Muslims And Others:

Muslims and Others in Early Islamic Society Robert Hoyland, 2021-03-24 The interaction between Muslims and the other religious denominations of the Middle East in the period 620-1020 is the subject of this volume. This is arguably the single most important issue in the history of the early Islamic Middle East since the Muslims were initially a minority in the lands that they had conquered and so had to reach some modus vivendi with the various religious communities in their realm. Fifteen articles by leading scholars shed light on this process from a number of different perspectives: historical, conceptual, legal, social, and theological. An introduction both gives an overview and examines possibilities for future research. The period under study is demarcated at one end by the Prophet Muhammad d. 632, who as the Qur'an tells us had to deal with Jews, Christians, and polytheists. At the other end lies the great legal-political thinker Manardi d. ca. 1020, by whose time the Middle East had become substantially Islamicised.

Muslims and Others Jacques Waardenburg, 2003 Jacques Waardenburg writes about relations between Muslims and adherents of other religions. He shows how Muslims perceived non-Muslims, particularly Christianity and the West, but also Judaism and Asian religions in many centuries of religious dialogue and tensions.

Muslims and Others Jacques Waardenburg, 2008-08-22 Jacques Waardenburg writes about relations between Muslims and adherents of other religions. After illuminating various aspects of Islam from an outside point of view in his volume Islam published in 2002, by de Gruyter his second volume changes the perspective. The author shows how Muslims perceived non-Muslims, particularly Christianity and the West, but also Judaism and Asian religions in many centuries of religious dialogue and tensions. The main focus is on Muslim minorities in Western countries and on religious dialogues of which he provides first-hand knowledge through his participation in several important dialogue meetings. After 50 years of research and personal involvement, Waardenburg aims at a mutual understanding and reconciliation of Islam and other religions, particularly Christianity, both on an international level as well as on a more local level where old and new Christian and Muslim Europeans live together.

Muslims and Others in Sacred Space Margaret Jean Cormack, 2013 This collection of seven essays offers wide-ranging and in-depth studies of locations sacred to Muslims, of the histories of these sites, real or imagined, and of the ways in which Muslims and members of other religions have interacted peaceably in sacred times and spaces. The volume begins with a discussion by David Damrel of the official hostile Muslim attitude toward practices at shrines in South Asia. Lance Laird then presents a case study of a shrine holy to Palestinian Christians who identify its patron as St. George as well as to Palestinian Muslims who believe that its patron is al-Khadr. Ethel Sara Wolper illustrates how al-Khadr's patronage was used also to show Muslim connections to Christian sites in Anatolia, and JoAnn Gross's essay explores oral and written traditions linking shrines in Tajikistan to traditional Muslim locations and figures. A chapter by the late Thomas Sizgorich examines how Christian and Muslim authors used monastic settings to reimagine the relationship between the two religions, and Alexandra Cuffel offers a study of attitudes towards the mixing of religious groups.

in religious festivals in eleventh to sixteenth century Egypt Finally Eric Ross shows how the Layenne Sufi order incorporates a singular combination of Christian and Muslim figures and festivals in its history and practices Muslims and Others in Sacred Space will be an invaluable resource to anyone interested in the complex meanings of sacred sites in Muslim history

Host Bibliographic Record for Boundwith Item Barcode 30112118706032 and Others ,1910 Evangelical Christian Responses to Islam Richard McCallum, 2024-02-08 Do Christians and Muslims worship the same God Who was Muhammad How does the Israeli Palestinian conflict affect Christian Muslim relations This is a book about Evangelical Christians and how they are answering challenging questions about Islam Drawing on over 300 texts published by Evangelicals in the first two decades of the twenty first century this book explores what the Evangelical micro public sphere has to say about key issues in Christian Muslim relations today From the books they write the blogs they post and the videos they make it is clear that Evangelical Christians profoundly disagree with one another when discussing Islam Answers to the questions range from seeing Muslims as the enemy posing an existential threat to Christians through to welcoming them as good neighbours or even as close cousins Believing Women in Islam Asma Barlas,2009-09-15 Does Islam call for the oppression of women

Non Muslims point to the subjugation of women that occurs in many Muslim countries especially those that claim to be Islamic while many Muslims read the Qur'an in ways that seem to justify sexual oppression inequality and patriarchy Taking a wholly different view Asma Barlas develops a believer's reading of the Qur'an that demonstrates the radically egalitarian and antipatriarchal nature of its teachings Beginning with a historical analysis of religious authority and knowledge Barlas shows how Muslims came to read inequality and patriarchy into the Qur'an to justify existing religious and social structures and demonstrates that the patriarchal meanings ascribed to the Qur'an are a function of who has read it how and in what contexts She goes on to reread the Qur'an's position on a variety of issues in order to argue that its teachings do not support patriarchy To the contrary Barlas convincingly asserts that the Qur'an affirms the complete equality of the sexes thereby offering an opportunity to theorize radical sexual equality from within the framework of its teachings This new view takes readers into the heart of Islamic teachings on women gender and patriarchy allowing them to understand Islam through its most sacred scripture rather than through Muslim cultural practices or Western media stereotypes Muslim Marriage and Non-Marriage Julie McBrien,Annelies Moors,2023-11-09 Unconventional Muslim marriages have been topics of heated public debate Around the globe religious scholars policy makers political actors media personalities and women's activists discuss promote or reject unregistered transnational interreligious and other boundary crossing marriages Couples entering into such marriages however often have different concerns from those publicly discussed Based on ethnographic research in Europe the Middle East North Africa and Asia the chapters of this volume examine couples motivations for aspirations about and abilities to enter into these marriages The contributions show the diverse ways in which such marriages are concluded and inquire into how they are performed authorized or contested as Muslim marriages These marriages may challenge existing ties of belonging and transform boundaries between religious and other communities but they may also and sometimes simultaneously reproduce and solidify them Building on insights from different disciplines both from the social sciences anthropology political science gender and sexuality studies and from the humanities history Islamic legal studies religious studies the authors address a wide range of controversial Muslim marriages unregistered interreligious transnational etc and include the views of religious scholars state authorities and political actors and activists as well as the couples themselves their families and their wider social circle Concepts of the Other in Near Eastern Religions Ilai

Alon,Itamar Gruenwald,Itamar Singer,1994 This text examines the philosophical concept of other in the Near Eastern religions It contains essays that are divided into three sections the Ancient Near East Judaism and Christianity and Islam and India Muslims as Actors Jacques Waardenburg,2012-02-13 This book deals with Islamic studies and with the question

how the scholarly study of religion can contribute to the study of Islam The author advocates studying Islamic phenomena as signs and symbols interpreted and applied in diverse ways in existing traditions He stresses the role of Muslims as actors in the ongoing debate about the articulation of Islamic ways of life and construction of Islam as a religion A careful study of this debate should steer clear of political religious and ideological interests Research in this area by Muslims and non Muslim scholars alike should address the question of what Muslims have made of their Islam in specific circumstances Current political contexts have created an unhealthy climate for pursuing an open approach to Islam based on reading observing listening and reflecting Yet precisely nowadays we need to look anew at ways of Muslim thinking and acting that refer to Islam and to avoid certain schemes of interpreting Muslim realities that are no longer adequate for present day Muslim life situations Muslim recourse to Islam can be studied as human constructions of value and meaning and relations between Muslims and others can be seen in terms of human interaction without blame always falling on Islam as such
