Singing Cormorant:

Singing Cormorant William Mann, 2004-10 Singing Cormorant is a collection of poems surrounding a short story describing events and experiences that occur during a lifetime. The book is divided into five chapters. The first four chapters describe how powerless we are in controlling the passing of time, bringing personal sadness as loved ones are left behind as well as happiness and excitement as new horizons are discovered. In the middle of the book is the chapter aCormorants Never Sing that tells the story of a Welsh man who realises that his language has become extinct in his own lifetime and that every song and every poem ever written for the last two thousand years will never be sung or spoken in that language again. The final section is a collection of poems which pursue the lament of the first four chapters but are commenting on the misery and suffering of the powerless wherever they might be in the world. Listening for the Heartbeat of Being Brent

Wood, Mark Dickinson, 2015-11-01 Poet, philosopher, translator, typographer and cultural historian Robert Bringhurst is a modern day Renaissance man. He has forged a career from diverse but interwoven vocations, finding ways to make accessible to contemporary readers the wisdom of poets and thinkers from ancient Greece, the Middle East, Asia and North America. First Nations. This collection shows the ways in which his industry standard textbook The Elements of Typographic Style, his remarkable translations of Haida oral epics and his experimental and traditional poetry and prose form a single coherent project. Listening for the Heartbeat of Being brings together a range of literary scholars, poets, journalists and publishers to comment on Bringhurst's far-reaching body of work. The essays include a comprehensive biography of Bringhurst, first-hand accounts of his book design and production efforts, an analysis of his ground-breaking polyphonic performance poems and re-considerations of the Masterworks of the Classical Haida Mythtellers translation trilogy. Experienced Bringhurst scholars join well-known writers such as Dennis Lee and Margaret Atwood to create a multi-dimensional view of Bringhurst's career. Guided by the simple faith that everything is connected to everything else, Bringhurst's ability to listen closely to the great minds of many cultures and represent their voices pragmatically is, as this diverse and insightful book shows, of greater interest than ever in a world facing unprecedented ecological crisis and intensive cultural evolution. Contributors include Margaret Atwood, Nicholas Bradley, University of Victoria, Crispin Elsted, Barbarian Press, Clare Goulet, Mount St Vincent University, Iain Higgins, University of Victoria, Ishmael Hope, Peter Koch, Peter Koch Printers, Dennis Lee, Scott McIntyre, Katherine McLeod, Concordia University, Kevin McNeilly, University of British Columbia, Kawan Sang and Erica Wagner.

The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a masterful and gripping novel that will keep you speculating until the very end. The novel is a cautionary tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
