Reimagining Textuality Textual Studies:

Reimagining Textuality Elizabeth Bergmann Loizeaux, Neil Fraistat, 2002 What happens when in the wake of postmodernism the old enterprise of bibliography textual criticism or scholarly editing crosses paths and processes with visual and cultural studies In Reimagining Textuality major scholars map out in this volume a new discipline drawing on and redirecting a host of subfields concerned with the production distribution reproduction consumption reception archiving editing and sociology of texts The Textuality of Soulwork Timothy Hunt, 2014-03-25 A new critical perspective on Kerouac's work and his textual practices Theses on the Metaphors of Digital-Textual History Martin Paul Eve, 2024-07-16 Digital spaces are saturated with metaphor we have pages sites mice and windows Yet in the world of digital textuality these metaphors no longer function as we might expect Martin Paul Eve calls attention to the digital textual metaphors that condition our experience of digital space and traces their history as they interact with physical cultures Eve posits that digital textual metaphors move through three life phases Initially they are descriptive Then they encounter a moment of fracture or rupture Finally they go on to have a prescriptive life of their own that conditions future possibilities for our text environments even when the metaphors have become untethered from their original intent Why is whitespace white Was the digital page always a foregone conclusion Over a series of theses Eve addresses these and other questions in order to understand the moments when digital textual metaphors break and to show us how it is that our textual softwares become locked into paradigms that no longer make sense Contributing to book history literary studies new media studies and material textual studies Theses on the Metaphors of Digital Textual History provides generative insights into the metaphors that define our digital worlds The Journal of the European Society for Textual Scholarship. Wim Van Mierlo, Alexandre Fachard, 2013 This volume is the 10th issue of Variants In keeping with the mission of the European Society for Textual Scholarship the articles are richly interdisciplinary and transnational They bring to bear a wide range of topics and disciplines on the field of textual scholarship historical linguistics digital scholarly editing classical philology Dutch English Finnish and Swedish Literature publishing traditions in Japan book history cultural history and folklore The questions that are explored what texts are worth editing what is the nature of the relationship between text work document and book what is a critical digital edition all return to fundamental issues that have been at the heart of the editorial discipline for decades With refreshing insight they assess the increasingly hybrid nature of the theoretical considerations and practical methodologies employed by textual scholars while reasserting the relevance and need for producing scholarly editions whether in print or digital and continuing advanced research in bibliographical codes textual transmissions genetic dossiers the fluidity of texts and other such Subjects that connect textual scholarship with broader investigations into our nations literary culture and written heritage

Publishing Blackness George Hutchinson, John Young, 2018-05-09 The first of its kind this volume sets in dialogue African Americanist and textual scholarship exploring a wide range of African American textual history and work The

Cambridge Companion to Textual Scholarship Neil Fraistat, Julia Flanders, 2013-05-09 As more and more of our cultural heritage migrates into digital form and as increasing amounts of literature and art are created within digital environments it becomes more important than ever before for us to understand how the medium affects the text The expert contributors to this volume provide a clear engrossing and accessible insight into how the texts we read and study are created shaped and transmitted to us They outline the theory behind studying texts in many different forms and offer case studies demonstrating key methodologies underlying the vital processes of editing and presenting texts Through their multiple perspectives they demonstrate the centrality of textual scholarship to current literary studies of all kinds and express the sheer intellectual excitement of a crucial scholarly discipline entering a new phase of its existence The American Literature Scholar in the Digital Age Amy E. Earhart, Andrew Jewell, 2010-12-29 By casting the collection explicitly as an outreach to the larger community of Americanists not primarily those who self identify as digital scholars Earhart and Jewell have made an important choice and one that will likely make this a landmark publication Andrew Stauffer University of Virginia The American Literature Scholar in the Digital Age which features a wide range of practitioner scholars is the first of its kind a gathering of people who are expert in American literary studies and in digital technologies scholars uniquely able to draw from experience with building digital resources and to provide theoretical commentary on how the transformation to new technologies alters the way we think about and articulate scholarship in American literature The volume collects articles from those who are involved in tool development usability testing editing and textual scholarship digital librarianship and issues of race and ethnicity in digital humanities while also situating digital humanities work within the larger literary discipline In addition the volume examines the traditional structures of the fields including tenure and promotion criteria modes of scholarly production the skill sets required for scholarship and the training of new scholars The American Literature Scholar in the Digital Age will attract practitioners of digital humanities in multiple fields Americanists who utilize digital materials and those who are intellectually curious about the new movement and materials Amy E Earhart is Assistant Professor in the Department of English at Texas A M University Andrew Jewell is Associate Professor of Digital Projects University Libraries at the University of Nebraska Lincoln Cover art Book background iStockphoto com natashika digitalculturebooks is an imprint of the University of Michigan Press and the Scholarly Publishing Office of the University of Michigan Library dedicated to publishing innovative and accessible work exploring new media and their impact on society culture and scholarly communication Visit the website at www.digitalculture.org The Routledge Handbook of Translation and Methodology Federico Zanettin, Christopher Rundle, 2022-03-10 The Routledge Handbook of Translation and Methodology provides a comprehensive overview of methodologies in translation studies including both well established and more recent approaches The Handbook is organised into three sections the first of which covers methodological issues in the two main paradigms to have emerged from within translation studies namely skopos theory and descriptive translation

