Mark, David Stea, Carmelita Topaha, 2019 The Navajo language Din bizaad has a vocabulary of landscape terms that allows speakers to communicate about their environment This book documents that vocabulary and provides photographic illustration of many of the terms The meanings of these terms seldom match the English language terms one to one Terms include explicit reference to earth materials such as water or rock stone Rather than alphabetically this book is organized by material and form categories This dictionary is a valuable resource for language preservation in schools and elsewhere and for linguists anthropologists geographers and earth scientists interested in indigenous conceptualization of landscape and environment

The Navajo Country. A Geographic and Hydrographic Reconnaissance of Parts of Arizona, New Mexico, and Utah Herbert Ernest GREGORY,1916 Dreaming of Sheep in Navajo Country Marsha Weisiger,2011-11-15 Dreaming of Sheep in Navajo Country offers a fresh interpretation of the history of Navajo Din pastoralism The dramatic reduction of livestock on the Navajo Reservation in the 1930s when hundreds of thousands of sheep goats and horses were killed was an ambitious attempt by the federal government to eliminate overgrazing on an arid landscape and to better the lives of the people who lived there Instead the policy was a disaster resulting in the loss of livelihood for Navajos especially women the primary owners and tenders of the animals without significant improvement of the grazing lands Livestock on the reservation increased exponentially after the late 1860s as more and more people and animals hemmed in on all sides by Anglo and Hispanic ranchers tried to feed themselves on an increasingly barren landscape At the beginning of the twentieth century grazing lands were showing signs of distress As soil conditions worsened weeds unpalatable for livestock pushed out nutritious native grasses until by the 1930s federal officials believed conditions had reached a critical point Well intentioned New Dealers made serious errors in anticipating the human and environmental consequences of removing or killing tens of thousands of animals Environmental historian Marsha Weisiger examines the factors that led to the poor condition of the range and explains how the Bureau of Indian Affairs the Navajos and climate change contributed to it Using archival sources and oral accounts she describes the importance of land and stock animals in Navajo culture By positioning women at the center of the story she demonstrates the place they hold as significant actors in Native American and environmental history Dreaming of Sheep in Navajo Country is a compelling and important story that looks at the people and conditions that contributed to a botched policy whose legacy is still felt by the Navajos and their lands today The Navajo Country Herbert Ernest Gregory,2014-01-14 This is a reproduction of a book published before 1923 This book may have occasional imperfections such as missing or blurred pages poor pictures errant marks etc that were either part of the original artifact or were introduced by the scanning process We believe this work is culturally important and despite the imperfections have elected to bring it back into print as part of our continuing commitment to the preservation of printed works worldwide We appreciate your understanding of the imperfections in the preservation process and hope you enjoy this valuable book The Navajo Donna Janell Bowman,2017-12-11 The Long Walk to forced imprisonment in eastern New Mexico still haunts the Navajo people But after years of suffering they were allowed to return to their traditional lands where they prospered Today the Navajo celebrate their strengths and proudly maintain their cultural traditions in modern America Geology of the Navajo Country - a Reconnaissance of Parts of Arizona, New Mexico, and Utah Geological Survey (U.S.),H. E. GREGORY,1916 Navajo-English Dictionary C. Leon Wall,1994 Navajo Place Names ,1995 The Navajo Atlas James M. Goodman,1982 Navajo Country Donald L.
