Mark Manders: Singing Sailors Marije Langelaar, Laura J. Hoptman, 2002      Mark Manders Mark Manders, Laura J. Hoptman, Peter MacCallum, Rob Kuitenbrouwer, Marije Langelaar, Roger Willems, Josh Dillon, York University (Toronto, Ont.). Art Gallery, 2002 This is a study of the Korean War of 1950-1953 from the inside the nuts and bolts of armed conflict The perspective is American with the principal focus on the relationships of the people involved Koreans versus Koreans Americans and Koreans Americans and Chinese and the U S and its allies The lives of ordinary soldiers are examined U S forces with attention paid to the other side as well A major development in American ranks was the effective elimination of racial segregation At home there were surveys of Americans opinions about the war The book examines such important aspects of military operations as supplies equipment and weapons tactics and strategy intelligence and psychological warfare Also studied is the vexing matter of prisoners of war on both sides Finally there is an effort to fit Korea into the generalities of American military experience in Asia from the war with Japan to Vietnam      Singing sailors Mark Manders, Marije Langelaar, 2003      Unfolding the Cards Ian Damerell, 2015-03-03 These essays attempt to confront the effect of years of postmodernity and its promotion of individuality at the cost of solidarity and communal spirit In the wake of this it suggests possible frameworks for an art study that restores a certain focus on communal spirit It proposes too that art study's fragile position in contemporary society is a consequence of over commercialisation and its resultant surface values Consumerist and corporate ideology encourage the consumer individual's self realisation seemingly divorced from communal interests Within this isolation lies the potential breakdown of ethics Therefore I dream of a kinder society i.e. one where we are engaged in realising the community as its citizens This is not blind obedience but in a spirit of contributing to a whole society More specifically it means allowing and to a degree maintaining art study as a sphere of possibilities for budding citizen artists It is envisaging art study as a discursive arena and creating an academic space that allows for art's main contribution the dislodging of the so called proper i.e. entrenched doctrine I believe that art study can contribute to the improving of society in the main because art enacts a different sharing of the sensible      Life on Mars Douglas Fogle, 2008 Catalog of an exhibition held May 3 2008 Jan 11 2009      Sculptural Sphere Rainald Schumacher, 2004 The multi dimensionality of our daily experiences is reduced by the television and internet media to the surface of a flat screen Thus reality loses more and more of its spatial qualities even as theoretical physicists develop increasingly sophisticated models to better understand the structures of time and space As they employ an ever growing number of dimensions in this endeavor the mode of our sensual reception continues to become as flat and one dimensional as the monitors of the computers at which we work Throughout the history of art sculpture has been prized as one of the foremost artistic expressions in western culture one that employs far less illusionism than for instance painting The works included in Sculptural Sphere are analyzed based on their spatial parameters Their dimensions prove useful in defining the sculptural sphere that surrounds our bodies as well as our

reception of our multi dimensional spatial environment      The Absence of Mark Manders Mark Manders, Kunstverein Hannover, 2007 For this extensive series of European exhibitions of Mark Mander s work to date he has arranged his installations around a central space which combined with works from 1990 to 2007 enable the presentation of a comprehensive overview of his existing oeuvre      Bronze Frits Scholten, Michael Wayne Cole, 2005 Tracing the origin of these ideas in religion alchemy astrology and political ideology the catalogue explores the association of bronze with perceptions about nature and cycles of life and death BOOK JACKET      Formes de Cohabitation Roel Arkesteijn, 2006
