Singapore Changing Landscapes:

Changing Landscapes of Singapore Hamzah Muzaini, Choon-Piew Pow, Harvey Neo, Shirlena Huang, Noorashikin Abdul Rahman Abdul Rahman, Junjia Ye, Karen P.Y. Lai, T.C. Chang, Harnng Luh Sin, Pui Leng Woo, Brendan Cheong, Andy Chong, Alvin Kok, Matthew Lam, Tu Guang Tan, 2013-08-26 Changing Landscapes of Singapore illuminates both the social and the physical terrains of modern Singapore. Geographers use the term landscape to refer to visible surfaces and to the spatial dimension of social relations. Landscapes arise from particular historical circumstances and in turn help shape social arrangements and possible courses of future development. The authors describe how the settings inhabited by various social groups in Singapore affect life experiences and explore the impact of broader regional and international forces on Singapore. Written for non-specialists, the volume reflects fresh perspectives from the scholarship of Singaporean academics. Their work is sensitive to historical and geographical trends in the region and also engages with broader theoretical themes. Changing Landscapes of Singapore Peggy Teo, 2004 Singapore, Changing Landscapes V. Gopalakrishnan, Ananda Perera, 1983

Singapore, Changing Landscapes, 1983 Landscape Planning in Singapore Edmund Waller, 2001 Landscape architecture plays a vital role in creating Singapore's Garden City image. This book helps to explain the Republic's successful implementation of environmental policies since independence to achieve its present day image. There are ten chapters in the book. The first three cover background information, the historical setting and the work of the current government. The approach is to evaluate different plans against natural, social and sensory criteria. The next six chapters are case studies selected to show landscape planning policies in more detail. The last chapter includes a discussion of comments made about Singapore's landscapes followed by a summary. The book is illustrated by a profusion of maps, diagrams and plans.

Physical Adjustments in a Changing Landscape Avijit Gupta, John Pitts, 1992 The Changing Landscape of Global Financial Governance and the Role of Soft Law Friedl Weiss, Armin Kammel, 2015-05-26 The Changing Landscape of Global Financial Governance and the Role of Soft Law provides interdisciplinary perspectives on the changing landscape of global financial governance by exploring the impact and role of soft law directly or as a precursor of hard law pertaining to financial governance. Since the shaping of financial governance impacts national, regional and global levels of regulation, different views and arguments contribute to the ongoing discussions about financial regulation. Against this background, this book brings together perspectives of economists and lawyers who have not rallied to one or the other popular call for more regulation as a panacea for the prevention of future global financial crises, calls which have all but drowned out more nuanced scientific debates. Instead, their analysis of aspects of remedial regulatory policy prescriptions already made or proposed demonstrates that carefully designed soft law can be deployed as a valuable method or tool of mediation between the unrestrained autonomy of dysfunctional markets and overzealously crafted hard law. Singapore Housing Belinda K. P. Yuen, Ho Pin Teo, Giok Ling Ooi, 1998-12-31 Singapore housing has often been held up as a success story, especially the development of its public housing This book aims to document the research and publication on this aspect of Singapore's development Covering the periods prior to and after 1960 the annotated bibliography brings together in one volume both published and unpublished works

The Changing Landscape of International Schooling Tristan Bunnell,2014-06-27

The number of English medium international schools that deliver their curriculum wholly or partly in the English language reportedly reached 6 000 in January 2012 It is anticipated this number will rise to over 11 000 schools by 2022 employing over 500 000 English speaking teachers The number of children being taught in these schools reportedly reached 3 million in March 2012 Alongside this phenomenal growth the landscape of international schooling has changed fundamentally moving away from largely serving the children of the expat and globally mobile business community and Embassies towards serving the local children of the wealthy and emerging middle class This has been reflected in the shift away from non profit ownership by the school community towards ownership by for profit companies and proprietors In this book Tristan Bunnell explores the changing landscape of international schooling and discusses the implications of these changes both in terms of theoretically conceptualizing the scale nature and purpose of the field and in terms of practically serving and administering the growing industry that international education is becoming The Changing Landscape of International Schooling will be worthwhile reading for researchers academics and students of international schooling leaders and teachers in international schools and those interested in the broader development of international education

Urban Landscapes in

High-Density Cities Bianca Maria Rinaldi,Puay Yok Tan,2019-06-04 The positive effects of urban green spaces are well known ranging from the promotion of health support of biodiversity to climate regulation However the practical implementation of urban landscapes is less discussed How can we make these spaces functional economically feasible and inclusive especially as cities become more diverse The publication explores strategies to reconcile the various demands such as food production resilience and nature conservation Indeed urban landscapes have to be restorative ecological and aesthetically pleasing at the same time This is a particular challenge in high density cities like Singapore Seoul or New York where space is a scarce commodity The continuing growth of the worldwide urban population imbues the topic with a special urgency

