

Moments

*There are moments that cry out to be fulfilled.
Like, telling someone you love them.
Or giving your money away, all of it.*

*Your heart is beating, isn't it?
You're not in chains, are you?*

*There is nothing more pathetic than caution
when headlong might save a life, even, possibly, your own.*

Poetry Moments Charles Schwartz, 2004 Mindful Poetry Moments The Well, The On Being Project, 2020-07-20
April 2020 found us in a particularly tender and tumultuous historical moment And poetry as it has before in times of crisis arose to meet us giving voice to the individual experience where ordinary language falls short Poetry after all offers us meaning through both the writing and the reading of it we encounter ourselves the world and connection with each other These gatherings grew from Mindful Poetry Moments a special collaboration between our organizations The Well and The On Being Project Recognizing that students might not encounter poetry in the course of a normal school day we wanted to offer students the chance to pause and reflect with poetry during National Poetry Month Accompanied by mindful prompts students listened to the poems from the On Being Project archive while reflecting on questions like Does this poem encourage gratitude How The 2020 program included poems by Brad Aaron Modlin Aimee Nezhukumatathil Naomi Shihab Nye Carrie Newcomer and Gregory Orr We had planned to host a couple of events at the Mercantile Library in Cincinnati giving us a chance to engage with Mindful Poetry Moments together But then the world changed amid and we were faced with a new reality in which we could no longer meet in person we made the decision to pivot and meet virtually rather Once a week an intergenerational and international group of poets and deep thinkers logged on from their various locations Each of them helped to shape a warm creative and generative container Love and hope held us together It was powerful to see the world through the words and experiences of others And we are pleased to share many of those writings with you as well as the prompts we worked with to make our own response poems The poems within this compilation are presented as they were given to us without edits Who would have known an unforeseen change of plans and a container for celebrating poems would meet us so well in this moment If anyone did it was most certainly a poet Stacy Sims and Eddie Gonzalez Poetry of a Moment Jagannath Rao Adukuri, 2012-07-12 The twenty odd poems here are spontaneous poetic expressions that have happened in response to an actual event or an interaction or some times even a stray thought The brevity of verse is designed to preserve the freshness of the moment Six Modernist Moments in Poetry David Young, 2006 Along with the four poems written in English the two non English poems are presented and discussed in Young's own translations He describes the provenance of each of the six poems puts it in the context of its time and the poet's career and surrounds it with references to other poems that are quoted generously In this way each poem is not only fully explicated but also presented as a kind of preeminent example representing other poems of its type Combining close reading with contextual discussion this book is a significant contribution to the fields of poetry and modernism BOOK JACKET Out the Box Poetry Keith N. Rogers Sr., 2013-11-29 Poems inspired From Out The Box Thinking and Simplifying real life situations in a Calm Manner Peace Joy and Harmony begin's Within KRSR KEITH N ROGERS SR OUT THE BOX POET The Poetry Toolkit: The Essential Guide to Studying Poetry Rhian Williams, 2013-01-17 With examples from an extensive range of

Killing Poetry Javon Johnson, 2017-07-17 Winner of the 2019 Lilla A Heston Award Co winner of the 2018 Ethnography Division's Best Book from the NCA In recent decades poetry slams and the spoken word artists who compete in them have sparked a resurgent fascination with the world of poetry However there is little critical dialogue that fully engages with the cultural complexities present in slam and spoken word poetry communities as well as their ramifications In Killing Poetry renowned slam poet Javon Johnson unpacks some of the complicated issues that comprise performance poetry spaces He argues that the truly radical potential in slam and spoken word communities lies not just in proving literary worth speaking back to power or even in altering power structures but instead in imagining and working towards altogether different social relationships His illuminating ethnography provides a critical history of the slam contextualizes contemporary black poets in larger black literary traditions and does away with the notion that poetry slams are inherently radically democratic and utopic Killing Poetry at times autobiographical poetic and journalistic analyzes the masculine posturing in the Southern California community in particular the sexual assault in the national community and the ways in which related social media inadvertently replicate many of the same white supremacist patriarchal and mainstream logics so many spoken word poets seem to be working against Throughout Johnson examines the promises and problems within slam and spoken word while illustrating how community is made and remade in hopes of eventually creating the radical spaces so many of these poets strive to achieve

Danahay,1993-01-01 Complementing recent feminist studies of female self representation this book examines the dynamics of masculine self representation in nineteenth century British literature Arguing that the category autobiography was a product of nineteenth century individualism the author analyzes the dependence of the nineteenth century masculine subject on autonomy or self naming as the prerequisite for the composition of a life history The masculine autobiographer achieves this autonomy by using a feminized other as a metaphorical mirror for the self The feminized other in these texts represents the social cost of masculine autobiography Authors from Wordsworth to Arnold including Samuel Taylor Coleridge Thomas De Quincey John Ruskin Alfred Tennyson Robert Louis Stevenson John Stuart Mill and Edmund Gosse use female lovers and family members as symbols for the community with which they feel they have lost contact In the theoretical introduction the author argues that these texts actually privilege the autonomous self over the images of community they ostensibly value creating in the process a self enclosed and self referential community of one

The Art of Love Poetry Erik Gray, 2017-12-29 Love begets poetry poetry begets love So thinkers from Plato onwards have claimed and even today when poetry has largely disappeared from the mainstream of popular culture it is still commonly considered the most seductive of all forms of art But why should this be What are the connections between poetry and love that lead us to associate them so strongly with one another In this study Erik Gray draws on a broad range of Western thought and poetry to reveal the qualities and structures that love and poetry share Above all he argues both are founded on paradox Love is at once necessarily public because interpersonal and intensely private hence love both requires expression and resists it Likewise the experience of love is simultaneously surprising and familiar singular and conventional In poetry especially lyric poetry which is similarly both dependent on and resistant to language both exceptionally regular and exceptionally irregular love finds a natural outlet The Art of Love Poetry illuminates many of the recurrent tropes that poets across the centuries have employed to represent and express love exploring such topics as the poetic kiss the lyric of conjugal love and the role of animals in love poetry In describing the inherent erotics of poetry it offers new insights not only into the long tradition of love lyric but into the nature of love itself
