Soumyabrata Mondal* Saheli Kumar and Anand Prasad Mishra**

Abstract : Regional disparity is the outcome of imbalanced regional development that varies from region to region depending on socio-cultural, economic, demographic and infrastructural characteristics. The problem of regional disparities is found not only in India rather it is a global problem. Research on regional disparity is essential for addressing the lacuna in the planning process of development. The present study examines the inter block regional disparities in the level of rural development on the basis of 35 developmental indicators in Hugli District of West Bengal. The study is based on secondary data obtained from District Census Handbook (2011), District Statistical Handbook (2014), District Human Development Report (2011) etc. In order to delineate inter block developmental disparities various statistical methods- Dimension index (Di), Kendall's ranking co-efficient method, Composite Index (Ci), Standard Score (Z score) etc. have been used. Besides to assess the interrelationship among the selected variables with each other Correlation Matrix has been applied. The study reveals that wide disparities in the level of socio-economic, agricultural and infrastructural development exist among different blocks.

Key Words: Regional Disparity, Regional Development, Dimension Index, Correlation Matrix, Hooghly District.

Introduction

Disparity refers to a condition of asymmetry or being unequal or dissimilar within and among the regions. Regional disparity is a worldwide phenomenon. Hansen (1981), thus found growth not appearing everywhere and all at once; it appears in

This book through a bunch of systematic and analytical notes and scientific commentaries acquaints the readers with the innovative methods of regional development measurement of the development in regional scale regional development models and policy prescriptions Conceptualizing development as a regional process is a geographer's brainchild and the sense of region has long been rooted deeply in the fundamental research practices that geographers are accustomed to The geographical perspective of regions entails conceptualizing them nested horizontally as the formal region and hierarchical relationships in space with spatial flows or interactions as the functional region In geographical research the region works as a tool by serving as a statistical unit of analysis More importantly however regions serve as the fundamental spatial units of management and planning by specifying a territory or a part of it for which a certain spatial development or regulatory plan is sought This book addresses the complex processes in different regions of the world particularly South Asia to perceive the regional development planning involved and the sustainable management practiced there The book is a useful resource for socio economic planners policymakers and policy researchers Regional Planning in India Mahesh Chand, V.K. Mamgain,2019-04-11 The book critically examines the high growth trajectory in India particularly since the late 1980s a period which is characterized by increasing inequality Through various studies from the Indian state of Uttar Pradesh a state more populous than Brazil and with a GDP comparable to Bangladesh it sheds light on the link between growth and inequality in emerging economies The slow pace of any upward movement in terms of various development indicators in low income Indian states is due to a number of factors including their historical disadvantages Over a period of time this has resulted in widening disparities both between different regions of these states and between these states and other more prosperous Indian states The book provides a holistic yet critical region wise analysis of the achievements of Uttar Pradesh compared to other states and to India as a whole in the context of indicators of inclusive development namely growth employment poverty infrastructure agriculture industry education and health Based on the latest data and sophisticated analysis methods it assesses inequality and development disparities clearly identifying three major challenges that poorer states face in redressing poverty and expanding inclusive growth increasing economic opportunities empowering poor and marginalised groups to avail new opportunities in a rapidly changing world and ensuring an effective safety net to reduce vulnerability The book suggests strategies for promoting high and sustained economic growth and highlights the significance of broadening social inclusiveness through greater and more rapid access to economic and social opportunities and building strong social safety nets to protect the chronically poor and mitigate their risks and vulnerabilities with the help of good governance and institutions With contributions from leading scholars from the region it is a valuable resource for researchers working in the area of growth and inequality as well as for policy makers from developing economies around the globe