Always Already New Lisa Gitelman, 2008-08-29 In Always Already New Lisa Gitelman explores the newness of new media while she asks what it means to do media history Using the examples of early recorded sound and digital networks Gitelman challenges readers to think about the ways that media work as the simultaneous subjects and instruments of historical inquiry Presenting original case studies of Edison's first phonographs and the Pentagon's first distributed digital network the ARPANET Gitelman points suggestively toward similarities that underlie the cultural definition of records phonographic and not at the end of the nineteenth century and the definition of documents digital and not at the end of the twentieth As a result Always Already New speaks to present concerns about the humanities as much as to the emergent field of new media studies Records and documents are kernels of humanistic thought after all part of and party to the cultural impulse to preserve and interpret Gitelman's argument suggests inventive contexts for humanities computing while also offering a new perspective on such traditional humanities disciplines as literary history Making extensive use of archival sources Gitelman describes the ways in which recorded sound and digitally networked text each emerged as local anomalies that were yet deeply embedded within the reigning logic of public life and public memory In the end Gitelman turns to the World Wide Web and asks how the history of the Web is already being told how the Web might also resist history and how using the Web might be producing the conditions of its own historicity

Blake and the City Jennifer Davis Michael, 2006 Though usually classified as a Romantic Blake subverts and dissolves the binaries on which Romanticism turns self and other art and nature country and city Rather than reject the city outright like many of his contemporaries Blake embraces it as the intricate workshop of human imagination Each chapter of this book focuses on a specific text of Blake s that illustrates a particular conception of metaphorical embodiment of the city These shifting metaphors emphasize the construction of all human environments and the need for imaginative labor to build and interpret them This study seeks to bridge a gap between transcendent and historicist readings of Blake while at the same time challenging assumptions that still color our view of the city in the twenty first century Jennifer Davis Michael is Associate Professor of English at the University of the South

Digital Scholarly Editions Beyond Text Tessa Gengnagel,2024-02-07 Scholarly editions contextualize our cultural heritage Traditionally methodologies from the field of scholarly editing are applied to works of literature e g in order to trace their genesis or present their varied history of transmission What do we make of the variance in other types of cultural heritage How can we describe record and reproduce it systematically From medieval to modern times from image to audiovisual media the book traces discourses across different disciplines in order to develop a conceptual model for scholarly editions on a broader scale By doing so it also delves into the theory and philosophy of the digital humanities as such

The Late Cantos of Ezra Pound Michael Kindellan,2017-10-19 Drawing extensively on archival research The Late Cantos of Ezra Pound critically explores the textual history of Pound s late verse namely Section Rock Drill 1955 and Thrones 1959 Examining unpublished letters draft manuscripts and other prepublication material this book addresses the composition revision and dissemination of these difficult texts in order to shed new light on their significance to Pound s wider project his methods and techniques and the structures of authority literary and political that govern the meaning of his poetry Illustrated by reproductions of archival documents The Late Cantos of Ezra Pound is an innovative new study of one of the most important poets of the 20th century

