Relativity And Geometry Foundations Philosophy Of Science Technology Ser:

Relativity and Geometry Roberto Torretti, 1996-01-01 Early in this century it was shown that the new non Newtonian physics known as Einstein's Special Theory of Relativity rested on a new non Euclidean geometry which incorporated time and space into a unified chronogeometric structure This high level study elucidates the motivation and significance of the changes in physical geometry brought about by Einstein in both the first and the second phase of Relativity After a discussion of Newtonian principles and 19th century views on electrodynamics and the aether the author offers illuminating expositions of Einstein's electrodynamics of moving bodies Minkowski spacetime Einstein's quest for a theory of gravity gravitational geometry the concept of simultaneity time and causality and other topics An important Appendix designed to define spacetime curvature considers differentiable manifolds fiber bundles linear connections and useful formulae Relativity continues to be a major focus of interest for physicists mathematicians and philosophers of science This highly regarded work offers them a rich historico critical exposition emphasizing geometrical ideas of the elements of the Special and General Theory of Relativity Scientific and Technical Books and Serials in Print, 1989 Subject Guide to Books in Print, 1993 The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 2000 Books in Series, 1985 Vols for 1980 issued in three parts Series Authors and Titles American Book Publishing Record, 2006 Forthcoming Books Rose Army, 2003-04 Books in Print, 1993-09 V 1 Authors A D v 2 Authors E K v 3 Authors L R v 4 S Z v 5 Titles A D v 6 Titles E K v 7 Titles L Q v 8 Titles R Z v 9 Out of print out of stock indefinitely v 10 Publishers Black Metropolis St. Clair Drake, Horace Roscoe Cayton, 1962 Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists, 1959-02 The Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists is the premier public resource on scientific and technological developments that impact global security Founded by Manhattan Project Scientists the Bulletin's iconic Doomsday Clock stimulates solutions for a safer world Einstein's Clocks and Poincare's Maps Peter Galison, 2013-10-20 More than a history of science it is a tour de force in the genre New York Times Book Review A dramatic new account of the parallel quests to harness time that culminated in the revolutionary science of relativity Einstein's Clocks Poincaré's Maps is part history part science part adventure part biography part meditation on the meaning of modernity In Galison's telling of science the meters and wires and epoxy and solder come alive as characters along with physicists engineers technicians and others Galison has unearthed fascinating material New York Times Clocks and trains telegraphs and colonial conquest the challenges of the late nineteenth century were an indispensable real world background to the enormous theoretical breakthrough of relativity And two giants at the foundations of modern science were converging step by step on the answer Albert Einstein an young obscure German physicist experimenting with measuring time using telegraph networks and with the coordination of clocks at train stations and the renowned mathematician Henri Poincaré president of the French Bureau of Longitude mapping time coordinates across continents Each found that to understand the newly global world he had to determine whether there existed a pure time in which simultaneity was absolute or whether time was relative Esteemed historian of science Peter Galison has culled new information from rarely seen photographs forgotten patents and unexplored archives to tell the fascinating story of two scientists whose concrete professional preoccupations engaged them in a silent race toward a theory that would conquer the empire of time

Literature & Theology in Colonial New England Kenneth Ballard Murdock, 1949 Foundations of Space-Time Theories John Earman, Clark N. Glymour, John J. Stachel, 1977-11-25 Foundations of Space Time Theories was first published in 1977 Minnesota Archive Editions uses digital technology to make long unavailable books once again accessible and are published unaltered from the original University of Minnesota Press editions The essays in this volume are based on the papers given at a conference on the philosophical aspects of the space time theory held under the auspices of the Minnesota Center for Philosophy of Science Studies in Iconology Erwin Panofsky, 1967 Books in Print Supplement , 1985

Department of Bibliography, 1978 Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists , 1979-03 To Judge and To Justify Steve Fuller, 2024-10-28 This book argues that judging and justifying are the two skills that specifically require academic training In the current times where the value of a university degree is increasingly questioned it s important to emphasize the significance of these skills This volume addresses that universities are not necessarily stressing these skills preferring instead to focus on the delivery of content and the provision of credentials Its main focus is on articulating the positive case for the university s focus on judging and explaining as its core transferable skills It involves examining the historical and philosophical case for this claim canvassing arguments made and the example set by Plato Francis Bacon Immanuel Kant William Whewell Ludwig Wittgenstein Paul Feyerabend Richard Rorty John Rawls and Robert Nozick as well as considering how they might be realized in today s world This book extends the arguments in Fuller s recent book Back to the University s Future The Second Coming of Humboldt Springer 2023 Relativity: The Theory and Its Philosophy Roger B. Angel, 2014-05-20 Relativity The Theory and its Philosophy provides a completely self contained treatment of the philosophical foundations of the theory of relativity It also surveys the most essential mathematical techniques and concepts that are indispensable to an understanding of the foundations of both the special and general theories of relativity In short the book includes a crash course in applied mathematics ranging from elementary trigonometry to the classical tensor calculus Comprised of 11 chapters this book begins with an introduction to fundamental mathematical concepts such as sets relations and functions N tuples vectors and matrices and vector algebra and calculus The discussion then turns to the concept of relativity and elementary foundations of Newtonian mechanics as well as the principle of special relativity and its interpretation by means of empiricism and rationalism Subsequent chapters focus on the status of the doctrine of conventionalism in the theory of special relativity the commensurability of classical and relativistic mechanics mathematical foundations of special relativistic physics and the classical or Newtonian theory of gravitation The principle of general covariance and its relation to the principle of general relativity are also examined The final chapter addresses the fundamental question as to the actual information concerning the structure of spacetime that is conveyed to us through the theory of general relativity This monograph will be of interest to students teachers practitioners and researchers in physics mathematics and philosophy
