Hubbell Trading Post Erica Cottam, 2015-09-22 For more than a century trading posts in the American Southwest tied the U S economy and culture to those of American Indian peoples and in this capacity Hubbell Trading Post founded in 1878 in Ganado Arizona had no parallel This book tells the story of the Hubbell family its Navajo neighbors and clients and what the changing relationship between them reveals about the history of Navajo trading Drawing on extensive archival material and secondary literature historian Erica Cottam begins with an account of John Lorenzo Hubbell who was part Hispanic part Anglo and wholly brilliant and charismatic She examines his trading practices and the strategies he used to meet the challenges of Navajo exchange customs and a seasonal trading cycle

Tracing the trading post's affairs through the upheavals of the twentieth century Cottam explores the growth of tourism the development of Navajo weaving the automobile's advent and the Hubbells' relationship with the Fred Harvey Company She also describes the Hubbell family's role in providing Navajo and Hopi demonstrators for world's fairs and other events and in supplying museums with Native artifacts Acknowledging the criticism aimed at the Hubbell family for taking advantage of Navajo clients Cottam shows the family's strengths their integrity as business operators and the warm friendships they developed with customers and with the artists writers archaeologists politicians and tourists attracted to Navajo country by its unparalleled landscapes and fascinating peoples Cottam traces the preservation efforts of Hubbell's daughter in law after the Great Depression and World War II fundamentally altered the trading post business and concludes with the post's transition to its present status as a National Park Service historic site

A Road Course in Early American Literature

Thomas Hallock, 2021-02-23 A Road Course in Early American Literature Travel and Teaching from Atzl'n to Amherst explores a two part question what does travel teach us about literature and how can reading guide us to a deeper understanding of place and identity Thomas Hallock charts a teacher's journey to answering these questions framing personal experiences around the continued need for a survey course covering early American literature up to the mid nineteenth century Hallock approaches literary study from the overlapping perspectives of pedagogue scholar unrepentant tourist husband father friend and son Building on Ralph Waldo Emerson's premise that there is creative reading as well as creative writing Hallock turns to the vibrant and accessible tradition of American travel writing employing the form of biblio memoir to bridge the impasse between public and academic discourse and reintroduce the dynamic field of early American literature to wider audiences Hallock's own road course begins and ends at the Lowcountry of Georgia and South Carolina following a circular structure of reflection He weaves his journey through a wide swath of American literatures and authors from Native American and African American oral traditions to Wheatley and Equiano through Emerson Poe and Dickinson among others A series of longer place oriented narratives explore familiar and lesser known literary works from the sixteenth century invasion of Florida through the Mexican War of 1846 1848 and the American Civil War Shorter chapters bridge the book's central themes the mapping of cognitive and physical space our personal stake in reading the tensions that follow earlier acts of erasure and the impossibility of ever fully shutting out the past Exploring complex cultural histories and contemporary landscapes filled with ghosts and new voices this volume draws inspiration from a tradition of travel place oriented and literature based works ranging from William Carlos Williams's In the American Grain and Jack Kerouac's On the Road to Alice Walker's In Search of Our Mother's Gardens Wendy Lesser's Why I Read The Serious Pleasure of Books and Rebecca Mead's My Life in Middlemarch An accompanying bibliographic essay is periodically updated and available at Hallock's website www.roadcourse.us Southwest Cultural Resources Center Professional Papers, 1983 A Diné History of Navajoland Klara Kelley, Harris Francis, 2019-10-22 For the first time a sweeping history of the Din that is foregrounded in oral tradition Authors Klara Kelley and Harris Francis share Din history from pre Columbian time to the present using ethnographic interviews in which Navajo people reveal their oral histories on key events such as Athabaskan migrations trading and trails Din clans the Long Walk of 1864 and the struggle to keep their culture alive under colonizers who brought the railroad coal mining trading posts and finally climate change The early chapters based on ceremonial origin stories tell about Din forebears Next come the histories of Din clans from late pre Columbian to early post Columbian times and the coming together of the Din as a sovereign people Later chapters are based on histories of families individuals and communities and tell how the Din have struggled to keep their bond with the land under settler encroachment relocation loss of land based self sufficiency through the trading post system energy resource extraction and climate change Archaeological and documentary information supplements the oral histories providing a comprehensive investigation of Navajo history and offering new insights into their twentieth century relationships with Hispanic and Anglo settlers For Din readers the book offers empowering histories and stories of Din cultural sovereignty In short the authors say it may help you to know how you came to be where and who you are
