Natural Minds:

Natural Minds Thomas W. Polger, 2006-01-20 In Natural Minds Thomas Polger advocates and defends the philosophical theory that mind equals brain that sensations are brain processes and in doing so brings the mind brain identity theory back into the philosophical debate about consciousness The version of identity theory that Polger advocates holds that conscious processes events states or properties are type identical to biological processes events states or properties a tough minded account that maintains that minds are necessarily identical to brains a position held by few current identity theorists Polger's approach to what William James called the great blooming buzzing confusion of consciousness begins with the idea that we need to know more about brains in order to understand consciousness fully but recognizes that biology alone cannot provide the entire explanation Natural Minds takes on issues from philosophy of mind philosophy of science and metaphysics moving freely among them in its discussion Polger begins by answering two major objections to identity theory Hilary Putnam's argument from multiple realizability which discounts identity theory because creatures with brains unlike ours could also have mental states and Saul Kripke's modal argument against mind brain identity based on the apparent contingency of the identity statement He then offers a detailed account of functionalism and functional realization which offer the most serious obstacle to consideration of identity theory Polger argues that identity theory can itself satisfy the kind of explanatory demands that are often believed to favor functionalism

Natural Language and Possible Minds Prakash Mondal, 2017-07-31 In Natural Language and Possible Minds How Language Uncovers the Cognitive Landscape of Nature Prakash Mondal attempts to demonstrate that language can reveal the hidden logical texture of diverse types of mentality in non humans contrary to popular belief The widely held assumption in mainstream cognitive science is that language being humanly unique introduces an anthropomorphic bias in investigations into the nature of other possible minds This book turns this around by formulating a lattice of mental structures distilled from linguistic structures constituting the cognitive building blocks of an ensemble of biological entities beings This turns out to have surprising consequences for machine cognition as well Challenging mainstream views this book will appeal to cognitive