The Complete Poetry of Percy Bysshe Shelley Percy Bysshe Shelley,2005-01-21 Winners of an Honorable Mention from the Modern Language Association s Prize for a Distinguished Scholarly Edition Writing to his publisher in 1813 Shelley expressed the hope that two of his major works should form one volume nearly two centuries later the second volume of the Johns Hopkins edition of The Complete Poetry fulfills that wish for the first time This volume collects two important pieces Queen Mab and The Esdaile Notebook Privately issued in 1813 Queen Mab was perhaps Shelley's most intellectually ambitious work articulating his views of science politics history religion society and individual human relations Subtitled A Philosophical Poem With Notes it became his most influential and pirated poem during much of the nineteenth century a favorite among reformers and radicals The Esdaile Notebook a cycle of fifty eight early poems exhibits an astonishing range of verse forms Unpublished until 1964 this sequence is vital in understanding how the poet mastered his craft As in the acclaimed first volume these works have been critically edited by Donald H Reiman and Neil Fraistat The poems are presented as Shelley intended with textual variants included in footnotes Following the poems are extensive discussions of the circumstances of their composition and the influences they reflect their publication or circulation by other means their reception at the time of publication and in the decades since their re publication both authorized and unauthorized and their place in Shelley's intellectual and aesthetic development

John Clare Simon Kövesi, 2017-08-02 This book investigates what it is that makes John Clare's poetic vision so unique and asks how we use Clare for contemporary ends It explores much of the criticism that has appeared in response to his life and work and asks hard questions about the modes and motivations of critics and editors Clare is increasingly regarded as having been an environmentalist long before the word appeared this book investigates whether this green rush to place him as a radical proto ecologist does any disservice to his complex positions in relation to social class work agriculture poverty and women This book attempts to unlock Clare's own theorisations and practices of what we might now call an ecological consciousness and works out how his ecocentric mode might relate to that of other Romantic poets Finally this book asks how we might treat Clare as our contemporary while still being attentive to the peculiarities of his unique historical circumstances

In the Frame Jane Hedley, Nick Halpern, Willard Spiegelman, 2009 The subject of In the Frame is poetic ekphrasis poems whose starting point or source of inspiration is a work of visual art The authors of these sixteen essays several of whom are poets as well as critics have a twofold purpose calling attention to the contribution women poets have made to this important genre of poetic writing and re thinking ekphrastic poetry's motives and purposes From Marianne Moore and Elizabeth Bishop to Mary Jo Salter C D Wright and Susan Wheeler many of our best women poets have done important work in this genre and when they describe confront or speak for an image that is itself wordless their motives are not only formal but aesthetic Their poems also raise important questions from a perspective that is often but not always gender inflected about how art is made and displayed experienced and valued celebrated and commodified Jane Hedley is K Laurence Stapleton Professor of English at Bryn Mawr College Willard Spiegelman is the Hughes Professor of English at Southern Methodist University and editor in chief of the Southwest Review Nick Halpern is an associate professor in the English Department at North Carolina State University

Digital Scholarly Editing Matthew James Driscoll, Elena Pierazzo, 2016-08-15 This volume presents the state of the art in digital scholarly editing Drawing together the work of established and emerging researchers it gives pause at a crucial moment in the history of technology in order to offer a sustained reflection on the practices involved in producing editing and reading digital scholarly editions and the theories that underpin them The unrelenting progress of computer technology has changed the nature of textual scholarship at the most fundamental level the way editors and scholars work the tools they use to do such work and the research questions they attempt to answer have all been affected Each of the essays in Digital Scholarly Editing approaches these changes with a different methodological consideration in mind Together they make a compelling case for re evaluating the foundation of the discipline one that tests its assertions against manuscripts and printed works from across literary history and the globe The sheer breadth of Digital Scholarly Editing along with its successful integration of theory and practice help redefine a rapidly changing field as its firm grounding and future looking ambit ensure the work will be an indispensable starting point for further scholarship This collection is essential reading for editors scholars students and readers who are invested in the future of textual scholarship and the digital humanities
