the global level others were discussed and debated at the regional level This book analyses the global and regional dynamics of arms control in the Middle East in the post Cold War era It examines American and European arms control projects the contexts in which they were presented the reactions of major regional actors and their impacts on arms control efforts in the region It assesses Arab perceptions of the motivations for and constraints on establishing arms control regimes It also explores the prospects of regional arms control in the context of the ongoing Arab Spring with its ramifications for Arab regional politics and provides a new perspective on arms control in the Middle East This volume enriches the ongoing discourse which to date has been dominated by mainly Western perspectives Weapons Proliferation and World Order Brad Roberts,2023-09-29

With the end of the Cold War the subject of weapons proliferation has acquired new interest and prominence So too have questions about the nature of the world order that will succeed the structure of the last fifty years This study explores the connections among these topics It describes the prevailing conceptual model of nuclear proliferation evaluates proliferation s changing technical features considers economic and political factors bearing on its future rate and character and speculates about proliferation s implications on the post cold war world order It also considers the role of international public policy in meeting proliferation s challenges Arguing that updated approaches are needed the analysis emphasizes cooperative over coercive approaches to order It concludes with an assessment of progress to date in meeting these new challenges arguing that the new agenda is only slowly coming into focus Routledge Handbook of Diplomacy and Statecraft B.J.C. McKercher,2012-03-12

Despite post Cold War arguments about their demise Great Powers not only continue to thrive with lesser Powers they form the basis of the constellation of global politics This topical new Handbook illustrates how and why the new international order has evolved and is still evolving since the end of the Cold War through the application of diplomacy and statecraft Including cutting edge contributions from over 40 scholars the handbook is structured around seven sections Context of Diplomacy Great Powers Middle Powers Developing Powers International Organisations and Military Alliances International Economy Issues of Conflict and Co operation Through analysis of a wide range of case studies the Handbook assesses the diplomacy and statecraft of individual powers offering insights into how they function their individual perception of national interests and the roles they play in modern statecraft The contributors also seek to evaluate the organizations and contemporary issues that continue to influence the shaping of the new international order A comprehensive survey of diplomacy across the world this work will be essential reading for scholars and professionals alike Nonproliferation

Norms Maria Rost Rublee, 2010-01-25 Too often our focus on the relative handful of countries with nuclear weapons keeps us from asking an important question Why do so many more states not have such weapons More important what can we learn from these examples of nuclear restraint Maria Rost Rublee argues that in addition to understanding a state's security environment we must appreciate the social forces that influence how states conceptualize the value of nuclear weapons Much of what Rublee says also applies to other weapons of mass destruction as well as national security decision making in general The nuclear nonproliferation movement has created an international social environment that exerts a variety of normative pressures on how state elites and policymakers think about nuclear weapons Within a social psychology framework Rublee examines decision making about nuclear weapons in five case studies Japan Egypt Libya Sweden and Germany In each case Rublee considers the extent to which nuclear forbearance resulted from persuasion genuine transformation of preferences social conformity the desire to maximize social benefits and or minimize social costs without a change in underlying preferences or identification the desire or habit of following the actions of an important other The book offers bold policy prescriptions based on a sharpened knowledge of the many ways we transmit and process nonproliferation norms The social mechanisms that encourage nonproliferation and the regime that created them must be preserved and strengthened Rublee argues for without them states that have exercised nuclear restraint may rethink their choices

Nuclear Weapons Joseph Rotblat, 2021-11-28 This volume of essays a map of the road to zero gives the reader a primer on the current state of nuclear disarmament provides an up to date argument for the merits of a nuclear weapon free world and outlines the steps needed to attain that goal Its editor is Joseph Rotblat the 1995 Nobel Peace Prize winner The volume assesses recent efforts by scholars military leaders and political figures in advocating the elimination of nuclear weapons It brings to focus the major dilemmas of disarmament including verification nuclear theft and diplomatic and security issues and argues for why these obstacles must be overcome Finally a comprehensive review of the steps needed to achieve a nuclear weapon free world is presented Over the past decade the concept of a world free of all nuclear weapons has transformed from a fanciful dream to a subject of serious study and action Will it be possible for the international community to agree not simply to reduce the number of nuclear weapons to low levels but to reduce it to zero This volume of essays a map of the road to zero gives the reader a primer on the current state of nuclear disarmament provides an up to date argument for the merits of a nuclear weapon free world and outlines the steps needed to attain that goal Its editor is Joseph Rotblat the 1995 Nobel Peace Prize winner The volume assesses recent efforts by scholars military leaders and political figures to advocate the elimination of nuclear weapons It brings to focus the major dilemmas of disarmament including verification nuclear theft and diplomatic and security issues and argues for why these obstacles must be overcome Finally a comprehensive review of the steps needed to achieve a nuclear weapon free world is presented Beyond the Handshake Dalia Dassa Kaye, 2012-08-14 Arabs and Israelis have battled one another in political and military arenas seemingly continuously for some fifty years The 1991 Madrid Peace Conference sought to change this pattern launching bilateral and multilateral tracks in the Arab Israeli peace process As a result a broad group of Arab states sat down with Israel and began to cooperate on a wide range of regional issues in what became known as the Middle East multilaterals Yet why did enemies reluctant even to recognize one another choose to cooperate on regional problems And once this process began what drove the parties to continue such cooperation or in some cases halt their cooperative efforts Beyond the Handshake addresses these fundamental questions exploring the origins of the multilaterals and the development of multilateral cooperation in the areas of arms control and regional security economic development water management and the environment Dalia Dassa Kaye challenging conventional concepts of cooperation argues that multilateral cooperation in the Middle East must be appreciated as a process of interaction rather than solely as a set of outcomes Presenting theoretical insights of value to students of regional and international relations Beyond the Handshake provides a unique look at the evolving nature of Arab Israeli relations and exposes the foundation the multilateral peace process laid for future regional cooperation in the Middle East Nuclear and Missile Proliferation United States. Biological Warfare D.B. Rao,2001 The population of the world of today is faced by a challenge that could threaten even its survival in the near future because of biological weapons and warfare Biological weapons are not difficult to produce relatively easy to hide and in the hands of unscrupulous desperate terrorists could cause incredible damage to large populations anywhere in the world The use of biological weapons in war and or otherwise as a means of mass destruction may lead to manmade epidemics that will introduce bioengineered agents into the human populations animals and plants which will have a devastating effect on living organisms and world economy Confronted with this menace the Biological Weapons Convention has singled out biological weapons for categorical prohibition To protect humans animals and plants from microbial diseases a revolutionary approach to develop effective vaccines against epidemic causing agents and certainly against biological weapon agents is needed

Nuclear Proliferation A. M. Babkina,1999 Since the nuclear genie was let out of the bottle nuclear weapons have been the exclusive domain of a select few countries At the dawn of the millennium however the notion that small countries and even individuals may acquire and use them or threaten to is a major concern This annotated bibliography presents 643 entries which deal with dangerous issue The Weapons State David Mutimer,2000 The proliferation of all kinds of weapons is a focal point for international security This work shows how both the language used to talk about weapons proliferation and the practices adopted to respond to it serve to define the problem in ways that promote policy responses doomed to failure Containing the Atom Rudolf Avenhaus,Viktor Aleksandrovich Kremeniuk,Gunnar Sjöstedt,2002-01-01 Containing the Atom is a comprehensive study of the theory and practice of international nuclear negotiations A Zone Free of Weapons of Mass Destruction in the Middle East Jan
