Curfew José Donoso, 1994 Curfew takes place during one twenty four hour period in January 1985 Matilde Neruda widow of the Nobel Prize winning poet has just passed away and various factions are rallying to turn the event to their advantage for Pinochet's junta it represents a chance to assert political authority while for the intellectuals who had basked in the Nerudas light it is an opportunity to grab the spoils of the estate Against this backdrop of complex often conflicting motivations Donoso weaves a portrait of a society struggling to fashion a daily existence for itself and of an intelligentsia vainly attempting to salvage the remnants of glory days long gone by But Curfew is also a story of the tragic love between Judit Torre an upper middle class radical who wants to escape her bitter past and Matilde Ungo Vera a native son returning after a successful career as a European pop singer In the zone between documentary like realism and grotesque absurdity José Donoso evokes the suffocating atmosphere of a country under dictatorship and its quietly devastating effect on the actions of those who live there

Then and Now Floyd C. Watkins, 2021-12-14 Taking a new approach to the study of Robert Penn Warren's imposing and still growing poetic canon Floyd C Watkins has found in the poems what he describes as a poetic autobiography unparalleled in American letters Drawing on interviews with Warren members of his family and contemporaries from his hometown but keeping the poetry itself constantly at the center of his vision Watkins shows how the poetry has grown from the experience of the boy and man and from his contemplation of his family's and his country's history He traces through the poems a family chronicle moving from the frontier to the late twentieth century and set in a landscape that is clearly derived from the Kentucky of Warren's boyhood The little town of Guthrie divided by railroad tracks with its two burial grounds for whites and blacks becomes in the poems a town of both memory and imagination peopled by characters many of whom are recognizable to Warren's contemporaries The images of a black man fleeing through swampy woods outside the town of a grayfaced man who led a lynch mob of a mad druggist making a list of people to poison all have counterparts in Guthrie's history Then and Now is a revealing and provocative study of the poetic process in a poet who is thought of as the originator of the biographical fallacy My Dad's In Heaven... Now What? My Life, My Gift, My Grief Lisa Notarino O'Connor, 2024-09-30 In My Dad's In Heaven Now What My Life My Gift My Grief Lisa Notarino O'Connor a spiritual medium shares her deeply personal journey through her amazing life growing up Italian to struggling with deep grief after the loss of her father Known for helping others connect with their departed loved ones Lisa faces her own emotional struggle as she longs to feel the presence of her father again Through candid reflections and poignant experiences she explores the limitations of mediumship when it comes to her own family grappling with the question Why is it so difficult to connect with those we love most This heartfelt narrative offers a rare glimpse into the human side of a medium's life blending the spiritual with the everyday Alongside her story Lisa provides readers with a grief journal to help them find healing and comfort whether they believe in the afterlife or simply seek solace in their grief My Dad's In Heaven Now What is a touching exploration of love loss and the eternal bond that connects us to those we have lost

Destiny Has No Favorites Dieter Klett, 2012-10 This is a story of a person arriving in this country in this country and in this city where he eventually ended up in the middle of the night not knowing a soul in Canada and having just about 10 in his pocket Using my imagination I let this imaginary person Peter show the reader the adventures and misadventures he and eventually his family experienced in this for him so strange and at the same time exciting new place I decided to cover a period of roughly the first 25 years Peter spent in his new chosen homeland I could have continued showing the development of his and his family's life after the 25 year period but I decided against that I wanted this story to have closure Another possible book would show the reader how Peter's life continued after 25 years and would show us how he and his loved ones continued with their lives with its ups and downs The gist of the events occurred from the mid 1950's until the early 1980's I actually completed this book in 1982 It was lying in my filing cabinet for 30 years because I never had either the time or inclination to publish in writing The title of this publication Destiny has no Favorites is correct Destiny or fate has no favorites and we all are at the mercy of this destiny destined for us by that higher power we may call God Nature the Report of the ... Senate Committee to Inquire Into Alleged Frauds and Violence in the Elections of 1878 ,1879 Mrs. Craddock William Somerset Maugham,2015-01-23 Example in this ebook Chapter I This book might be called also The Triumph of Love Bertha was looking out of window at the bleakness of the day The sky was sombre and the clouds heavy and low the neglected carriage drive was swept by the bitter wind and the elm trees that bordered it were bare of leaf their naked branches shivering with horror of the cold It was the end of November and the day was utterly cheerless The dying year seemed to have cast over all Nature the terror of death the imagination would not bring to the wearied mind thoughts of the merciful sunshine thoughts of the Spring coming as a maiden to scatter from her baskets the flowers and the green leaves Bertha turned round and looked at her aunt cutting the leaves of a new Spectator Wondering what books to get down from Mudie s Miss Ley read the autumn lists and the laudatory expressions which the adroitness of publishers extracts from unfavourable reviews You re very restless this afternoon Bertha she remarked in answer to the girl s steady gaze I think I shall walk down to the gate You ve already visited the gate twice in the last hour Do you find in it something alarmingly novel Bertha did not reply but turned again to the window the scene in the last two hours had fixed itself upon her mind with monotonous accuracy What are you

thinking about Aunt Polly she asked suddenly turning back to her aunt and catching the eyes fixed upon her I was thinking that one must be very penetrative to discover a woman's emotions from the view of her back hair Bertha laughed I don't think I have any emotions to discover I feel she sought for some way of expressing the sensation I feel as if I should like to take my hair down Miss Ley made no rejoinder but looked again at her paper She hardly wondered what her niece meant having long ceased to be astonished at Bertha's ways and doings indeed her only surprise was that they never sufficiently corroborated the common opinion that Bertha was an independent young woman from whom anything might be expected In the three years they had spent together since the death of Bertha's father the two women had learned to tolerate one another extremely well Their mutual affection was mild and perfectly respectable in every way becoming to fastidious persons bound together by ties of convenience and decorum Miss Ley called to the deathbed of her brother in Italy made Bertha's acquaintance over the dead man's grave and the girl was then too old and of too independent character to accept a stranger's authority nor had Miss Ley the smallest desire to exert authority over any one She was a very indolent woman who wished nothing more than to leave people alone and be left alone by them But if it was obviously her duty to take charge of an orphan niece it was also an advantage that Bertha was eighteen and but for the conventions of decent society could very well take charge of herself Miss Ley was not unthankful to a merciful Providence on the discovery that her ward had every intention of going her own way and none whatever of hanging about the skirts of a maiden aunt who was passionately devoted to her liberty They travelled on the Continent seeing many churches pictures and cities in the examination of which their chief aim appeared to be to conceal from one another the emotions they felt Like the Red Indian who will suffer the most horrid tortures without wincing Miss Ley would have thought it highly disgraceful to display feeling at some touching scene She used polite cynicism as a cloak for sentimentality laughing that she might not cry and her want of originality herein the old repetition of Grimaldi's doubleness made her snigger at herself She felt that tears were unbecoming and foolish Weeping makes a fright even of a good looking woman she said but if she is ugly they make her simply repulsive To be continue in this ebook Once a Week Eneas Sweetland Dallas,1871 Tait's Edinburgh Magazine ,1858