Urban Forests, Trees, and Greenspace L. Anders Sandberg,Adrina Bardekjian,Sadia Butt,2014-07-25 Urban forests trees and greenspace are critical in contemporary planning and development of the city Their study is not only a question of the growth and conservation of green spaces but also has social cultural and psychological dimensions This book brings a perspective of political ecology to the complexities of urban trees and forests through three themes human agency in urban forests and greenspace arboreal and greenspace agency in the urban landscape and actions and interventions in the urban forest Contributors include leading authorities from North America and Europe from a range of disciplines including forestry ecology geography landscape design municipal planning environmental policy and environmental history

Singapore as an International Financial Centre J. J. Woo,2016-07-28 This book provides an analysis of Singapore's development and success as an international financial centre IFC Chapters demonstrate how Singapore plays a critical role in both Asian and global financial markets despite its relatively small geographic size The author focuses specifically on the factors that have contributed to the city state s success and discusses the policy lessons that can be derived from it The book describes the historical spatial political and policy factors that contributed to Singapore s development as a leading Asian financial centre and global city and will be of interest to both policy scholars and practitioners Constructing Singapore

Public Space Limin Hee,2016-09-21 This book presents possible alternatives and interpretations to the well established notion in the mostly western discourse on public space The discourse on public space as understood in the democratic rationalist tradition when applied to the Singaporean public space would offer much criticism but would not be adequate in identifying alternative processes that allow for transformative potentials in public space Thus said the objectives of this book are 1 To develop a conceptual frame of reference to construct the discourse on Singapore public space 2 To form a preliminary model of Singapore public space through analyzing case studies 3 To understand the modes methods of production and representation of these public spaces within the rapidly changing urban context 4 To situate these constructions of public space and its possible trajectories within the larger discourse on public space and to examine the viability of such a construction and interpretive model of public space The Singapore Water Story Cecilia Tortajada,Yugal Joshi,Asit K. Biswas,2013 Singapore s journey during the past 45 years is an outstanding example that in spite of multiple hardships pragmatic policies clear visions long term planning forward looking strategies and political will as well as a relentless urge to improve can result in strong foundations for sustainable development This book describes the journey of Singapore s development and the fundamental role that water has had in shaping it What makes this case so unique is that the quest for self sufficiency in terms of water availability in a fast changing urban context has been crucial to the way development policies and agendas have been planned throughout the years The authors analyse plans policies institutions laws and regulations water demand and water supply strategies water quality and water conservation considerations partnerships and importance of the media They assess overall how all these issues have evolved in response to the dynamic needs of the city state The study of Singapore shows how a dynamic society can address development without losing its focus on the environment In the city state environmental concerns in general and water concerns in particular have played a major role in its transformation from a third world to a first world country How and why this transformation took place is the main focus of this authoritative book Singapore Rodolphe de Koninck,Julie Drolet,Marc Girard,2008 Since 1965 when it became a fully independent city state Singapore has been an effervescent laboratory of economic social and environmental transformation and innovation The government of the small island republic which currently covers about 720 sq km has thoroughly transformed and extended the lands under its control to serve the needs and ambitions of its citizens The systematic overhaul of the Singaporean environment reflects a deliberate policy of social transformation a revolution controlled and monitored from above While Singapore's achievements in the realm of economic and social development have been carefully observed little has been said about the close connections between these accomplishments and territorial management Based on an extended series of diachronic maps this book illustrates the nature and depth of the territorial changes that have occurred since the early 1960s The commentary that accompanies the maps shows how Singapore has used this ongoing territorial transformation to support its position in a globalized economy and also as a tool of social and political management

China's Rise In Mainland Asean: New Dynamics And Changing Landscape Suthiphand Chirathivat,Buddhagarn Rutchatorn,Anupama

Devendrakumar,2019-01-15 The rationale for this volume on China s Rise in Mainland ASEAN New Dynamics and Changing Landscapes stems from the rise in recent years of China ASEAN s giant neighbor and in its wake the significant economic political and socio cultural developments in the ASEAN region In the last two decades China has successfully established itself as a powerful regional and global power surpassing Japan in 2010 as the second largest economy of the world and has become a major player in the affairs of South East Asian nations At the same time while China s spectacular growth makes it vulnerable in terms of expanding its global dependence it also makes its neighbours equally vulnerable due to their growing dependence on China All of these developments have led China through its evolving foreign policy to exert considerable influence on its immediate ASEAN neighbours in many complex ways While the China ASEAN bilateral relations are soaring there are growing concerns among ASEAN member countries about the nature of China s engagement with ASEAN In this context this book focuses on China s influence on mainland ASEAN countries Cambodia Lao PDR Myanmar Thailand and Vietnam China s Rise in Mainland ASEAN New Dynamics and Changing Landscapes contributes useful insights rich discussions as well as the debates relevant to building a knowledge base about and better understanding of China s rising influence in mainland ASEAN
